MAYOR REQUESTS $300,000 IN NEW PLAN TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

ACTS TO SPEED UP FEDERAL PROJECTS

Appoints Special Committee on This Phase Following Conference With Regional Director for President Hoover's Board.

Mayor Miller today announced he would present to the Board of Aldermen, at this afternoon's meeting, a proposed ordinance to appropriate $300,000 for the relief of unemployment and of the unemployed, the money to be spent under direction of the Mayor's committee, headed by Birch O. Mahaffey, which has its office in the old Southern Hotel, Broadway and Walnut street.

The $300,000 appropriation is a new measure, determined upon by the Mayor in a conference with the visiting regional director of President Hoover's committee on unemployment, J. F. Lucey, Dallas, Tex. The money, by the terms of the proposed ordinance, will be used in any manner needed, and as much of it as necessary will go for the purchase of food.

Would Advance City Work.

At the same time the Mayor said he would present another proposed ordinance providing a method of speeding up the work of city departments, and advancing to this winter the work which the departments would do, in their regular course, next summer.

This will be done, under the terms of the ordinance, through agreement of department heads with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the latter body to find the means of providing funds to the amount of not more than $200,000 for such expedited work. The men employed under this second ordinance will be either the regular city employes, who would otherwise be laid off this winter, or in cases of contract work, the employes of contracting firms.

This second proposal, in a somewhat changed form, is the measure which the city administration planned some time ago. The Mayor, explaining that plan recently, made it clear that it would be of benefit chiefly to about 600 of those already in the city's employ. This caused criticism, on the ground that it was not for the relief of unemployment in general. This criticism, the Mayor believes, will be met by the first of the proposed ordinances, which provides $300,000 from general revenue for general relief.

Committee on U. S. Projects.

The Mayor also announced the naming of a special committee to endeavor to expedite the construction, by the United States Government, of the new $3,500,000 Federal building facing Memorial Plaza, and of the Postoffice Annex near Union Station. The members of the committee are Charles Nagel, attorney and president of Washington University Corporation; L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad; and August A. Busch, head of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

This measure was suggested by Lucey, who said it should be possible for the city to hurry the Federal Government up in the building enterprise. He said, as to the difficulties over title to the Federal building site, that the city might guarantee the title.

Lucey, a former Army Captain and a former worker in the Hoover relief organization in Belgium, said on leaving the Mayor's office that he had not found more ready co-operation in any other city than that given by the St. Louis Mayor and city administration.

"I presented the compliments of President Hoover and Col. Arthur Woods to the Mayor," Lucey said, "and I outlined the general policies for relief of unemployment which the President thinks would be helpful. I spoke in detail of the type of organization in use in other cities.

"I found Mayor Miller entirely in accord with these plans. In fact, the organization already set up, and the plan submitted to me by Mr. Mahaffey, are constructive and in accord with the views and wishes of the President. The Mayor's plan calls for thorough co-ordination of all community in-

SECRETARY MELLON'S OWN BUREAU REFUNDS TO HIM $72,735 OF INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.

By the Associated Press.

A REFUND of $72,735 to Secretary Mellon for overassessment in income tax in 1926 was announced today by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The announcement said the refund was due to duplication of income, shift of income and contributions.

The bureau allowed the Secretary an additional deduction of $525.26 for contributions made during the year to two associations.

WOMEN WORSE PERJURERS THAN MEN, JUDGE SAYS

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Women are worse perjurers than men, but both are pretty bad, according to Justice McCardy, widely known as the "Bachelor Judge" of the High Court, and famed for his epigrammatic utterances from the bench.

Delivering the annual Maudsley lecture before the British Medical Association today, he asserted that if the ninth commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," were generally obeyed, the courts would have comparatively little business.

"Perjury can never be more rife than it is now," he said. "It is committed in some degree in most of the civil and criminal cases before the courts. The most self-possessed perjurers are murderers, but nothing can exceed the audacious reliance upon their sex which is so frequently displayed by women. If perjury could be stopped, trials in a large majority of all kinds of cases would be incredibly short."

WIDOW OF SHACKLETON TO VISIT ANTARCTIC CIRCLE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Shackleton, widow of Sir Ernest Shackleton, the explorer, will visit the Antarctic circle next January, it was announced today by Lieutenant Commander J. R. Stenhouse. She will be a passenger on board a motor yacht which is to make a round-the-world cruise, stopping at Byrd's camp in Little America.

Stenhouse, who was Shackleton's navigator in his Antarctic expedition of 1914-1915, will command the cruise of wealthy tourist-explorers. Besides Mrs. Shackleton, Countess Dorothy Lanesborough and several other women will be aboard. It will be the first time women have been inside the Antarctic circle, Commander Stenhouse thinks.

SCORFINA SUFFERS BREAKDOWN; HE IS SENT TO HOSPITAL

Illness Laid to Threats of Friends of Alleged Kidnapers — He Posts Bond on Perjury Charge.

U. S. INVESTIGATION OF FIVE SICILIANS

Inquiry Started Into Income Tax Payments — Victim of Abduction Gives Bond for Perjury.

Suffering from a nervous breakdown, Sam Scorfina, Carr street grocer and former bootlegger, was taken last night to the St. Clair County Hospital from the county jail at Belleville, where he was confined Wednesday afternoon on charges of perjury, after failing to testify against five Sicilian gangsters previously named by him as his kidnapers.

This afternoon Scorfina was released on a $5000 cash bond posted with Justice of the Peace Wangelin on a warrant charging perjury. Two other warrants on the same charge were dismissed by Assistant State's Attorney Curt Lindauer before bond was made.

The money for the bond is understood to have been posted by Scorfina himself. It was taken to Belleville by his attorney, Sigmund M. Bass. Relatives who accompanied him took Scorfina to St. Louis, where they said they would immediately place him under treatment.

Fear for the lives of himself, his wife and seven children, all under heavy police guard for 15 weeks preceding the kidnaping trial, was assigned as the reason for his collapse by Dr. E. P. Stiehl, county physician, after an examination today.

Many Telephone Threats.

Since his kidnaping for ransom on July 12 and his escape four days later, Scorfina has lived in fear of harm to himself and his family by friends of five Sicilian gangsters named by him as his kidnapers. The fact that the State intended to try to send them to the electric chair made their friends active in their behalf and by telephoned threats they finally threatened Scorfina and his family so effectively that on the witness stand he failed to stand by his previous statements.

Charged yesterday in three warrants with perjury, Scorfina was in tears most of the day although deputies said he seemed to be worrying about the safety of himself and family rather than the possibility of a penitentiary sentence for himself. He sent out to a neighboring restaurant for each meal but was unable to eat.

Last night he began to cry out, "My seven children," calling each by name. "I get killed, they get killed," he cried, as he paced his cell and became so agitated that Dr. Stiehl was called by Sheriff Ahrens. The physician ordered his immediate removal to the county hospital in Belleville.

The charge of perjury left standing is based on the discrepancy between his testimony on the witness stand Wednesday and his testimony before the grand jury at the time the gangsters were indicted.

Income Tax Investigation.

A Federal investigation of income tax returns of the five defendants will be made by Internal Revenue Department agents, it was announced today by Chief of Police Gerk, following a conference with Collector Becker.

The inquiry will follow the lines of an investigation in Chicago which has already brought prison terms to two Capone gangsters, including Ralph Capone, brother of "Scarface Al." The Scorfina case defendants affected by the action are Frank Agrusa, said by police to be head of the Mafia in St. Louis; Vito Impastato, his right-hand man; Sora Mantia, Mike Lombardo and Baptista Bommarito.

On the witness stand at Belleville Scorfina testified Agrusa and Impastato had extorted $4000 to $5000 from him in the last four years.

M'GAULEY MURDER CASE PLACED IN HANDS OF JURY

EACH SIDE OFFERS SURPRISE WITNESS

One Says Defendant Was Not Man With Gun, Other Tells of His Sudden Prosperity.

The murder case against James McGauley, charged with killing Toddie V. Phelps, cashier of the Overland State Bank in a holdup Jan. 18, 1929, went to the jury in Circuit Judge Brackman's court at Clayton at 3:45 p. m.

The Court's instructions gave the jury the choice of acquittal, life imprisonment or death. The State demanded the death penalty on the evidence of three identifying witnesses and a fingerprint on a whisky bottle found in the robbers' abandoned automobile.

The defense questioned the reliability of State's winnesses and dismissed the fingerprint evidence with the assertion that fingerprints of McGauley, an acknowledged bootlegger, "might be found on a hundred bottles."

Testimony ended at noon with both defense and prosecution presenting surprise witnesses.

The defense's surprise witness was James Kilgore, 22-year-old bricklayer of Overland, who said he knew McGauley by sight, saw the slayer run from the bank and was positive the man was not McGauley.

The State countered, in rebuttal, with testimony by two residents of St. James, Mo., who said McGauley unexpectedly acquired enough money early in 1929 to buy the stock of a general store and pay an overdue tire bill.

Conflicting Testimony.

Corroborating McGauley's alibi that he was on a farm near St. James the day Phelps was killed, three farmers of that district testified for the defense that they saw him from day to day during January, 1929, and that he lived in poverty.

For the State, William Hogue testified that McGauley bought his store for $230 on March 11, 1929, paying in $10 bills "which he peeled off a good-sized roll." Thomas Biles, a garage man, said McGauley paid a $73 tire bill about the same time, all in $1 bills.

Recalled to the stand, McGauley declared his mother-in-law and brother-in-law had given him $400 to set himself up in business and clear his debts. He bought a half interest in the store, he said, and joined with Hogue in the manufacture and sale of moonshine whisky.

Says Man With Gun Was Blond.

Kilgore testified that in 1928 he occasionally bought beer in a Page avenue saloon where McGauley was bartender. The day of the robbery, he said, he was in an automobile parked 30 feet from the bank, waiting for his employer to bring him his pay, when the bank was held up.

"I heard the report of a gun and turned around and looked through the rear window," he said. "I saw a man with a shotgun run out and get in a machine which drove away. He had blond hair like myself and was taller than McGauley." Kilgore's hair is very light; McGauley's black.

Kilgore said he ran into the bank, helped carry Phelps from the vault and "hung around" for two or three hours without identifying himself as a witness.

Declaring to the jury that he would show that the holdup was "deliberately planned by the robbers and the man who was murdered," Paul A. Richards, defense attorney, yesterday called Conrad Reinemer, president of the bank, who testified that two packages of money $2000 and $1500, respectively, were found concealed in the bank after the robbery, and that two unauthorized and unsecured notes for like amounts, signed by Phelps and his wife, were found in the bank's assets.

Hidden Money Found.

Reinemer said the bank had placed its loss at $11,104 when he unexpectedly found $1500 in cash in a rarely-used drawer under the counter. A further search disclosed $2000 hidden in a compartment under the safe in the vault where Phelps was killed.

Examination of the books, he said, disclosed the notes, one signed by Phelps for $1500 and one signed by Mrs. Phelps for $2000 The notes were recorded in the ledger, but not in the note register which the cashier customarily submitted to the directors.

Cross-examined by Jacob M. Lashly, special prosecutor, Reine-

3 ELDERLY SISTERS END LIVES OVER DEBT

Penniless Though Holding Title to Property Valued at $200,000.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 21.—Washing ashore of two bodies in Santa Monica Bay and a letter to Ralph Miller, Hollywood artist, have disclosed the suicide agreement of three elderly sisters, apparently penniless while holding title to $200,000 worth of real estate.

The bodies of Ada McKeon, 65 years old, a widow, and Miss Abba Miller, 63, were found yesterday about the time the artist, who is a brother of the women, received a letter informing him his three sisters planned suicide. Miller said the third sister was Jessie Miller, 60. Search is being made for her body.

Miller told police the sisters were property poor. He said they lost a piece of Hollywood property worth $40,000 for nonpayment of loans and held title to other property worth perhaps $200,000.

In their letter the sisters said they owed $1325 and had no way to pay it or meet living expenses.

"We had hoped to die a natural death and have our ashes sent back to Mrs. Hazzard and she would take them to Fairmont Cemetery (Cincinnati)," the women wrote.

MRS. HEALY'S BANK BOOKS EVIDENCE IN GRAFT TRIAL

State Seeks to Show Defendant Had Plenty of Money When He "Borrowed" from Ewald.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Bank accounts of Mrs. Martin J. Healy, wife of the Tammany district leader who is on trial, with Thomas T. Tommaney, charged with the barter of a judicial appointment, have been introduced in evidence.

The accounts, showing deposits of several thousand dollars during the spring of 1927, were introduced, the State said, to show that when Healy borrowed $10,000 from Mrs. George F. Ewald he and his wife had ample funds of their own.

The indictment against Healy and Tommaney charges that this loan was in reality a payment by Mrs. Ewald for their support for her husband for the post of City Magistrate, to which he was appointed in April, 1927, a few days after the loan.

Bank and brokerage employes testified today that at the time Healy received the loan he had a $3348 equity in a brokerage account and his wife had $5428 in a savings bank.

Jacob Cash, former City Marshal, was permitted to testify that he had given Healy two $1000 bills April 29, 1927, the day he was reappointed a City Marshal. A week later, he said, he gave Mrs. Healy a diamond and emerald bracelet worth $850.

CAPTAIN OF WRECKED SHIP TELLS OF RESCUE

Twenty-Seven Men, Woman and Cat Brought to Port on Mauretania.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Twenty-seven men, a woman and a cat, who faced death at sea Wednesday morning arrived in New York today aboard the Cunard liner Mauretania.

Early Wednesday afternoon, 300 miles off the Grand Banks on a heaving North Atlantic sea, they abandoned their water-logged freighter, the Ovidia, rowed half a mile to the side of the Mauretania and climbed aboard.

Captain S. G. S. McNeil of the Mauretania and Captain Axel Carlsson of the Ovidia, which now probably is fathoms deep under the sea, told the story.

Captain Carlsson asked the press to "present my heartfelt gratitude to the commander of this ship, the officers and all the passengers. They were very, very kind."

"My ship was listing when we left Newport News last week," Capt. Carlsson said. "We had aboard about 4000 tons of pitch pine bound for St. Nazaire. Tuesday, in a heavy sea, our cargo shifted and she went over to port. We shifted a bit of coal and she straightened up. I went to bed about midnight. Then suddenly she went over to starboard in a manner that was not like her. We detected a leak in No. 2 hold. Our pumps were not working; there was some defect in the tubes. About 2 o'clock I sent out an SOS. The Mauretania picked us up."

The Ovidia was 1898 tons registered, 5000 tons burden, he said, about 30 years old and belonged to the Gottenburg firm of Sweden.

"Was Mrs. Carlsson scared?" he was asked. "No, she was not frightened."

"Did you save your money, Captain?" He smiled at that a bit ruefully and shook his head. "I had very little to save," he said.

But his pockets were not empty today. The Mauretania's passengers at a benefit concert last night collected $500 to be divided among Capt. Carlsson and his crew.

Mrs. Carlsson, 38 years old, fair of hair and complexion and dressed in a modish blue cloak and suit given her by one of the passengers, was an interested but bewildered listener at the interview. "I speak no English," she explained.

RUMOR THAT WOMAN DIED IN R-101 TRAGEDY REVIVED

London Newspaper Refers to Disappearance of "Well-Known Air Woman."

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The rumor that a woman passenger rode to her death in the crash of the dirigible R-101 was revived today by the Saturday Review, which linked that rumor with another concerning the disappearance of a "well-known air woman."

"Was there a woman passenger in the ill-fated R-101?" the publication asked. "The French press certainly said there was at the time of the disaster, and visitors to the scene of the tragedy were shown a woman's handbag which it was said was found in the wreckage.

"Now comes another rumor that a well-known air woman has been missing from her home since the day the R-101 sailed, and nothing has been heard of her since. After all, if there was a woman on board, why conceal it?"

No rumor concerning a "well-known air woman" has gained general currency here, and it was not clear to whom the Saturday Review referred.

MEADOWS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED JAN. 9

Arson Murderer to Appeal to Supreme Court, Which Will Arrest Execution.

Andrew B. Meadows, convicted of first degree murder in the burning of the Buckingham Hotel Annex, with loss of seven lives, Dec. 5, 1927, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Taylor today to be hanged Jan. 9, 1931. His arrest, in a belated exposure of an alleged arson plot, occurred last January, and he was convicted Oct. 17, the jury fixing the death penalty.

It is not likely that the execution will take place on the date named, as Meadows' lawyer intends to appeal to the State Supreme Court, and such an appeal will bring an arrest of judgment. The formal sentencing of Meadows was necessary as a preliminary to the appeal. A motion for a new trial was overruled Monday.

Meadows, who was a night watchman of the Annex when it was burned, was taken from City Jail into the courtroom. Judge Taylor asked him if he had anything to say.

"I don't think I got a fair trial," the gaunt and elderly man replied. "The jurors had their minds made up from reading the newspapers. I am not guilty of burning the Buckingham—I want to tell the whole truth. I did not set fire to the place."

"But you did know about it and were in on it, is not that true?" the Judge said.

"The only thing I did," Meadows answered, "was to miss my regular call and give others the opportunity to do what they did." This is in line with Meadows' testimony in his own defense, when he repudiated the statement, made in a signed confession, that he touched a match to papers in a vacant room.

Meadows was asked if he had any complaint of the way in which the trial was conducted. "No," he replied, "my lawyer did all he could for me." The lawyer, Herbert H. Blair, was not in court.

Judge Taylor, without using the traditional formula, then said, "I set the date of execution for Jan. 9."

The other defendants in the arson-murder case, all charged with a capital offense, are Ralph Pierson, co-owner of the Annex, who is scheduled for trial next, and whose plea for a change of venue is before Judge Taylor; Lewis E. Balson, the other owner; and R. H. Cotham, night clerk of the Buckingham Hotel. Cotham made a confession; Pierson and Balson have denied any knowledge of an arson plot.

NEW RULE IN INDIA MUST EVOLVE SAYS MACDONALD

TALK DISAPPOINTS EXTREMIST GROUP

Plenary Session Brought to a Close and Working Out Details of Federation Is Turned Over to Committees.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Prime Minister MacDonald told the Indian round table conference today that the British Government would not go back on any pledges it had made toward the achievement of a responsible Indian government. He referred particularly to the British pledges prior to the Montagu Chelmsford declaration of 1917 pledging the development of self-governing institutions in India.

There had been much interest among the delegates in what MacDonald would say, but the Prime Minister spent most of the time summarizing the various views which had been presented to the conference.

Extremist Indian delegates were frankly disappointed that no more definite line was given on the immediate intentions of the British Government. The majority of the delegates, however, realized, it is said, that it would be impossible for MacDonald to pursue any other course at this early stage of the negotiations.

Committee Takes Up Details.

After MacDonald's speech, the plenary session adjourned and the burden of the conference was transferred to the Federal Relations Committee of 32 members representing all sections of Indian life.

The Prime Minister said in his address that the statements of the Indian Princes in accepting a Federal form of government as that best suited for India's future had "revolutionized the situation."

"The Princes have given a most substantial contribution in opening up the way to a really united Federated India," he said. "This constitution of a federation or whatever it may be must meet two fundamental requirements. In the first place it must work. Secondly, the constitution must evolve. You are not in a position here to produce a static constitution that your grandsons, great grandsons and great-great-grandsons will worship as though it were one of their sacred inheritances. Therefore the constitution must work and the constitution must evolve. It must be a continuing thing and in the evolving, Indian opinion and Indian experience must be a more important initiating power."

He declared that the task of the round table conference was to sit down together and supply practical answers to all questions, answers which can be embodied in an act of Parliament.

Premier Lists Problems.

"I give you this word of cheer and comfort," MacDonald told the Indian minorities spokesmen, "the case you have presented has not fallen on deaf ears."

His own contribution to the architecture of an Indian constitution, he said, would concern India as a "flexible federation which meets your historical inheritance so far as it is worthy to be carried into the future."

He outlined some of the problems which the conference must settle in regard to an Indian constitution.

"What," he asked, "will be the nature of the units which are to be fitted into a scheme of Federation? What will be the nature of the central co-ordinating structure? What the relations of this structure to the provinces, to the Indian states? What provisions will be made to secure the willing co-operation of minorities? What in general should be the powers, functions and responsibilities of such a central structure?"

"Between this meeting and the end of our conference," the Prime Minister said, "remains the task of thinking, considering and pondering the problems before us. I leave the chair now so this plenary session may resolve into committees. In the work of those committees you have the best will not only of his majesty's Government, but of the British Parliament.

"We hope to be able at our

15TH BANK CLOSES IN KENTUCKY; 9TH IN NORTH CAROLINA

SIX SUSPENSIONS, IN SOUTH INDIANA

Long Lines of Depositors Gather at Postoffice — Officers of Other Depositories Say They Can Meet Demands.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 21.—The number of banks in Kentucky that have suspended operations during the week was brought to 15 with the announcement that the Crestwood Bank, a small depository in a suburb of Louisville, and the Hopkins county bank of Madisonville would not open this morning. The closing of the latter bank was termed a precautianary measure.

W. A. Dicken, Deputy State Banking Commissioner, said he thought all Louisville banks not affiliated with the National Bank of Kentucky, first to close, were solvent. "If they were not," he said, "we would close them."

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. and its local manager, Albert Ivison, were charged in a warrant sworn out by the Stockyards Bank with willfully issuing a false statement that the bank had closed. Ivison, who was arrested and released in $500 bond, said a mistake had been made and had been corrected as soon as possible and that there was no ground for charges of willful action.

On petition of Attorney-General Cammack a receiver was appointed for the Louisville Trust Co., affiliated with the National Bank of Kentucky.

The center of banking activity here moved over to the postoffice today and a shift in postoffice personnel was necessary to handle the long lines of depositors. Meanwhile, officials of other banks said that while there was more than usual activity at most of them, they were in condition to meet demands.

Following the closing yesterday of two banks at New Albany, Ind., across the Ohio River from Louisville, other members of the New Albany Clearing House Association met and pledged aid to each other should runs develop. The Clearing House Association voted not to permit withdrawal of time deposits, savings accounts or certificates of deposit unless 60 days' written notice were given, as required by Indiana law.

Nine Louisville building and loan associations took similar action, declaring they would require 30 days' notice on withdrawals, since such associations are not operated as banks and are not equipped to meet unusual withdrawals.

Closing of two Louisville banks yesterday brought the total of those that have suspended here to seven. Two suburban banks have closed, as have depositories in Horse Cave, Franklin, Sulphur, Booneville and Caneyville, outside Louisville. The president of the Horse Cave Bank killed himself Wednesday.

Banks closing yesterday were the Liberty State Bank, deposits $286,000, and the American Bank and Trust Co., deposits $2,430,000, both of New Albany, and in Louisville, the Bankers' Trust Co., deposits $965,000, and Union Central, deposits $500,000. The two New Albany banks had no connection with any Louisville bank and their presidents said they were solvent.

Six Southern Indiana Banks Put in Hands of State.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 21.—Six Southern Indiana banks in counties bordering the Ohio River were placed in the hands of the State Banking Department today, it was announced by Luther F. Simons, State Bank Commissioner. They are the Liberty State Bank and the American Trust Co., both of New Albany; the Crawford County State Bank of English, the Leavenworth State Bank of Leavenworth, the Jackson Township State Bank of Corydon Junction and the Old Capitol Bank & Trust Co. of Corydon.

Directors of the New Albany depositories met late yesterday, following heavy withdrawals, and decided to request State banking officials to take charge. The other four banks failed to open today. Closing of the six banks came as the aftermath of the failure of a group of Louisville banks a few days ago. About $4,500,000 in deposits it said to be tied up in the six banks.

Tenth Closing in Two Days in Western North Carolina.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 21.—The American National Bank here and the First Bank & Trust Co. of Tyron failed to open this morning, bringing the total number of banks closed in Western North Carolina in two days to ten. A note on the door said the American National had been closed to protect depositors. On Sept. 24, date of the last bank call, the American National listed deposits of $2,000,000. L. L. Jenkins is president and R. E. Currence cashier.

Notice on the door of the First Bank & Trust Co. said it had closed because of the closing of banks in nearby towns. The bank's president said it expected to re-open in a few days.

Failure of the Central Bank and Trust Co. of Asheville, fourth largest single bank in North Carolina, yesterday, precipitated a financial crisis in this section. Within a few hours seven smaller banks had closed.

Two More Tennessee Banks Fail to Open Doors.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—The First State Bank & Trust Co. here did not open today. A note on the door said the affairs of the bank had been turned over to State Bank examiners. It was capitalized at $100,000. Its last report in July showed resources of more than $1,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 21.—D. D. Robertson, State Superintendent of banks, announced today the People's Bank & Trust Co., operated by Negroes, failed to open today. He said the directors would meet with a bank examiner later and decide what course to pursue.

PROMOTER BOB ENJOINED FROM SELLING SECURITIES

Brooklyn Court Issues Injunction Pending Investigation of His Business Affairs.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Financial affairs of Charles V. Bob, engineer and promoter under indictment on larceny charges, were firmly knotted yesterday by a temporary injunction restraining him from disposing of any securities until he satisfactorily explains his business affairs. The injunction was issued in Brooklyn Supreme Court.

At the same time an inquiry by a bankruptcy referee into the affairs of Charles V. Bob & Co. was halted until Bob, who surrendered Wednesday after having been missing for six weeks, can appear in person to give testimony. Bob was questioned by Assistant Attorney-General Washburn.

Frederick C. Russell, indicted with Bob on grand larceny charges, presented himself at the District Attorney's office today for arraignment. He has been described as the right-hand man of the promoter.

Bob pleaded not guilty yesterday to indictments for larceny of $97,000 in alleged fraudulent stock sales.

Washburn has made estimates of possible loss to investors in Bob's many promotions of from $6,000,000 to $12,000,000 affecting about 10,000 persons in the United States and Canada. Metal and Mining Shares, Inc., and Rainbow Luminous Products are principal among the Bob concerns involved.

An ordinance appropriating $289,623 for acquisition of a site for the new City Hospital No. 2, a Negro institution, was approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today. The site specified in the ordinance is bounded by St. Ferdinand and Whittier streets and Kennerly and Goode avenues.

Conditional upon passage of the ordinance by the Board of Aldermen, the money is to be paid into court pending condemnation proceedings. In this way, construction can be started next spring city officials believe.

LITVINOFF RAKES PROCEEDINGS OF ARMAMENT BODY

Soviet Delegate Says Supervisory Group to Direct Program Would Be Entirely Unsatisfactory.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Nov. 21.—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, expressed his Government's broad disapproval of proceedings in the Preparatory Disarmament Commission at today's session of that body.

Litvinoff's reproaches began when the commission, after completing the second reading of the main body of its draft convention, took up consideration of proposals for establishment of a permanent disarmament commission for direction of a disarmament program under any general treaty which may be concluded.

The Soviet Foreign Minister served solemn warning that such a supervisory body would be entirely unacceptable to the Soviet Government if it were under control of the League of Nations, and he proceeded to make caustic comment on the draft convention itself.

Prior to his flare-up the commission approved a method of global budgetary limitation of all armaments and armed forces. Ambassador Gibson, for the United States, and N. Sato, for Japan, cast dissenting votes.

"Efforts Have Been in Vain."

"Our efforts have been in vain," the Soviet Minister declared. "That part of the convention already gone through does not satisfy the Soviet delegation at all. We consider the chapters drawn up as incapable of even being an adequate framework for decisions as to the real reduction of armaments."

Further questions of organization and control Litvinoff regarded as of little importance and the Soviet delegation probably will abstain from discussion. However, it reserved the right to enter the debates and propose amendments if the course of the discussions made this proper.

Then dealing with schemes for organizing a permanent body to carry out the results which bind fulfillment of the convention, "control by the League of Nations and its organs, will be inacceptable to the Soviet Government."

Limiting Each Arm Rejected.

While the principle of the limitation of entire armament expenditures found favor in the commission, with the exception of the representatives of the United States and Japan, a project for limiting each arm of fighting service separately by the budgetary method was rejected, 8 to 7. Gibson abstained from voting.

The commission postponed until third reading the section dealing with chemical warfare. The first reading of the draft prohibits the use in war "of asphyxiating, poisonous or similar gases and also analagous substances or processes." It forbids also the employment of germs.

A number of proposals dealing with establishment of a permanent disarmament commission were received and referred to a sub-committee.

It was at this point that Litvinoff made his remarks on the commission's activities to date. The Soviet Government was actively participating in the work, he said, with a view to bringing about a draft calling for disarmament or at least for reduction. But the commission's decisions brought the conviction, he said, that the delegates aimed only at the stabilization of armaments and the perpetuation of the present unsatisfactory state.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 21.

THE report that a group of 50 prominent persons are to be called together to consider what remedy can be provided to relieve trade and industry in some of our large cities of the burden of what is called racketeering is welcome news. The last annual convention of the American Federation of Labor denounced this evil and most commendably resolved to take action against any of it that came in contact with their organization. Otherwise there has been little of a concerted movement for suppression.

In effect a super-government is undertaking to grant privileges and immunities, usually for a payment of money, under threat of penalties to be suffered if the demands are refused. While this form of corruption is peculiarly abhorrent to a free people, the ordinary individual is practically helpless against it. To refuse submission means to jeopardize his business if not his bodily safety. Only an aroused, insistent and united public, with the help of the police power, will be able to cope with the situation. A public ventilation of the menace and energetic action by all agencies charged with suppressing crime are clearly needed. Failure to provide security means weakness in our Government.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

mer spoke highly of the character of the slain cashier, and said the directors had instructed him not to keep all the money in one place but to hide it about the bank as a precaution against theft. He said that Mrs. Phelps, who inherited the controlling interest in the bank from her husband, had paid the unauthorized notes.

The banker's testimony apparently was introduced to cast doubt on the testimony of Lawrence G. Ahrens, who admitted a part in the crime and named McGauley as the slayer. Ahrens had said that he, McGauley, Winfield Seaman and Lawrence McBride had started out to "take the St. John's Bank," but, after reconnoitering, had decided that the St. John's bank was too well protected and had driven on to Overland.

McGauley's Story.

McGauley was on the witness stand but a short time, testifying in a voice barely audible and with the eyes fixed on his attorney's face. He declared he left St. Louis in August, 1928, with his wife and three children, rented a $3-a-month farm near St. James, and remained there until February, 1929, when he was arrested and brought to St. Louis by city detectives.

Asked by Richards how he remembered definitely that he was on the farm the day of the murder, he said his wife had pointed to the calendar and remarked, "It's just a month until our wedding anniversary; you had better set a batch of beer for a celebration."

Asked directly if he killed Phelps, he said, "If I did, I would have had to shoot him long-distance from St. James."

McGauley said that while under arrest here, before being taken to Detroit where he was convicted of robbery while armed and sentenced to life in prison, city detectives accused him of the Overland bank robbery. "They asked me to go out and take the rap for this job, that I would get off easier than if I went to Detroit," he said.

Cross-examined, he admitted he had served two workhouse terms in St. Louis, one for larceny and one for burglary. In response to a question by Richards, he said he understood that, if the jury returned a verdict for less than the death penalty, he would be returned to Michigan to serve his life term there.

Prosecuting Attorney Castlen of St. Louis County was another defense witness, testifying that he did not believe the confession of Ahrens when it was made last summer and that he prosecuted Sylvester Baldwin, gangster and resort proprietor, for the murder of Phelps. A mistrial was ordered in Baldwin's case and he was freed following the indictment of McGauley.

Lashly rested the State's case soon after noon yesterday after the testimony of three identifying witnesses and of fingerprint experts who declared a print from McGauley's right hand was found on an empty whisky bottle in the robbers' abandoned car. Identifying testimony was by Ahrens, the admitted accomplice, George Hoech, bank bookkeeper, who had previously identified Baldwin, and Mrs. Agnes Wilkinson, a maid in the bank.

Sylvester Baldwin Fined $200 for Liquor Possession.

Sylvester Baldwin, once accused of the murder for which James McGauley is on trial at Clayton, pleaded guilty of possessing liquor in a saloon at 1623 Lucas avenue, and was fined $200 by Judge Butler in Court of Criminal Correction today.

"How long had you had the place open?" asked Judge Butler, noting the raid was made Oct. 9. "About a month," replied Baldwin, and agreed with the Court's remark, "They got you pretty quick."

JUDGE R. F. WALKER'S FUNERAL SERVICE HELD

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 21.—Funeral services for Supreme Judge Robert F. Walker, 79 years old, who died here Wednesday night, were held this afternoon in the courtroom of the Supreme Court en banc, of which Judge Walker was a member for 18 years.

The Rev. Paul Weber, pastor of the Baptist Church of Jefferson City, had charge of the services and funeral addresses were made by Chief Justice W. T. Ragland of the Supreme Court, former Supreme Judge Fred L. Williams of St. Louis and former Supreme Judge John I. Williamson of Kansas City.

State offices in the Capitol were closed during the services. Burial was in Riverview Cemetery here.

Gov. Caulfield today said he would not take any action on appointment of a successor to Judge Walker, to serve the remaining two years of the term for which he was elected, until early next week.

Three Republicans most prominently mentioned for the appointment are: Milton R. Stahl, St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission; Supreme Court Commissioner Berryman Henwood, Hannibal, and Supreme Judge David E. Blair, who was defeated for re-election last Nov. 4. Judge Blair's term expires Dec. 31.

It is thought that the selection rests between Stahl and Henwood, although many Republican leaders have urged appointment of Blair.

The Democratic control of the Court, maintained for the last 18 years, will be lost for about five weeks, dut to the death of Judge Walker, a Democrat, and appointment of a Repblican by the Governor. The Court has included four Democrats and three Republicans. The appointment will reverse this control, but it will be restored to the Democrats on Jan. 1, when Supreme Court Commissioner George R. Ellison, (Dem.) Maryville, who was elected to a 10-year term as Supreme Judge last Nov. 4, will succeed Judge Blair.

Several candidates have appeared for appointment as Supreme Court Commissioner to succeed Ellison. The Court will make the appointment and the appointee must be a Democrat, to mtaintain the bipartisan membership of the commission, which includes six members. The commissioners perform the same duties as Judges except they do not have a vote in the adoption of opinions.

Among those mentioned for the appointment are: Scott Timmons, Carrollton; Gilbert Lamb, Salisbury; E. M. Tipton, Kansas City, and J. T. Sturgis, Springfield, a former Judge of the Springfield Court of Appeals.

Two Hundred Men and Women in Line Seeking Work.

Approximately 200 job-seekers, men and women, were in line at the Citizens' Unemployment Relief Bureau, in the old Southern Hotel, at Broadway and Walnut street, this morning, increasing the total of those appealing for work to more than 1000 since the bureau was opened last Tuesday.

On the first three days of its operation the bureau received 968 applications—and was able to provide less than 20 jobs, and those only temporary.

The employment bureau, at Fourth and Walnut streets, is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except Sunday. Persons having a job to offer are asked to telephone the bureau, CEntral 2756.

The Chevrolet Motor Co. and the Fisher Body Corporation are now operating with about 2000 men, one-third the full production force. Officials of the two concerns stated that, with new models in production, they expect to have a normal force of 6000 men at work about Jan. 1.

"Ranji" Urges Recognition.

The most striking tribute to Great Britain came yesterday from the Maharajah of Nawangar, known to every English school boy as "Ranji," and as famous in cricket as America's Babe Ruth in baseball.

"Britain has done well in India in many ways," he said. "She has developed Indian resources and modernized India's institutions; above all, she has established peace and tranquillity. All this we appreciate.

"But the nationalist movement is a mass movement which has got the mind of India in its grip. With all the emphasis at my command I urge that recognition of India's right to be mistress of her own affairs be granted as early as is reasonably possible."

FOUR MISSOURI STATE BANKS CLOSE DOORS

Examiners in Charge of Hannibal, Oakwood, Doniphan and Edina Depositories.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 21.—Closing of the Bank of Edina, Knox County, and the Ripley County Bank of Doniphan, Ripley County, were reported to the State Finance Department today, making a total of nine State banks closed in Missouri this week. Closing of seven of them was attributed to the recent closing of three banks in Quincy, Ill.

The Bank of Edina had deposits of $312,900, loans of $228,770 and total resources of $364,179, according to its last report to the department. The capital was $20,000 and the surplus $20,000. The bank had outstanding loans of $228,770.

Directors of the Ripley County Bank which was organized in 1890 notified Finance Commissioner C. E. French the bank would not be opened today, as a means of portecting depositors, because of a run of heavy withdrawals. The bank's last report showed deposits of $253,224; loans of $286,932; total resources of $334,571, and bills payable of $45,000. The bank had a capital of $25,000 and a surplus and undivided profits of $9329. Dr. C. A. Proctor is its acting president and E. K. Ponder is cashier.

The Ripley County Bank had $25,127 in public funds, none of it State deposits, however, and the Edina Bank showed $2881 on public funds. At the finance department, it was said the closing of the Edina Bank probably was due to the situation in Quincy, Ill.

Two banks in Marion County were closed yesterday. The Hannibal Trust Co. of Hannibal was the first to close. It had deposits of $1,124,814 and the Finance Department said its closing was due to heavy withdrawals, following unsettled conditions caused by recent failures in Quincy. The second bank to close was the Farmers' Bank of Oakwood at Oakwood, near Hannibal. It had deposits of $98,965.

ARGUMENTS DEC. 4 ON VENUE CHANGE IN ARSON MURDER

Both Sides End Testimony in Case of Ralph Pierson, Charged With 7 Deaths in Hotel Fire.

25 WITNESSES OFFERED BY STATE

Eleven of These Think Co-Owner of Buckingham Annex Can't Get Fair Judgment Here.

Arguments for and against change of venue in the trial of Ralph Pierson, one of the owners of the Buckingham Hotel Annex, charged with first degree murder and arson in the burning of the Annex with loss of seven lives Dec. 5, 1927, will be heard by Circuit Judge Taylor Dec. 4.

Circuit Attorney Miller, who is opposing the change as unnecessary and expensive, presented 25 witnesses yesterday, in the endeavor to prove that Pierson could get a fair trial in St. Louis. They were not specially selected, as were the witnesses presented by Attorney Charles M. Hay for the defense, but were taken from a recent jury panel.

Most of the 25 testified that they thought they could try Pierson fairly, if they were to serve as jurors in his case. A majority said, in substance, that they had formed no opinion on the case. But 11 of the 25 said, either in their direct statements or in answer to Hay's cross-questions, that they had formed an opinion unfavorable to Pierson, or that they had heard others express such opinion and had gained the impression of a general feeling that Pierson and other defendants in the arson murder case were guilty.

Outspoken State Witness.

One of the State's witnesses was so outspoken in his direct examination that Hay did not cross-examine him, considering that his testimony favored the defense. J. A. Hyndman, 5820 Clemens avenue, an assistant manager with the Shell Co., said that, from his reading about the Buckingham Annex fire case, he had formed the opinion that a group was behind the arson plot, and that as one man, Watchman Andrew B. Meadows, was proved to be guilty, it seemed likely that the others were guilty. "I recall," he said, "that Meadows went into the matter only after he was approached by another person. It would be difficult for me, and I think for anyone else, to lay aside so positive an opinion as the one I have formed, and which I know that others hold."

William Horsford, railroad clerk, 5219 North Euclid avenue, said first that it seemed to him that several persons were guilty, and on further questioning said that he thought Pierson guilty and did not think he could try him fairly.

John T. Fleming, 4466 Penrose avenue, an insurance man, said that after the conviction of Meadows, against whom a jury assessed the death penalty, he heard others comment that the remaining defendants must be guilty. He believed he could lay aside these opinions of others, however.

P. J. Farris, 5025 Raymond avenue, insurance man, said he had observed much opinion adverse to the defendants, because of the loss of life in the fire. He said he could give a fair trial. John Lutz, tinner, 6948 West Park avenue, also thought he could lay aside his personal conclusion, which was that others were even more guilty than Meadows.

Fair Trial Despite Opinion.

A. P. Fuhrig, 4153 Gladstone avenue, a dry goods employe, said he had formed the opinion that the defendants in the arson murder case were equally guilty and that he had heard others say the same. However, he thought he could give a fair trial.

George Geissler, 4184 Sacramento avenue, an electrical worker, said he thought the defendants guilty "in a way." John H. Gallagher, 6211 Victoria avenue, a cable repairer, "felt a little bit like they are guilty," and had heard others say they should all be hanged.

R. V. Compton, 4915 Quincy street, a printer, had read Meadows' confession and thought the other defendants guilty. John Crawford, 4962 Magnolia avenue, a chauffeur, regarded Meadows as a minor figure in the crime and thought others should be punished equally. W. C. Duevers, 1809A Benton street, office manager for a credit company, thought he was unprejudiced but felt that many others were not, and sensed a "general state of mind" that all the accused men were guilty.

Pierson is scheduled to be the second of the four arson murder defendants tried. The State charges that he and the other owner of the Annex, Lewis E. Balson, planned the fire for collection of insurance. R. H. Cotham, night clerk of the Buckingham Hotel, who made a confession in connection with that of Meadows, is Pierson's accuser. Pierson and Balson have denied any knowledge of an arson plot.

Circuit Attorney Miller, who is opposing the change as unnecessary and expensive, presented 25 witnesses yesterday, in the endeavor to prove that Pierson could get a fair trial in St. Louis. They were not specially selected, as were the witnesses presented by Attorney Charles M. Hay for the defense, but were taken from a recent jury panel.

Most of the 25 testified that they thought they could try Pierson fairly, if they were to serve as jurors in his case. A majority said, in substance, that they had formed no opinion on the case. But 11 of the 25 said, either in their direct statements or in answer to Hay's cross-questions, that they had formed an opinion unfavorable to Pierson, or that they had heard others express such opinion and had gained the impression of a general feeling that Pierson and other defendants in the arson murder case were guilty.

Outspoken State Witness.

One of the State's witnesses was so outspoken in his direct examination that Hay did not cross-examine him, considering that his testimony favored the defense. J. A. Hyndman, 5820 Clemens avenue, an assistant manager with the Shell Co., said that, from his reading about the Buckingham Annex fire case, he had formed the opinion that a group was behind the arson plot, and that as one man, Watchman Andrew B. Meadows, was proved to be guilty, it seemed likely that the others were guilty. "I recall," he said, "that Meadows went into the matter only after he was approached by another person. It would be difficult for me, and I think for anyone else, to lay aside so positive an opinion as the one I have formed, and which I know that others hold."

William Horsford, railroad clerk, 5219 North Euclid avenue, said first that it seemed to him that several persons were guilty, and on further questioning said that he thought Pierson guilty and did not think he could try him fairly.

John T. Fleming, 4466 Penrose avenue, an insurance man, said that after the conviction of Meadows, against whom a jury assessed the death penalty, he heard others comment that the remaining defendants must be guilty. He believed he could lay aside these opinions of others, however.

P. J. Farris, 5025 Raymond avenue, insurance man, said he had observed much opinion adverse to the defendants, because of the loss of life in the fire. He said he could give a fair trial. John Lutz, tinner, 6948 West Park avenue, also thought he could lay aside his personal conclusion, which was that others were even more guilty than Meadows.

Fair Trial Despite Opinion.

A. P. Fuhrig, 4153 Gladstone avenue, a dry goods employe, said he had formed the opinion that the defendants in the arson murder case were equally guilty and that he had heard others say the same. However, he thought he could give a fair trial.

George Geissler, 4184 Sacramento avenue, an electrical worker, said he thought the defendants guilty "in a way." John H. Gallagher, 6211 Victoria avenue, a cable repairer, "felt a little bit like they are guilty," and had heard others say they should all be hanged.

R. V. Compton, 4915 Quincy street, a printer, had read Meadows' confession and thought the other defendants guilty. John Crawford, 4362 Magnolia avenue, a chauffeur, regarded Meadows as a minor figure in the crime and thought others should be punished equally. W. C. Boevers, 1809A Benton street, office manager for a credit company, thought he was unprejudiced but felt that many others were not, and sensed a "general state of mind" that all the accused men were guilty.

Pierson is scheduled to be the second of the four arson murder defendants tried. The State charges that he and the other owner of the Annex, Lewis E. Balson, planned the fire for collection of insurance. R. H. Cotham, night clerk of the Buckingham Hotel, who made a confession in connection with that of Meadows, is Pierson's accuser. Pierson and Balson have denied any knowledge of an arson plot.

Congressman to Wed Ex-Waitress

CHARLES B. TIMBERLAKE and MRS. ROBERTA WOOD ELLIOTT,

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE from Colorado and the former head waitress at the hotel where he lived, who have announced in Washington that they will be married Dec. 23. He is in his 70s, his bride-to-be, a widow of Salisbury, N. C., in the early 30s.

THOMASSONS' CHICAGO HONEYMOON DESCRIBED

Witnesses Say 27-Year-Old Wife Dominated Him, Handled the Money.

The honeymoon of Hugh W. Thomasson, 73-year-old capitalist, and his 27-year-old bride, as seen through the eyes of Chicago hotel managers, clerks, bell boys, telephone operators and department store salesmen, is described in depositions filed in Circuit Judge Brackman's court at Clayton late yesterday.

Stephen C. Rogers, attorney for Thomasson in an annulment suit, spent a week in Chicago obtaining testimony to support his client's allegations that he was "hoodwinked" into marriage two weeks after he met his bride at the Fairmont Hotel, where both were guests.

From Aug. 13 to Aug. 18, when Mr. and Mrs. Thomasson and their chauffeur were in Chicago, according to the witnesses, Mrs. Thomasson dominated her husband, handling his money, buying his clothes, paying his bills and directing all their movements.

Mrs. Vera Robertson, telephone operator at the Albion Shore Hotel, declared the bride told her to ignore Thomasson, saying: "If he tries to use the telephone, just pull out the plug and forget about him."

Several witnesses said Thomasson "looked like a very sick man" and some expressed the opinion that he had been in a hospital. One witness testified that the bride explained she had been Thomasson's nurse until he married her so he could leave her his money. Another said she explained the presence of the chauffeur by saying there was danger that Thomasson might have to be subdued.

Clerks and managers testified that Mrs. Thomasson cashed her husband's personal checks which were frequently questioned until St. Louis banks advised that they were perfectly good. Frequently, witnesses said, Mrs. Thomasson sat in the lobby chatting with the chauffeur while the husband remained alone in his room.

When the party arrived in Chicago, according to depositions, Thomasson appeared to be poorly dressed, but within a few days appeared in new clothes. Department store salesmen said Mrs. Thomasson bought him several suits of the $40 and $50 type. "She seemed to be selling him the suits and buying them too," volunteered one salesman, who added that it was not unusual for a wife to dictate the type of garments her husband bought.

As has been told, Thomasson bought his bride a home at 56 Broadview drive, Clayton, where she now resides, and signed an agreement to pay her $1000 a month for life when they separated. After their return from the Chicago honeymoon, Mrs. Thomasson contracted at two downtown stores to purchase jewelry vauled at $73,635 and furs valued at $17,000, but her purchases were returned to stock by the stores when it was learned that Thomasson would not pay for them.

KILLS WOMAN TEACHER, 24, THEN TRIES TO END LIFE

Bath, N. Y., Youth Said to Have Shot Victim Because She Declined Engagement Ring.

By the Associated Press.

BATH, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Miss Elizabeth Refinot, 24 years old, French teacher in the Bath High School, was shot and killed early today. Lawrence Guiney, 23, was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound under the heart which police said was self-inflicted.

The shooting occurred at the cottage of Herbert Kleckler, 22, at Lake Salubria, a mile outside of Bath.

Authorities said they learned that Miss Refinot and Guiney had quarreled when Miss Refinot refused his proffer of an engagement ring. They said Miss Refinot had said several times she did not want to get married right away as she wished to continue her teaching career.

FOUND DEAD OF GAS ON VISIT

Mexico (Mo.) Osteopath a Guest of Sister in St. Louis.

Herman Turley, an osteopath of Mexico, Mo., was found dead of gas poisoning last night in the apartment of his sister, Mrs. William Jackson, 5551 Enright avenue. Four burners of a gas stove were open, but unlighted, and the doors and windows of the kitchen were sealed with paper.

Police were told that Turley, who was visiting here, had been ill since he was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes three years ago.

Urges Smoke Abatement.

Mrs. T. M. Sayman, president of the Town Club, spoke under the auspices of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League over radio station WIL last night. She urged the women of St. Louis to co-operate in curbing the smoke nuisance.

6 HELD IN FIGHT OVER EVICTION OF NEGRO FAMILY

Three Men and 3 Women, Most of Them Communists, Taken Into Custody Following Police Riot Call

A group of speakers for the "Unemployment Councils of St. Louis," who figured in a counter attraction to the Community Fund's miniature golf course last week, interfered with movers evicting a Negro family at 2205A Franklin avenue yesterday, resulting in a riot call to police.

Three women and three men, most of them self-avowed Communists, were arrested, charged with general disturbance of the peace and disturbing the peace of Deputy Constable W. McFenn, a Negro of the Fifth District, who was superintending the eviction when the group appeared.

"They began to carry the furniture back upstairs," McFenn said, "and yelled 'down with the law.' A big crowd sprang up in no time and I turned in a riot call."

McFenn said the tenant, Asia Simon, was submitting quietly to eviction because of $25 overdue rent, when the interruption occurred. The eviction proceeded after police, some of whom arrived in radio-equipped cruising cars, quelled the disturbance.

Police seized several banners, similar to those displayed at the Community Fund toy links on Twelfth boulevard near Olive street, bearing such legends as "Down With Criminal Syndicalist Law" and "Free Lunches and Carfare for Workers."

About 20 men and women swooped down upon the movers, grabbing the furniture from them, police said. Those arrested gave their names as: Ethel Barron, 27, of 1243 North Garrison avenue, the headquarters of the "unemployed councils"; Yetta Becker, 21, of 4326 Evans avenue; Ethel Stevens, 21, of 4575A Easton avenue; John Peer, 30, of 803 Cass avenue; Edward Mowe, 44, of 1434 North Sixteenth street, and James Gray, a 32-year-old Negro, of 1214 Elliot avenue. They were granted a continuance in Police Court No. 2 today until Dec. 15, to give them time to retain counsel.

Peer, Ethel Barron and Ethel Stevens orated from an orange crate at the Community Fund golf links, demanding equality for Negro and white workers and declaring their "council" proposed to fight eviction of workers.

Peer was one of five men arrested for interfering with the eviction of Scott Whitley, said by police to be a Negro Communist, at 2317 Walnut street, Oct. 9 last.

COMMUNITY FUND STILL $388,000 SHORT OF GOAL

Total of $1,812,000 Subscribed So Far It Is Announced at Meeting of Workers.

A total of $1,812,000 has been subscribed in the Community Fund campaign to raise $2,200,000, it was announced this noon at a meeting of workers at Hotel Statler. This leaves $388,000 to be obtained if the goal is to be reached before the final meeting Monday night at Hotel Chase.

A more optimistic note was apparent in reports by divisional and unit chairmen, although workers were urged to redouble their efforts in the final three days, particularly with reference to the "additional emergency pledge" cards.

Address by Boy 14.

A 14-year-old office boy for the Shell Petroleum Corporation addressed the workers on behalf of the boys of St. Louis from a perch on a soap-box before a microphone.

"Believe it or not," he said, "my name is Ripley. At the office they call me Ray, or 'half-pint' or two-bits.'

"I want to thank you for what you're doing for the boys. When I had troubles the Big Brother Organization, a Community Fund agency, took care of me.

"When I'm president of the company I'll give $100,000. And now," he concluded, handing Chairman Maestre $1, "I'll double my own subscription."

Alfred Fairbank, a former campaign chairman, urged the workers to arouse the public conscience to make the campaign a success and suggested that the teams of solicitors increase their quotas.

Sidney Maestre, campaign chairman, said the chief hope for the success of the campaign now lies in the "additional emergency pledge" cards, through which workers are seeking added gifts from persons who already have given, and new gifts from those who have not yet contributed.

He ordered the volunteer workers to withhold no pledges in order to make a good showing at Monday night's closing meeting.

1165 Families Apply for Aid in 20 Days.

At the present rate at which needy families are making applications for aid to the Provident Association, the total for the month will be the largest for any in the history of the organization, E. G. Steger, general manager of the charity, announced last night.

During the first 20 days of this month 1125 families had applied for aid, as compared to 350 who asked help during the same period in October of this year and 276 who applied during the same part of November, 1929.

Despite the fact that the first cold wave has not yet struck the city, the number already exceeds the figures for the first three weeks of December, 1929, and is approximately the same number as applied in the first three weeks of January, 1930.

Range of Community Fund Gifts In Last Year's Campaign

Due to certain transfers and exchanges, the figures in the three classifications marked with asterisks are approximations.

The table does not differentiate between gifts from corporations and individuals. No statistical division between individuals and corporations has been made by the Community Fund. In the classifications above $5000, where corporate figures are available, there were 14 gifts from corporations for a total of $118,563. These were as follows: $15,180, $12,000, $11,730, $10,333, two of $10,000, $7820, $7500, four of $6000, and two of $5000.

The three largest individual gifts were for $50,000, $30,000 and $25,000.

WHY PRINCE MICHAEL IS FAT

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 21.—The Rumanian royal family, according to dispatches from Bucharest, is worried because the young Crown Prince Michael is getting fat.

One of the reasons for his increasing stoutness, it was said, is that he has abandoned his favorite exercises for the pleasure of riding in a new American automobile, the gift of his father.

SON IDENTIFIES WOMAN WHO TOOK LIFE IN PARK

Mrs. Marie Karl Had Refused to Give Her Name After Drinking Poison.

The body of a woman, who died at City Hospital yesterday after drinking poison in Tower Grove Park, was identified at the morgue today as that of Mrs. Marie Karl, 45 years old, a widow, of 4203 Castleman avenue. Identification was made by Joseph Karl, a son.

Mrs. Karl was found seated on a bench near the center of the park at 4 p. m. by Patrolman Treinan of Magnolia District. "Please leave me alone and don't tell my son, for I want to die," the patrolman reported she said. She refused to give her name. Physicians said she drank wood alcohol and turpentine.

Karl told the Coroner his mother, a milliner, had been melancholy and had threatened to end her life. An inquest will be held.

MRS. LINDBERGH GETS 'TIP'

Told What Son Will Be Like When He Is 4 Years Old.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh learned at the White House Conference on Child Welfare yesterday what Baby Lindbergh will be like when he is 4 years old—if he is an average child.

Armed with notebook and pamphlets, Mrs. Lindbergh attended the conference on the pre-school child. This committee, headed by Dr. John Anderson of the University of Minnesota, has completed a survey of 4-year-olds in 2757 homes. If Baby Lindbergh is an average child and his father and mother act as average parents, Mrs. Lindbergh learned that Charles Jr. in a little more than three years will not be jealous and will not resemble his flying poet-mother more than his aviator father. He is likely to have from one to four spankings a month and may be sent to bed or stood in a corner; he will be able to count a little, to recite rhymes, songs and prayers but not the alphabet and his favorite amusement will be having his mother read to him.

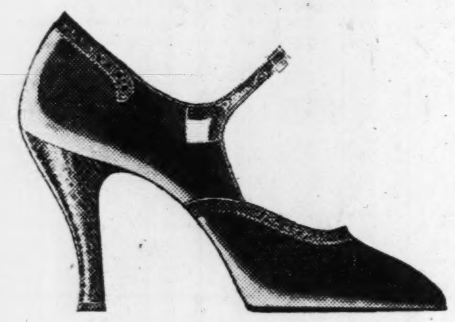
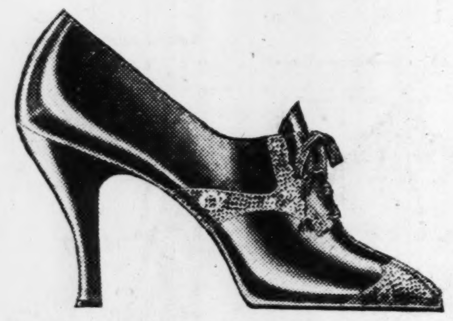
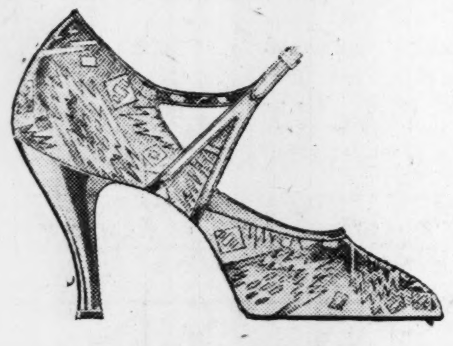
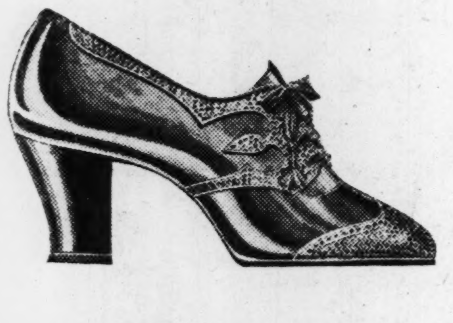
NISLEY NEWS OF NATION-WIDE INTEREST

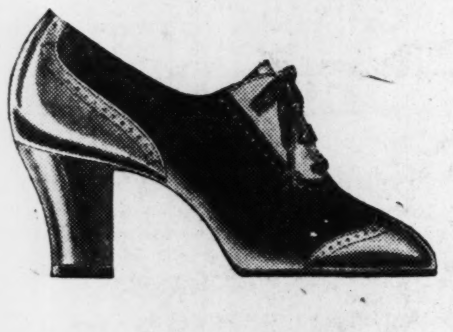
WE ANNOUNCE THE FIRST AND PROBABLY THE ONLY PRICE-CUT IN OUR HISTORY

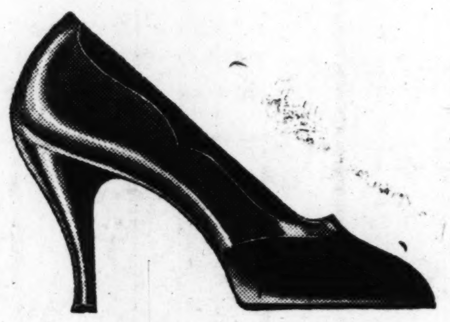


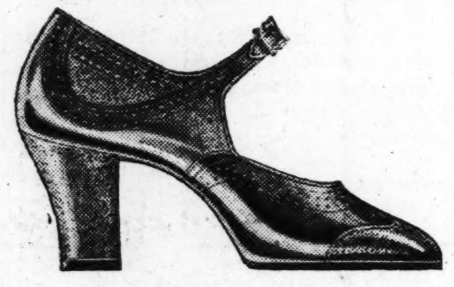


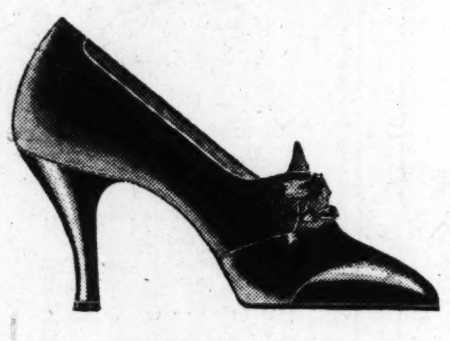












THIS price reduction is in keeping with public sentiment in regard to buying.

We know that every woman today is shopping with the greatest discernment . . . and finding it rather fun to see how far her money goes! In fact, it's just this sort of clever young person—always so smartly set-up and with some money left over—who is already our best Nisley customer.

She has known all along that we gave her $8 to $10 shoe-values for $5. Now, when every woman is buying with that same thrift-sense, we're reducing the price of Nisley Shoes to attract a still wider circle of Nisley customers.

This sensational price-cut goes into effect immediately! We can't promise how long it will last. We have on hand the most beautiful winter stock we've ever unpacked, and are proud to invite you to see it. You won't be urged to buy . . . try on as many pairs as you like. But for your own accommodation, come as early as possible!

REGULAR $5 STOCK NOW

REMEMBER! Even at $4 you're getting much more than the usual $5 shoe. Nisley Shoes have never been in the $5 class. They've never been bought by "$5 shoe purchasers," but by women who have always paid more UNTIL THEY DISCOVERED NISLEY! We make all our own shoes in our own plants and do this work on such a vast scale (to supply our more than fifty Nisley stores) that we can afford the softer, finer leathers, more shapely lasts and refinements-of-finish which you look for only in expensive shoes.

Not a Clearance Sale!

All are smartest fall and winter stock. Sizes run from 2½ to 9, AAAA to D.

THREE PAIRS WOULD ONLY BE $12—think of it! . . . a whole new winter shoe-wardrobe. You could get a smart new street shoe to last all through the winter . . . and one of the trickiest suede or moire pumps for holiday or Sunday wear . . . and a gorgeous pair of brocade dancing slippers—all for only $12!

NISLEY

BEAUTIFUL SHOES

Now—colors for every costume are no extravagance at all! Our new $4 price includes every Nisley colored shoe—the newest browns, greens, wines, and some deep rich blues. And a wide choice of silk fabric slippers to tint, to match your crepe and velvet afternoon gowns . . . a super-smart detail this winter!

Action Against $3,000,000 Firm Brought by Small Stockholder and Creditor for $1450.

A legal fight against appointment of a receiver will be begun by the Fulton Iron Works Co. Tuesday before Circuit Judge Lashly at Clayton in a hearing on a receivership suit filed against it yesterday by a small stockholder and a creditor with a claim of $1450.

The hearing will be on the question of appointing a temporary receiver pending a full hearing on the merits of the suit. Judge Lashly announced last night that a temporary receiver would be appointed only if "the strongest showing is made that such a step is warranted."

Suit for receiver was filed by J. H. Bedser of 7563 Buckingham drive, holder of 50 shares of common stock, and the Swartwout Co. of Cleveland, identified in the petition as a creditor with a claim of $1450.

The Swartwout Co., through Assocoate Counsel Herbert S. Hadley, withdrew as plaintiff today.

Named as defendants besides the company, are President E. W. Kopke, Secretary G. J. Kienzle, H. J. Steinbreder, holder of a large block of stock, and ten associates, said in the petition to be members of a creditors' committee directing the company's affairs.

In Business 78 Years.

The Fulton Iron Works Co., now capitalized at $3,000,000, has been in business 78 years. Its factory and offices are at 1259 Delaware avenue, St. Louis County, and its products are heavy machinery, particularly for cane sugar mills.

A statement issued last night by the law firm of Lewis & Rice, counsel for the company, denied the allegations of insolvency and mismanagement upon which the suit is based. Assets of the company, it was stated, total $3,060,183, while liabilities, exclusive of contingent liabilities, are $836,061.

Contingent liabilities were said to be composed of accounts and notes receivable which have been used by the company as collateral and which will in part ultimately have to be taken up by the company. Contingent liabilities were placed by the company's statement at $1,371,000.

The company declared, in counsel's statement, that creditors holding the paper listed as contingent liabilities, have indicated ample time will be allowed for its orderly liquidation.

Called Together Creditors.

"Accordingly," the statement continues," the company recently called together its general creditors and has received their fullest cooperation in working out the problem. The committee has gone into the affairs of the company fully and has recently presented a plan for adjusting the indebtedness of the company which will enable the company to continue its operation."

Long continued depression in the sugar business, the company's chief market for its product, is given as the reason for the large sum of contingent liabilities. Denial was made, however, that the creditors' committee was in charge of the company's affairs or that there had been any change in control.

In yesterday's suit it was alleged that the company had assets of not more than $1,200,000, as against liabilities of $2,100,000. It was alleged the committee was in charge of the business operating it for a limited number of creditors, and that the officers had virtually ceased to function.

NEGRO FOUND IN FLAT DIVES HEAD FIRST OUT OF WINDOW

Janitor, Discovered Hiding in Coal Bin at 720 Interdrive, Says He Had Been Drinking.

Charles Bowman, 28, a Negro, was arrested hiding in a coal bin of the apartment building of which he is janitor, 732 Interdrive avenue, University City, at 5:45 a. m. today, five minutes after he was surprised in an apartment next door and dived head first out an open window.

Apparently, police reported, he lit head-first. Dirt was in his hair. Mrs. Albert Landau, who summoned police, said she was awakened by a noise in her first-floor apartment at 720 Interdrive, and, turning on the light in the bedroom of her daughters, found Bowman lying on the floor. Bowman told police he had been drinking, and that, if he had been in Mrs. Landau's apartment, he didn't know it.

PEW FOR QUEEN WILHELMINA IN LITTLE NEW YORK CHURCH

St. Marks-in-the-Bouwerie Informs Netherlands Ruler of Reservation.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—In a little church on Second avenue, down under the Elevated railroad where the immigrants of many nations live, a pew has been reserved for Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands or representatives of her Government.

Queen Wilhelmina was informed of the action taken by the Church of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie in a resolution which says:

"In order to strengthen and confirm the historical ties between St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie and the Dutch people, the rector, wardens and vestrymen now take action to establish in perpetuity a seating in this church for the use of representatives of her majesty's Government, with a cordial invitation to regard this parish as ever mindful of the noble Dutch contributions to the life of this city and nation."

The resolution pointed out that St. Mark's stands on land "having continuous religious usage since 1660, when Petrus Stuyvesant maintained thereon a chapel to serve his household."

REDS HINDER MISSIONARIES

Report on Communism Made to M. E. Board.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Christianity is finding Communism a more and more formidable foe in foeign missionary fields, especially in Mexico, the Methodist Episcopal Board of Foreign Missions was told by John R. Edwards, its secretary, yesterday.

"Hundreds of young Mexicans are growing up today well educated in many ways but with a distinct antagonism toward religion, due largely to influence of Communists," he said. "Social unrest throughout Asia, arising often from Bolshevist teachings, has hindered missionary work there, his report said, and in many parts of China and India the missionary work of years has been undermined.

$8,000,000 PLAN FOR RIVER WORK TO AID JOBLESS

Lieutenant-Colonel Spalding Outlines Preparations to Use Funds Congress Is Expected to Provide.

Army engineers have spent $5,000,000 on the Upper Mississippi Valley Division, devoted to channel improvement of several rivers and centered in St. Louis, and are preparing additional plans to expend about $8,000,000 from the emergency appropriation bill which Congress is expected to pass, it is learned today from Lieutenant-Colonel George R. Spalding.

Several shifts and the "stagger" system also are used wherever practicable to employ the greatest possible number of workmen. Wherever funds are idle they are called in and put to work in river improvement, for the consequent effect on employment and business. Plans are being rushed to put the division's prospective allotment, a third of the expected $22,000,000 emergency appropriation, to work as soon as Congress acts.

Buying While Things Are Cheap.

"All this," said Col. Spalding, "is strictly in line with War Department orders in the comprehensive movement to stimulate business and employment through public works. It originated in the conference with President Hoover at his summer camp, which was followed by Secretary Hurley's personal inspection of the Mississippi."

"Now is the time, when things are cheap, to make our money go a long way in river work and put our equipment in shape for efficiency."

The $5,000,000 went into dike and revetment work on the Missouri and Mississippi, a considerable part in the St. Louis-Cairo bottle neck, which was especially troublesome to barge traffic last summer. The expected emergency allotment, Col. Spalding said, will go to the Illinois, upper Mississippi, the Ohio system and other rivers.

"While several projects are in mind," he explained, "none has yet been set down. We are going to do those we can get at most quickly, provided, of course, they are needed by commerce.

Local Aid Enlisted.

"Wherever local co-operation is required, every effort is being made to concentrate that locality on doing its part—because, if it won't do it, other projects will have to take precedence."

Immediate letting of contracts, he explained, would give the contractors "something to bank on" for spring, and allow them to retain their key employes, order materials and hire men to set up their equipment in readiness for the opening of the season.

"We are doing everything we can to get under contract all the jobs authorized by Congress," said Col. Spalding. "I have everybody in the division, including myself, working to be ready to go ahead as soon as we get the money."

"There is only one cure for my part of it," he said, at the mention of "depression," turning to a solid column of blue prints and tables lined up across his desk. "That's to quit talking and get to work."

IOWA GOVERNOR ASKS HOOVER TO INCREASE TARIFF ON CORN

Says Reported Shipments From Argentina Would Destroy American Market.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 21.—Gov. John Hammill today appealed to President Hoover for an immediate increase in the tariff on corn. He telegraphed the President that reported extensive shipments of Argentine corn to the United States would destroy the American market, "which price is already too low considering the small crop."

The Governor asked that the Tariff Commission recommend an increase which President has authority to grant under the flexible provisions of the tariff law.

"The protective tariff should be made effective where possible so as to protect the American market for the American farmer," the telegram read. "It is to be remembered that if the cost of production of the Argentine corn were identical with the cost of producing the same commodity in this country, Mid-West producers would suffer through abnormally higher transportation rates as applied on all railroads as compared to ocean-going traffic. Argentina should not be permitted to control the American market. The importance of this matter justifies prompt action. The situation is serious. With one-third less crop than the five-year average, prices are now one-fourth less. Let us have action."

BANKER, SHOT, KILLS ROBBER

Cashier Wins Fight, Singlehanded, at Sydney, N. S. W.

By the Associated Press.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 21.—Left in sole charge of the suburban branch of a large bank for a few minutes this morning, the cashier, M. R. Hodgkinson, beat off a desperate attack by three gunmen. He fatally shot one of them after being himself seriously wounded.

Two gunmen dashed off in a waiting taxicab to which they dragged their wounded companion. The latter's body later was found on the sand hills just outside the city.

SAFETY ZONE AUTHORIZATION BILL READY FOR ALDERMEN

Gives Director of Streets and Sewers Blanket Power to Create Traffic Refuges at Every Street Car Stop.

An ordinance authorizing the establishment of safety zones in the streets at trolley stops has been prepared by the City Law Department for introduction in the Board of Aldermen today, in view of the recent discovery of Provisional Police Judge Stein that existing safety zones were without any valid authorization.

Judge Stein has dismissed charges of driving through safety zones and police in the emergency have temporarily been making arrests under charges of careless driving or failure to keep to the right.

Upon passage and signature by the Mayor, the ordinance becomes effective immediately, having an emergency clause. It gives blanket authorization to the Director of Streets and Sewers to establish safety zones at every street intersection where there are car tracks or any other car stop, as on viaducts.

Six types of zone are designated specifically, but the sort which the Public Service Co. has marked at many stops, consisting only of painted yellow lines, is not mentioned.

Under an alternative clause permitting the Street Director to "cause" safety zones to be established, it will be possible to continue the practice of letting the street car company provide them. The city has no funds available for zone construction. It has been estimated that $65,000 might pay for the several hundred more zones held desirable.

There is no intention, of course, to create zones at every intersection, but only where car riders need protection or a zone is required to avoid stopping the movement of automobiles, which must halt behind a standing trolley where there is no safety zone.

City Counselor Muench said the creation of safety zones was clearly within the powers of the Board of Aldermen, "and, provided there be no unlawful delegation of legislative authority, the administration and enforcement of such legislative provisions may be left to an administrative officer or body."

ORRIS DEMANDS PEEDY ACTION ON IMPORTANT BILLS

ebraskan, at Capital, Says Special Session May Be Necessary Unless G. O. P. Ceases Opposition.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Sena- r George W. Norris of Nebraska turned to Washington today with repetition of his warning that a pecial session of Congress next pring may be necessary unless the oover administration withdraws s opposition to certain important easures, including the Muscle hoals bill, the Wagner unemploy- ent bills, the anti-injunction bill nd the proposed "lame duck mendment." Because of his per- onal influence and his position as ader of the Progressive group in ongress, Norris is believed to hold e key to the problem of a special ssion.

He ridiculed the administration harge that the Progressives are repared to act as "observationists," sserting that the only constructive rogram before Congress consists ainly of the measures enumerated bove, all of which were drafted nd presented by Progressives or emocrats. He said the principal bstruction thus far had come from he administration, which has here- ofore blocked consideration of all he foregoing bills.

Fresh from the Nebraska cam- aign, in which he first frustrated regular Republican plot to force im off the primary ballot and hen went on to win the senatorial omination and election by top- eavy majorities, the veteran Pro- ressive leader lost no time in show- ng that he is in a fighting mood.

Disclosures before the Nye committee, indicating that the scheme o defeat Norris in Nebraska had he sanction and support of high dministration officials, has not ended to appease his insurgency.

May Detail Attack Against Him.

He indicated to newspaper men hat he may take the floor of the enate soon after Congress con- enes to tell in detail of the efforts made from Washington to accomplish his defeat, first in the primary and later in the general campaign and of the use of money for that purpose. If this threat s carried out the breach between he administration and Western Republicans probably will be widened.

Discussing the legislative situation which will confront Congress when it assembles for the short session Dec. 1, the Nebraskan said, "An extra session of Congress is unnecessary and I don't want it. If there is one it will be because the administration refuses to permit proper consideration of the important measures that are now pending in conference and on the calendar.

"Of course, we ought to dispose of Muscle Shoals at the short session. That matter would have been settled at the last session if the administration had not blocked a settlement in confer- nce. The gentleman who acted as the administration's spokesman in blocking it (Congressman Carroll Reece of Tennessee) has now been repudiated by his own constituents, and it is possible that we can dispose of this 10-year-old problem.

Demands Parties Redeem Pledges.

"In their national platforms adopted in 1928, both the great political parties promised to enact legislation dealing with the injunction abuse. No administration leader ever has made a move to redeem that pledge. The Senate Progressives, however, have succeeded in getting an anti-injunction bill on the Senate Calendar, although a majority of the Judiciary Committee, including all the so-called Republican "regulars" voted against it. I want to give the political parties an opportunity to renew their platform pledges on that subject, especially the pledge contained in the platform on which President Hoover was lected.

"It strikes me as a remarkable coincidence, in view of that pledge, that the opposition to this bill has come from administration Senators and that the committee report on the subject was forced by Progressives and Democrats. If the administration will withdraw its pposition, we will help it redeem ts own pledge at the short session.

"Of course, the Wagner bills to relieve unemployment, should be passed. They should have been passed at the last session, but were blocked by the regular Republican leaders in the House. Surely, with conditions as they are in the country, the administration will now consent to let these bills get through the short session. I am reluctant to believe that anyone can continue to play partisan politics at the expense of the unemployed.

NORRIS DEMANDS SPEEDY ACTION ON IMPORTANT BILLS

Nebraskan, at Capital, Says Special Session May Be Necessary Unless G. O. P. Ceases Opposition.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska returned to Washington today with a repetition of his warning that a special session of Congress next spring may be necessary unless the Hoover administration withdraws its opposition to certain important measures, including the Muscle Shoals bill, the Wagner unemployment bills, the anti-injunction bill and the proposed "lame duck amendment." Because of his personal influence and his position as leader of the Progressive group in Congress, Norris is believed to hold the key to the problem of a special session.

He ridiculed the administration charge that the Progressives are prepared to act as "observationists," asserting that the only constructive program before Congress consists mainly of the measures enumerated above, all of which were drafted and presented by Progressives or Democrats. He said the principal obstruction thus far had come from the administration, which has heretofore blocked consideration of all the foregoing bills.

Fresh from the Nebraska campaign, in which he first frustrated a regular Republican plot to force him off the primary ballot and then went on to win the senatorial nomination and election by top-heavy majorities, the veteran Progressive leader lost no time in showing that he is in a fighting mood.

Disclosures before the Nye committee, indicating that the scheme to defeat Norris in Nebraska had the sanction and support of high administration officials, has not tended to appease his insurgency.

Discussing the legislative situation which will confront Congress when it assembles for the short session Dec. 1, the Nebraskan said, "An extra session of Congress is unnecessary and I don't want it. If there is one it will be because the administration refuses to permit proper consideration of the important measures that are now pending in conference and on the calendar.

Demands Parties Redeem Pledges.

"In their national platforms adopted in 1928, both the great political parties promised to enact legislation dealing with the injunction abuse. No administration leader ever has made a move to redeem that pledge. The Senate Progressives, however, have succeeded in getting an anti-injunction bill on the Senate Calendar, although a majority of the Judiciary Committee, including all the so-called Republican "regulars" voted against it. Surely, with conditions as they are in the country, the administration will now consent to let these bills get through the short session. I am reluctant to believe that anyone can continue to play partisan politics at the expense of the unemployed.

"The resolution providing for submission of a constitutional amendment to end 'lame duck' sessions of Congress, thus making filibusters impossible and terminating the practice whereby Senators and Congressmen continue to legislate after they have been defeated, is now in the House of Representatives. The Senate has passed it five times, always by increased majorities. At the last session Speaker Longworth kept the Senate bill on his desk for 10 months before he referred it to a committee.

"Meantime, a similar resolution was reported by a House committee. The effect of the Speaker's action was to perpetuate the delay which has now extended over a period of 10 years. The need of the amendment was never more obvious than it will be at the coming short session. Machine Republicans, who are responsible for the failure to submit the amendment, may now find themselves victims of the very condition it would cure—namely, a filibuster."

Senator Norris was asked what he thought about the recent statement signed by seven prominent Democrats, pledging that party to co-operate with the administration in the coming months to restore prosperity.

"I certainly have no objection to co-opueration as such," he replied. "I have always co-operated with everyone, regardless of his politics, for what I thought was right, and I have refused to co-operate, regardless of party ties, for what I thought was wrong."

During the last week, administration spokesmen have commented bitterly upon the alleged disposition of the Progressives to "obstruct"

NORRIS DEMANDS SPEEDY ACTION ON IMPORTANT BILLS

Supported by Progressives.

"So far as I know," he said, "the Progressives are the only people in Congress that have a constructive program to offer at this session. The important bills pending, such as the Muscle Shoals, Wagner and anti-injunctions measures, were all drafted and supported by Progressives, and every one of them has failed of passage thus far solely because of administration obstruction. On the other ahnd, I know of no instance in which the Progresisves have blocked the passage of any attempts at constructive legislation.

"Take the case of farm relief, for example. We submitted our program, and got it through the Senate. The administration opposed us in the House and at the White House, and succeeded in killing our measures. Just as soon as that happened, we stood back and not only permitted, but actually helped, the administration to enact its own program into law. The country knows whether or not it has been successful.

"In the cast of the Muscle Shoals measure, Progressives and Democrats have fought for 12 years to insure the utilization of this vast public resource, only to be blocked by Republican administrations. We fought for more than two years to get a report on the anti-injunction bill. I dare say that no measure ever presented to either house of Congress was more carefully prepared, or submitted to more expert examination. The administration has opposed it at every step.

"In the light of this record, it is absurd to charge the Progressives with being 'obstructionists.' The fact is that we are approaching the short sesison with a constructive program—the only one that has been offered. All we ask of the administration is to stop throwing monkey wrenches in the machinery. If it will do that, there is no reason why we should have an extra sesison. If it persists in obstructing these urgent measures, I cannot say what will happen."

Norris said no arrangements have yet been made for holding a conference of Progressives to outline a course of action at the coming session, but it is extremely likely that this will be done.

MRS. M'KEE LEFT $1,500,000

Husband, Children Beneficiaries of Benjamin Harrison's Daughter.

By the Associated Press.

GREENWICH, Conn., Nov. 21.—The will of Mrs. Mary Harrison McKee, daughter of the late President Benjamin Harrison, admitted to probate, names her husband and two children as sole beneficiaries. The estate is valued at $1,500,000.

James Robert McKee, husband of the testator, and their two children, Mrs. Mary McKee Reisinger of Greenwich, and Benjamin Harrison McKee of Paris, France, will each receive one-third of the residuary estate in addition to minor bequests of household articles and other valuables. On the death of McKee, his share of the residuary estate, under the terms of the will, will be divided equally between his two children.

Poetry Society Awards Announced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Poets whose works were chosen from verse submitted from many cities last night were awarded prizes by the Poetry Society of America. Roselle Mercier Montgomery, Riverside, Conn., won $100 for "The Captive Siren" and Mrs. Henry Mills Alden, whose husband edited Harper's Magazine for 40 years, received $50 for "Unhearing."

NEGRO LAWYER IN DIVORCE SUIT ORDERED ARRESTED

Grand Jury to Consider Alleged Irregular Testimony at Hearing.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Lennon today asked police to take into custody George L. Vaughn, Negro lawyer, 11 North Jefferson avenue, pending submission to the December grand jury of evidence in a divorce suit in which Vaughn was retained.

The attorney represented Walter Giles, athletic director of Vashon High School for Negroes, who filed a cross-bill to the suit of Mrs. Hazel Giles, 4137 Enright avenue. Mrs. Giles told the Circuit Attorney she refused to be bluffed when shown affidavits of three women attacking her character, but she chose to stand trial.

One woman on the stand Oct. 29 repudiated ehr affidavit. The other two stood by theirs and were arrested as they left Judge Hamilton's courtroom. James Hutt, a Negro employed in the City Assessor's office, also was arrested.

Divorce, custody of children and $80 a month were awarded to Mrs. Giles.

WOULD MAKE INDIANS SUBJECT TO LAWS OF THE WHITE MAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The American Indian has advanced sufficiently along the road to civilization in the opinion of the United States Board of Indian Commissioners, to be made subject to the white man's law.

"The Indians under Federal supervision are largely free from the civil and criminals laws to which their white neighbors are subject," the board said in its annual report, recommending that Congress and the Indian Bureau act "promptly and positively to bring about maintenance of law and order in every jurisdiction of the Indian Service."

ATTEMPTING TO SELL PLANETARIUM HERE

Dealer in "Universes" Seeks to Interest Wealthy Citizens in Purchase.

Franz Fieseler of Jena, Germany, salesman of "universes," is in St. Louis seeking to interest wealthy citizens in a planetarium, such as was opened in Chicago last May.

In a planetarium, the sky, with its constellations and planets, is reproduced, with the aid of an electrical machine, on the interior of a domed roof. The machine, requiring a year to build, looks something like a long-legged spider with a knobby body and a head studded with eyes. The movements of stars and planets are so accelerated that one can see in a few minutes what othewise might take days or even more years than in many lifetimes.

The mechanism of the solar system may, in reproduction, be accelerated from 125,000 to 4,000,000 times. Thus in two minutes the sun rises and sets, in two minutes stars cross the sky and fade in dawn—in four minutes day and night have passed.

Observers may go backward or forward in time, may see the heavens as Confucius or Ptolemy saw them, or as their own grandchildren's grandchildren will see them.

The machine which "controls the universe" is operated by a small electric switchboard, so that the operator, if he chooses, may become a modern Joshua and cause the sun to stand still and the moon to stay.

There are but 17 planetaria in the world, 15 in Europe and two in the United States, including the one being built at Philadelphia, and Fieseler represents their manufacturer, Carl Zeiss, Inc., a foundation created by the late Ernst Abbe, German astronomer and physicist, for "cultural rather than profitable purposes."

Fieseler, whose distinguished appearance and carefully trimmed gray beard would mark him rather as a scientist than a salesman, expressed to a reporter at Hotel Jefferson today the opinion that culture in St. Louis would advance enormously with the establishment of a Zeiss planetarium.

He pointed out that the Adler planetarium at Chicago (a Zeiss product) has been visited by more than 500,000 persons, nearly 3000 daily, since it was opened May 12. Although its cost was $750,000, Fieseler suggested that after the first cost of $75,000 for the instrument, the total could be made as small as desired, according to the type of housing structure.

He favors a site in Forest Park, near the Zoo or the Art Museum. "The dome of the old Courthouse is a little too small," he said. "Besides, that is an historic structure and I understand its uses are limited."

KILLING OF MERCHANT DUE TO BLUNDER OF POSSE

Group Which Son Organized to Catch Burglar in Store Also Shoots Woman.

By the Associated Press.

MARATHON, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The fatal shooting of Clayton W. Seeber, banker and merchant, in the office of his store last Tuesday night is described by the county Sheriff as the blunder of a burglar-hunting posse.

Sworn statements in hands of District Attorney Soon said Seeber was killed and Mrs. Myra Mudge, 57-year-old widow, wounded by a posse of which Seeber's own son, Carter, was a member.

The posse was assembled when Carter Seeber reported that he heard noises in his father's feed store, which had been robbed twice before.

As the posse neared the store the lights were extinguished and presently a shot was fired from the store window. Statements from the participants are that when fired upon the posse was convinced it confronted burglars, and one member thrust his shotgun barrel through a hole in a window and fired.

A moment later a person later discovered to be Mrs. Mudge left the building and was shot and wounded. The statements said the pellets which injured her were fired from young Seeber's gun. She is recovering.

U. D. C. National Election.

By the Associated Press.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 20.—The United Daughters of the Confederacy, holding their national convention here, today automatically re-elected nine general officers and named three new general officers. The three new officers are: Mrs. Charles B. Faris, Missouri, second vice president general; Mrs. George Dismukes, Chickasha, Ok., treasurer general, and Miss Alice Baxter, Atlanta, Ga., honorary president general.

ACCUSED JUDGE GETS HEARING POSTPONED

Counsel for H. B. Anderson Granted Two Weeks to Analyze Charges.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—Hearings of the charges of improper conduct brought against United States District Judge Harry B. Anderson before the subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee suddenly was adjourned for two weeks at the request of the Judge yesterday.

The request came when E. E. Conroy and H. J. Kilmartin, Department of Justice representatives, presented a voluminous report of their investigations here. The report was not made public, although the hearings have been thrown open. Judge Anderson's counsel asked for time that the charges might be analyzed and the defense prepared. All the morning's testimony related to alleged irregularities in the handling of accounts in bankruptcy cases, fees and a $19,000 shortage by a trustee.

The committee was told that Judge Anderson discharged four receivers in a Federal bankruptcy case and employed one to whom was paid $85,000 for handling the receivership of the National Cotton Seed Products Co. in 1926. The receiver was T. O. Vinton, president of the Bank of Commerce and Trust Co. of Memphis, to whom Judge Anderson's father, the late S. B. Anderson, was heavily indebted. Testimony also was introduced to show that R. G. Brown, counsel for the receiver and a former law partner of the Judge's, had received fees of $26,000 and a $5000 check bearing the Judge's signature and that of Brown was introduced. The Cotton Seed Products Corporation receivership was successfully terminated, it was testified, and witnesses held the fees were justified.

struction Work on $5,-0,000 Project to Get Under Way on Dec. 15.

onstruction of the $5,000,000 St. Mart Building at Twelfth evard and Spruce street, which, estimated, will give employment to 1000 St. Louisans during the latter part of the winter, will start Dec. 15, it was announced last night.

E. L. Stancliff, president of the St. Louis Mart, Inc., speaking at the Industrial Club dinner at the Coronado Hotel, disclosed that plans for a 16-story tower at one end of the building had been changed and the tower instead will be 21 stories. The main structure will be eight stories high, but foundations are heavy enough to permit the eventual construction of two more floors.

M. F. Marks, chief engineer of construction, estimated today that at the peak of construction, 500 men will be employed on the building, while St. Louis factories turning out materials for the structure will employ an additional 500 men. Marks said that 60 per cent of the estimated cost, or $3,000,000, will be spent for labor.

Bids will be received Monday, and after tabulation, will be let a few days later, Marks continued. During the first month, he estimated, about 100 men will be employed and it will be three months before the construction peak is reached.

In his address last night, Stancliff explained the building will be a merchandising structure, offering both the St. Louis and the outside manufacturer every facility for the economical and efficient production, sale, display and distribution of his product.

"Private railroad sidings will be adequate for the handling of 100 carloads of freight inbound and 100 carloads outbound every day, while automobile docks on Thirteenth street and Spruce street will accommodate 50 trucks at one time.

"Eleven high-speed freight elevators, with capacities of from 10,000 to 18,000 pounds, are well distributed over the building. The largest is so located that a large truck may be driven onto it, carried to any floor and loaded or unloaded. Six high-speed passenger elevators will serve the office tower, the display sections and warehouse and industrial sections.

"The entire eighteenth and nineteenth floors will be devoted to the Mart Club, which is to be operated for the benefit of tenants of the building. It will contain a spacious dining room, private dining rooms, lounge, card rooms, shower baths and locker rooms. The setback type of the building provides a large open terrace adjoining the dining room and overlooking the Memorial Plaza. Nothing has been spared to make this building a suitable structure forming part of the plaza."

The building is being financed by the Terminal Railroad Association, but will be operated by the company headed by Stancliff.

BRIDEGROOM HELD AS ROBBER

Amity (Mo.) Youth Admits Hold-ups at Two Banks.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 21.—Married a week ago, Coval Stephens, 22 years old, of Amity, Mo., was held last night for the robbery of two banks. Authorities announced he confessed robbing the Bank of Fairport Sept. 18 and the Bank of Osborn Oct. 2.

In his confession, the authorities said, Stephens implicated two other persons whose names were withheld. The youth, who married Irene Stephens, 19, was quoted as saying he expected to invest his share of the loot, $700, in a St. Joseph grocery store. The money was turned over to authorities. Stephens, the police said, otld them he and a partner netted only $100 in the Fairport robbery. They hid $3500, but it was gone when they returned. A third robber aided in holding up the Bank of Osborn, where $4200 was obtained.

DECLARES FARM BOARD BOOSTED PRICE OF WHEAT

Head of Stabilization Company Says Action Was Taken When Foreign Market Slumped.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, today credited the Farm Board with bringing about bettered domestic wheat prices.

"If the Farm Board never did another thing, it will have justified itself in the past week's work," said Milnor, whose corporation is a board agency. He referred to buying by Federal stabilization agencies during the past week of cash and futures wheat to forestall declines.

His statement, issued following yesterday's market session in which Government support lent stability to grain values, said underlying market factors and the fact that the corporation had taken steps to prevent further declines afforded assurances to consumers of wheat products that they might "with reasonable safety make purchases for their seasonable requirements, thus protecting themselves against such advances in the market as might come about."

Among factors favorable to an upward trend, Milnor listed: Lack of congestion of wheat at terminals in spite of the large visible supply, substitution of wheat for corn in livestock feeding, greater consumption of bread from reduced flour costs, and reduced wheat acreage.

Wheat advanced yesterday ⅛ to 3⅛ cents. Corn gained 2⅛ to 3⅛ cents. December wheat closed in Chicago at 73⅛ to 73⅝ cents.

The Farm Board's advocacy of a 12½-cent boost in import duty on corn was another factor adding buoyancy.

"Disturbed economic conditions throughout the world during the last week were augmented by unsettled conditions in foreign grain markets," Milnor said. "Continued shipments of wheat from Russia depressed European prices. Much uncertainty prevailed in regard to Canadian conditions, all of which resulted in drastic declines in wheat futures in all foreign markets. Winnipeg December wheat sold below 55 cents a bushel.

"Fortunately for American producers, the grain trade and business interests in general, the provisions of the agricultural marketing act enabled the Federal Farm Board to authorize the Grain Stabilization Corporation to take prompt action in order to prevent disastrous foreign conditions spreading to the grain markets of this country."

THEFT OF CAR AND $175 ADMITTED BY MOTORISTS

They Are Arrested by Detective Who Is Suspicious of Auto Bearing Indiana License.

Suspicious of an automobile bearing an Indiana license plate, Detective-Sergeant Selle questioned the driver when he overtook him at Union boulevard and East avenue yesterday afternoon and reported that he obtained confessions from the driver and his companion that they had stolen the machine, that they had later taken a $175 payroll from a parked automobile, and that they had stolen a hosiery sample case, which was recovered.

The prisoners were booked as Donald Rogers and Walter Ummelman, both 21 years old. The automobile was stolen from Miss Edna Johnson at Kansas City last Aug. 30, and the license plates were replaced by others taken from another machine. A physician's instrument case, in the machine at the time it was stolen, was recovered at Ummelman's home, 4415 Evans avenue.

Twenty-five new $1 bills were found in Ummelman's pockets and $17 in Rogers' possession. They admitted, police reported, that the money was part of a payroll which they took from the automobile of Harvey Holt, parked in front of his home at 4807 Leduc street, Nov. 14. The sample case, recovered at Ummelman's home, was identified as the property of Harold Cohn, 5415 Wabada avenue, stolen Oct. 31.

Missouri Percherons Set Record.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—A team of Missouri Percherons, owner by P. J. Smith of Belton, pulled themselves to a world's record yesterday. The team developed a traction pull of 2750 pounds. This was equivalent to dragging a load of 35,060 pounds on wheel and equal to pulling six plows cutting furrows six inches deep and 14 inches wide, according to Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America, who conducted the contest. The horses defeated 17 other teams.

DENIES DEALERS AGREED ON LIVE STOCK BOYCOTT

OBJECTED TO FARM GROUP AFFILIATION

Another Says He Would Not Do Business With Concerns That Used Tax Money to Wreck Him.

Murray H. Watkins, former employe of the National Order Buying Co., now charged, together with other East Side livestock dealers, with boycotting that firm and the Producers' Live Stock Commission Association, continued his testimony for the defense when the hearing of the charges was resumed today in Ainad Temple, East St. Louis.

Watkins and A. Russell Walker left the National company last September, a month after it opened on this market, and returned to business for themselves as Walker & Watkins Co. Watkins testified they did so because packers whom they represented told them they would not continue to do business with the National Order Buying Co. because it was operating on Government funds. The company has capital and surplus of $70,000 and has borrowed $100,000 from the Farm Board.

Watkins and Elgin T. Cash, president of the St. Louis Order Buyers' Association, were the first witnesses for the defense. On the stand yesterday both readily admitted refusing to deal with the National company and the Producers' association with which it is affiliated, and contended there was ample justification for their refusal. Both denied that dealers on the market had agreed to boycott the two firms.

Cash said he had not even instructed his employes not to trade with the two firms. "I figured they had enough sense to know what to do," he explained.

Why He Refused to Trade.

One reason advanced by the defendants for refusing to trade with the two concerns is the charge that they are connected so closely that they are in fact one organization, the Producers' representing farmers and the National company, packers. In that connection, Watkins testified that he had been hired as an employe of the National company by Harry D. Wright, mantger of the Producers,' and that he had given his resignation to Wright.

Wright and L. O. Grieser, secretary of the Producers', gave orders to employes of the National company in the absence of F. G. Ketner, general manager, he testified.

"Walker and I complained to Wright and Grieser several times that we were losing money," Watkins testified. "We lost $7000 our first month, but they told us not to worry, that we were getting our salaries, and they had plenty of money. They could lose up to $50,000 they said, and they predicted that they would get it all bask some day."

Wallace Potts, manager of the St. Louis branch of the National company, had testified that $2900 of the loss was due to the fact that the company could not obtain enough pigs and light hogs on the St. Louis market and had to ship them in from other markets. Watkins testified order buyers frequently found that condition, and that since leaving the National compauy he had bought eight carloads of that class of stock on other markets and sold them at a profit.

Explanation of Loss.

Asked for his explanation of the company's losses Watkins replied: "Shipping hogs below cost."

Cash said he had refused to deal with the two companies because they are sponsored by the Federal Farm Board, which has outlined a program of livestock marketing that will result, he said, in elimination of concerns such as his.

"It's against my principles to do business with anybody who uses my money to put me out of business," Cash said. "I considered that as a taxpayer part of that money was mine. I absolutely will not deal with them."

At the conclusion of the Government's evidence yesterday attorneys for the defendants moved to dismiss the charges on the ground that the Government had failed to prove its case. Examiner J. B. Horigan of the legal staff of the Department of Agriculture, who is presiding, denied the motions.

W. C. T. U. Picks Seattle for 1932.

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 21.—The executive committee of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union has decided to hold the 1932 national convention in Seattle, Wash., some time prior to the Presidential election. The date was not determined. There will be no national convention in 1931, but 20 or more regional campaign conference will be held. The first of these probably will be called in Washington, D. C., in December, 1931.

PETITION TO SET ASIDE GRAVOIS JUDGMENT FILED

Assessed Property Owners Tell Court That Commissioners Were Not Disinterested Freeholders.

A petition, asking Circuit Judge Landwehr to set aside the judgment in the condemnation proceedings for the widening of Gravois avenue, was filed today by assessed property owners, who alleged the commissioners appointed by the Court to assess benefits and damages are not disinterested freeholders within the meaning of the law. Judge Landwehr recently handed down the judgment in the case.

The petition, filed in the name of Mrs. Anna K. Holthous, a property owner, "and all those similarly situated," attacks the condemnation proceedings on 27 points. The attack is directed chiefly against the commissioners, Otto G. Dietz, Charles Kollas and George W. Johnson.

It is alleged that Dietz was not qualified to act as commissioner, because his wife owns real estate in the district "purported to benefited," and therefore he is not a disinterested party. It is further alleged that Dietz is not a freeholder within the meaning of the law, "in that he holds a small fraction of land, three feet in a 'political' lot, for the sole purpose of attempting to qualify him as a commissioner."

Counsel for Realty Man.

Both Kollas and his wife, Virginia, own property within the district, the petition charges. The benefit assessment against Mrs. Kollas' property was $50, while Kollas' lot was assessed $51, the petition states.

Johnson, the third commissioner, is charged with acting as counsel for William Federer, a real estate dealer; Barbara Walker, Otto Zeman, Rose Pieper, and John Sobery, for whom he collected damages amounting to $121,030, it is alleged. Johnson, the petition states, is the owner of a five-foot "political" lot.

The Commissioners did not personally make the benefit assessments, according to the petition, which charges that the assessments and the Commissioners' report, comprising 26 volumes, were made and dictated by an employe of the City Counselor's office.

For General Transportation.

The special benefit assessments are attacked on the ground that the widening of Gravois, from Grand boulevard to Eighteenth street, is for the purpose of increasing transportation generally, and, therefore, is not assessable as a special benefit to property owners in the district.

It is also alleged that the benefits assessed in certain cases are "grossly excessive."

The petition was filed by Otis L. Clonts, Charles P. Comer and August Walz, attorneys for the Gravios Benefit District Protest Association, composed of several of the 24,000 property owners, who were assessed $1,538,930.13.

In the event Judge Landwehr refuses to set aside the judgment, the attorneys plan to petition the Board of Aldermen to repeal the ordinance covering the Gravois project.

FRISCO WOULD TAKE OVER COTTON BELT IN MERGER PLAN

Asks I. C. C. to Modify Scheme Whereby Road Would be Assigned to I. C.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to modify its official plan for railroad mergers by assigning the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway to the St. Louis-San Francisco instead of to the Illinois Central Railroad.

The petition marks the second move of the St. Louis-San Francisco in opposing the pending application of the Southern Pacific Co. for leave to take stock control of the St. Louis Southwestern.

At recent hearings before an examiner, the Frisco, along with the Missouri Pacific, the Texas & Pacific and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific lines, contended that the St. Louis Southwestern be withheld from the Southern Pacific unless the latter agreed to maintain existing traffic routes. The hearings will be resumed in Dallas, Tex., Dec. 1.

Day's Pay a Month for Unemployed

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 21.—Gov. Emmerson suggested today that all employes in his division of State government contribute one day's pay each month, from December to March, for unemployment relief. Pledge cards will be sent to all employes, and the first money will be collected from the December pay. Contributors, the Governor advised, will be given the liberal of deciding the county where the contribution shall be placed.

MORATORIUM TALK BY CURTIUS WINS PRAISE OF PRESS

COMMEND STRESS ON TREATY RIGHTS

Enforcement of Facts Where They Favor as Well as Where They Burden Germany Urged.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—The front pages of Berlin newspapers today were almost monopolized by stories and comment on the address of Dr. Julius Curtius, German Foreign Minister, before the Reichsrat, suggesting the possibility of a moratorium on Young plan payments and regretting the lagging of world disarmament.

Most commentators saw in the Reichsrat's unanimous adoption of the budget a new hope for quick business-like action when the Reichstag meets Dec. 3 in its consideration of Chancellor Bruening's financial program.

Toward Curtius' speech their attitude is naturally colored by political bias but applause predominates. The Centrist organ, Germania, commended the Foreign Minister for his emphasis on German treaty rights, while the Democratic Berliner Tageblatt hailed the speech as heralding a new German determination to insist that the treaties be fulfilled as well where they favor Germany as where they burden Germany.

The National Boersen Zeitung welcomed the speech as the first link in a chain of momentous events. "A mighty movement is afoot to rescue Germany," it said.

The Industrialist Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said: "A new note has been struck that can't be drowned out."

Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalistic Lokal Anzeiger professed to see in the Foreign Minister's words only a weak answer to Premier Tardieu. The Communist Rote Fahne alone ignored the address.

Paris Newspapers Think Speech Was for Home Consumption.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The feeling was widespread today that Dr. Curtius, in informing the Reichsrat yesterday that Germany eventually might have to seek the alleviations provided for in the Young plan, was speaking for home consumption rather than with an eye to being taken seriously abroad.

The Foreign Minister's references to lagging disarmament and his talk of treaty revision were considered principally as a concession to German Fascist and ultra-Nationalist sentiment which found such vociferous expression in the recent German elections.

It was understood here that France's answer to Curtius will be the same as that to the Fascist leader, Hitler, that to attempt all over again the laborious work of the peace conference would do more to provoke war than to assure peace. As to disarmament, the French feel that the League of Nations Preparatory Commission is advancing the project as fast as conditions permit and that attempts to speed it might undo all that has been done.

There is a similar feeling toward hints of a possible moratorium on the Young plan debts. The entire European economic scheme has been rearranged to conform with the Young plan provisions, and it is not felt that Germany would lightly consider throwing a monkey wrench into the complicated machinery.

Pertinax, one of the most outspoken critics of the Foreign Minister Briand, observed today in the newspaper Echo de Paris that Dr. Curtius' speech ought to suffice to kill "baleful illusions about Germany which Briand recently has fostered in France." He said: "We thank Dr. Curtius for his frankness. We will thank him doubly if his exposition communicates to the French chambers the strength to demand of Briand explanations more serious than the vague melodies with which he usually gratifies his hearers."

Figaro, a newspaper of more or less Nationalistic tendencies, remarked that while German views on the Young plan and treaty revision disarmament were already known, they had never before been set forth by the German Foreign Minister in such a tone.

"Is it an attempt at intimidation?" the paper asked. "Perhaps it would be well in that case that the German Government should know that we shall remain firm and that further concessions which would in no way serve peace must not be expected of us."

Ere Nouvelle, organ of the Left parties, pointed out that Dr. Curtius had declared that Germany would not abandon the treaties and would abstain deliberately from anything like an adventurous policy.

Effort of U. S. Diplomat to Save Edith Cavell Disclosed in Diary

By the Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 21.—How the Marquis de Villalobar, Spanish Ambassador to Belgium, and Hugh S. Gibson, then first secretary to the United States Legation, tried to prevent the execution of Nurse Edith Cavell by the Germans, is told in extracts published from the diary of Marquis de Villalobar.

The Marquis relates that at Gibson's request the two went to Baron von der Lancken, then director of political affairs in the occupied Belgian territory, and tried to get Miss Cavell reprieved on the eve of her execution.

The Marquis told Baron Lancken, "Miss Cavell may have sent hundreds of men to the front by means of her ambulance, but if you kill her she will send millions against you from her tomb."

The former Emperor is pictured by the Marquis as having become very angry when he learned of the execution. He is said to have reprimanded those who permitted it to occur and to have ordered that in the future no women were to be executed.

Miss Cavell, head of an English nurses' training school in Brussels, was executed by the Germans Oct. 13, 1915, on the charge of assisting British, French and Belgian prisoners in the occupied territory to escape.

The Marquis, in his diary, says he was dining with Baron Lambert Rothschild when Gibson arrived in great distress and asked to speak to him on a matter of the most urgent importance. He then told him of several cases of espionage pending before the German military tribunal in which two French, one Belgian woman and Miss Cavell were involved.

He said Miss Cavell had been condemned to death and was to be executed at dawn of the next day. He asked the Marquis to take the place of Brand Whitlock, the American Minister, who was ill in bed with a high fever, and make every representation possible with the German authorities to stay the execution.

The Marquis says he and Gibson went immediately to Baron von der Lancken who told them he did not think Miss Cavell's execution would be immediate, but that the Baron said Gen. von Sauberweig, the acting Governor, was resolved to execute her.

The Marquis, relating a private conversation he had with Von der Lancken, tells how he pleaded with him, but the Baron said Von Sauberweig was not to be moved. As a last attempt the Marquis says he suggested the Baron telephone the German Emperor at his headquarters, but the Baron was stupefied at such a request and exclaimed, "But one can't telephone the Emperor."

The Marquis says he and Gibson finally returned to the United States legation when the fatal day was dawning, tired out and terribly distressed.

Months later, the Marquis says, when he was dining with King George and Queen Mary of England he related the details of the matter and quoted the King as saying, "It is a relief to me to learn the German Emperor was not responsible for such a crime."

The Marquis gives as his final verdict that Gen. Von Sauberweig alone was responsible for Miss Cavell's death.

SPAIN CONTINUES POLICE MEASURES AGAINST DISORDER

Left Wing Laborites at Barcelona Decline to Obey Union Order to Return to Work.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Nov. 21.—Extensive police precautions against disorders were continued throughout Spain today despite the Government's belief that the serious situation brought on by general strikes was moderating.

More than 50 persons were under arrest in Barcelona, where the radical Left Wing Laborites have refused to return to work though ordered to do so by the unions. A walkout at Antequera, near Malaga, has ended and conditions at Valencia, Alicante and Seville are said to be greatly improved.

There is a new general strike, at Castellon, where workers walked out in sympathy with strikers in other parts of the country. Agitators were arrested and heavy guards were maintained.

Premier Berenguer denied that anything he had said since the strikes began last Saturday was to be construed as portending establishment of a dictatorship. He said he meant merely to indicate an intention of stern dealing with agitators.

The newspaper Heraldo de Madrid has been suspended for five days because it published an article defending the general strike. The author of the article was arrested.

ENGLAND'S 73,000-TON LINER TO CHALLENGE THE BREMEN

Plans for Ship Disclosed in House of Commons Insurance Bill; to Cost $22,500,000.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Specifications for a 73,000-ton liner which will challenge the Germans for supremacy in North Atlantic traffic were disclosed today by W. R. Smith, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade.

Smith addressed the House of Commons in behalf of the Cunard insurance bill and told of the proposed liner. The vessel, he said, would be 1018 feet long and would cost approximately $22,500,000. The insurance bill would grant the Government power to underwrite about half the insurance on the ship, leaving the balance to Lloyds group of insurance companies.

NEW JERSEY GOVERNOR WEDS

By the Associated Press.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 21.—Gov. Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey was married last night at his home here to Ada Schmidt, who for two years has been secretary to his aged mother. The bride is 25 years old and Gov. Larson is 48.

The Governor, whose first wife died several years ago, was attended by his nephew, Capt. Harold Larson, a member of his military staff. The bride was attended by Regina Larson, niece of the chief executive and official hostess at his summer home at Sea Girt. The Governor and his bride departed for Miami, Fla., on a three-weeks' trip.

METHODISTS RAKE WETS' "BUSHWHACKING CAMPAIGN"

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Methodist Board of Temperance called antiprohibition activities today a "bushwhacking campaign" to impair enforcement. An editorial in its clipsheet said opponents of the dry laws had agreed on no better solution, and that there was no prospect of repeal.

It contended that the "apparent policy" of the antidry leaders was based on it being "possible for consolidated groups, well financed and morally supported by men of community standing, to make it practically impossible for the Government to deal effectively with an illicit liquor traffic controlled by gangsters and racketeers, unless the country becomes reconciled to the use of an undesirable degree of force."

The editorial said the country as a whole would not "accept permanently" any modification and that a return to state option was "impracticable."

DO-X HELD AT SANTANDER BY UNFAVORABLE WEATHER

Little Likelihood of the Craft Resuming Its Flight to Corunna Today.

By the Associated Press.

SANTANDER, Spain, Nov. 21.—Cloudy skies and a high wind caused the Do-X, German seaplane, to remain anchored off shore this morning. Unless the weather improves it was regarded as improbable that she would resume her flight to Corunna today.

The Do-X came down here yesterday while on the way from Bordeaux to Corunna and encountered such bad weather those aboard her could not go ashore nor could those on land go out in the water to welcome the craft. When the Do-X first anchored about three miles off the mole the sea was calm, but it soon became extremely rough.

Late at night, however, the weather improved somewhat, permitting the crew, Dr. Claude Dornier and Mrs. Dornier, to come ashore. They were greeted by the municipal councillors, who presented flowers to Mrs. Dornier on behalf of the city. Those who came ashore spent the night at a hotel, while an extra havy anchor was sent to the Do-X.

BUSINESS FIRMS IN ITALY TO CUT EMPLOYES' WAGES

ROME, Nov. 21.—Banks, private business firms and chain stores in Italy are following the example set last Tuesday by the Fascist State in drastically cutting the salaries of their employes. The lower wages will go into effect Dec. 1 and will range upward from 15 per cent.

The conference of the Fascist newspaper workers' syndicate, now in session at Milan, yesterday adopted a resolution in favor of reducing the wages of its members offered by its secretary-general, Ermanno Emmiccaci. The present minimum monthly pay for the members of an Italian newspaper's staff—equivalent to $55—remains intact, being the lowest possible living wage. Salaries between $55 and $150 a month will be cut 5 per cent, those of $250 will be cut 10 per cent and on larger pay envelopes the cut will be 15 per cent.

The law under which dismissed newspaper men are entitled to one month's pay for each consecutive year they have been employed will continue in force, and in calculating monthly pay the present reductions will be halved. The lower newspaper salaries will not become effective until January, 1931.

ROOSEVELT AND REPEAL PLANK, COX'S PREDICTION FOR 1932

Other Issues Will Be Water Power, Utility Regulation, Unemployment, "Scientific" Tariff.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The New York World today quoted James M. Cox, presidential nominee in 1920, who was here to attend the wedding of his son, as saying he thought the Democratic national platform in 1932 would contain a plank calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the return to State liquor control.

The World said he thought Gov. Roosevelt of New York, his running mate on the 1920 ticket, would be nominated by the Democrats for President in 1932 on the issues of water power, utility regulation, unemployment and the working out of a scientific tariff to place the country on a sound economic basis.

"The Democratic party," the World quoted the one-time Ohio Governor, "has never had a more necessary mission or a brighter prospect than it has now."

FATHER OF OHIO DRY LAWS FAVORS LIGHT WINES AND BEER

Former Attorney-General Crabbe Declares Acts Fail to Promote True Temperance.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21.—C. C. Crabbe, father of Ohio's dry laws, and former Attorney-General of Ohio, today announced that he favored a modification of the Crabbe act to permit the sale of light wines and beer.

Crabbe said that the enforcement of the present stringent prohibition law in Ohio was "not satisfactory" and that the people of the State had not respected the statute. He declared the law failed to promote true temperance and needed to be modified to suit the majority of the people of the State.

SHIFT OF CHILD BUREAU TO HEALTH SERVICE FAVORED

CARE OF CHILDREN DURING DEPRESSION

Bill of Rights for the Handicapped—Work Proceeding Rapidly Toward a Permanent Program.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Hoover's conference on child health and protection proceeded today toward adoption of a direct program, following yesterday's subcommittee storm over a recommendation to give to the Public Health Service the maternity and child health activities now handled by the Labor Department's Children's Bureau. The issue may be passed to a Continuation Committee which will take up all work the conference leaves unfinished.

Miss Grace Abbott, head of the Children's Bureau, who has been suggested as successor to the retiring Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis, recently elected U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, was a minority of one against the transfer when the entire public health section of the conference approved the transfer plan last night. The majority agreed, however, to give her dissenting opinion the same distribution granted the report of the majority views, presented by the subcommittee, which earlier in the day had voted the change over a strong protest by women supporting Miss Abbott.

The transfer question is of long standing as a source of conflict between the Health Service and the Children's Bureau. Support for it apparently rests on a belief that maternity work is more of a medical function than a social service.

Relief for the Children.

Miss Abbott, in an address last night, urged children's agencies to support relief programs to prevent suffering among children as a result of present industrial conditions. Explaining that these conditions would affect children, she added:

"They will be undersized because they are undernourished. Larger numbers will fall victims of tuberculosis, when as young wage-earners they are subjected to the test of regular employment, and the year of bleak uncertainty will leave its mark on their personality."

The handicapped child, maimed, deaf or blind, was given a special bill of rights at one of the conference sessions. Included in the list was: The right to as vigorous a Written Few Days Before Signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—At a sale of the American Art Association at Anderson Galleries, Jefferson's letter from the private libraries of the late George Merriweather, and of Mrs. Raleigh Minor were sold. The highest price was $23,000 paid for a letter Jefferson wrote a few days before the signing of the Declaration of Independence, in which he discusses the drafting of that docufent, the conspiracy against George Washington and the campaign in Canada. The letter was bought by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach.

Some of the personal writings of Jefferson that Dr. Rosenbach purchased included a secret letter on international affairs in which the writer's opinions were expressed so frankly that he dared not sign his name to it, and others telling of his plans of marriage and the time his plans went awry.

KILAUEA ERUPTION CONTINUES

Flow of Lava Is Diminishing, However.

By the Associated Press.

HILO, Hawaii, Nov. 21. — The Kilauea Volcano continued to fling lava and flame yesterday, 24 hours after it began erupting, but the pyrotechnic display was diminishing.

A single fountain shooting 200 feet above the floor of the huge Halemaumau pit cast a glare 1200 feet to the rim surrounding the caldron of boiling rock. Scientists at the observatory predicted the eruption would last another full day. Several other fountains which burst through the lava floor when an earthquake shocked the volcano into action Wednesday had ceased playing.

300 Benzine Tanks Explode.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 21. — Three undred benzine tanks exploded last night on the property of the Astra Romana Oil Co. at Ploesti, causing a fire with damage estimated at 30,000,000 lei (about $177,000).

GOVERNOR SAYS LAW REQUIRES USE OF CONVICT LABOR

Answers St. Louis Union Leaders' Protest Against Prisoners Working on New Reformatory.

WILLING TO CONFER ON UNEMPLOYMENT

But Believes Present System Best for Penitentiary Inmates and of No Great Consequence.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 21.—Answering the protest of St. Louis labor union officers against use of convict labor on the new State intermediate reformatory, being constructed seven miles east of Jefferson City, Gov. Caulfield called attention today to a requirement in the law authorizing the reformatory, that convict labor and prison-made materials shall be used in the construction so far as practicable.

He also pointed out that it was necessary to keep as many of the convicts at work as possible because of the bad effect of enforced idleness on prison discipline and on the convicts themselves.

"While unemployment is undoubtedly a very great problem," the Governor said, "it is dubious whether this reformatory project is of sufficient consequence to justify abandoning the use of convict labor."

The appropriation for site, buildings and equipment totaled $750,000.

Letter to Maurice J. Cassidy.

The Governor's answer was contained in a letter sent to Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary of the St. Louis Building Trades Council. He said he would meet with Cassidy and other union representatives to discuss the labor situation at the intermediate reformatory when he again visits St. Louis.

The Governor said he had tried in every way possible to aid in relieving unemployment, and had gone to Washington and obtained early release of Federal aid for highway construction in Missouri.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Those Barren Sites.

BY a deplorable oversight on the part of the projectors of the great improvements contemplated under the $87,000,000 bond issue, the sites for the new plazas and fine buildings are left unmarked in nearly every instance by anything which would indicate to the visitor to St. Louis the splendid purposes to which these barren sites are to be dedicated.

Thousands of visitors from all parts of the nation, as well as abroad, passing by these places from which the old buildings have been removed, are left under the impression that they are merely vacant lots waiting for the seeing eye of some wise investor to reap the benefits of their excellent location. Signs of ample dimensions and beautifully legended with a picture of the contemplated structure and the purposes which it is to serve ought to be placed on these sites in order that St. Louis may properly reap the benefit of such publicity.

Higher Taxes and Tax-Shirkers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THIS continual reminder that the taxes should be increased is causing quite a flurry among property owners who as usual bear the brunt of the tax burden.

Why do you advocate an increase? There are any number of people who own no real estate who never pay any taxes, and they are in a position to shirk this duty because they own no real estate. They simply refuse to pay and that is the end as far as they are concerned, whereas a property owner must dig up. He has no alternative. Either he pays or there is a lien placed on his property.

This year there is an additional increase in the taxes. The property is simply assessed at an increased valuation, and the powers say there is no increase in your taxes, "we cannot get around it in any other way so we increase your valuation."

The renter does not have to bother about this. He asks for a reduction. You grant it or else. If you really are in favor of a tax increase, why not help pass laws to see that no shirking can be done by anyone and everybody will be satisfied?

Six Lame Duck Queries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IS it not a fact that——

1. Congress can be prepared to perform its duties as promptly as State Legislatures?

2. A President does not require any more time to be ready for a Congress than a Governor for a Legislature?

3. A President and Congress have at least as much ability, intelligence, experience and common sense as a Governor and a Legislature?

4. The people desire to have their opinions enforced as promptly in the nation as in the states?

5. The states are generally governed as efficiently as the nation?

6. If Legislatures meet two months after their election and function satisfactorily, Congress could do likewise?

Therefore, abolish the lame duck sessions of Congress and adopt the Norris constitutional amendment which would make it possible for a new Congress to convene two months after its election.

Also Witnessed Celestial Question Mark.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

REFERRING to William E. Patch's description in your paper of a brilliant phenomenon in the skies the other night, during which a light in the form of a question mark was visible, I wish to verify this. I witnessed the same thing and it was exactly as Mr. Patch described it. Like him, I thought someone had flashed a light in my face and, looking up, I saw what appeared to be a star that had burst with a million sparks just as a skyrocket would explode. My husband and I both watched it for at least 25 minutes. We also saw the small meteors in other parts of the sky.

A Defense of Married Women Workers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I READ with interest the letters regarding discharging married women from offices and stores and thought I would write you another side of the matter.

It is all very well to talk about doing such a thing but I am a married woman and have to work, not for fine clothes or luxuries, but to get along and keep things going.

My husband is a good man but there are thousands of men that just never make any money and I have worked with married women and never found one woman that was willing to leave her home or her children unless driven to do so. I have no children but my weekly pay is needed as badly as the little my husband earns for rent, payments on furniture, no radios or comforts either, just necessities, food, light and insurance.

I have worked nearly every day since I was married and my money has not been spent for clothes. In five years I have had one coat and my shoes are bought on the bargain counter as my other clothes are.

CRIME CHALLENGES SOCIETY.

The collapse of the Scorfina kidnaping case has a significance far beyond the failure of justice in the cases of five men charged with robbing and kidnaping Scorfina. Justice may fail in any case of criminality, no matter how serious, through circumstances that mean little except the escape of the accused from punishment. This case, however, has implications which seriously reflect intolerable conditions bearing upon criminality and law enforcement.

Scorfina, a grocer, was robbed and kidnaped. He gave testimony before the grand jury which resulted in the indictment of five men for the crime. He has been under police guard ever since, on account of threats against the lives of himself and his family. He was taken to court at Belleville under a heavy guard of police to testify at the trial of the accused men. He refused to identify his kidnapers, thus reversing his sworn testimony, and Assistant State's Attorney Lindauer was compelled to dismiss the charges against the accused men and release them. The State's case fell down utterly on account of the perjury of its chief witness.

The acknowledged cause of the refusal of Scorfina to testify against his kidnapers was fear for his life and the safety of his family. It was a case of gangster terrorism. It is not the first in St. Louis and adjacent territory. There have been murders and threats against the lives of witnesses held for testifying in trials in other cases.

In cases of gangster against gangster, justice is always defeated by the gangster code. Gangsters refuse to give any information concerning their assailants. But this case is different. It is a case in which gangsters conspire to protect members of their gang from legal punishment, by threats. It proves gang conspiracy not only to violate law and commit crimes but to obtain immunity from punishment. The arm of the law is paralyzed by threats of wholesale murder in the event that any witness gives testimony against any member of the gang.

Which is the stronger, the law or the gang? The question is inevitable when the prosecution of criminals is defeated through gang terrorism. The police authorities recognized the danger to Scorfina by keeping his home guarded by policemen and by conveying him to court with a large police guard. The police recognized that the only way in which they could get the witness into court was by protecting him with an ample force of police gunmen.

Gang conspiracy, however, defeated the efforts of the official prosecution and the processes of the court. It so terrorized the victim and chief witness of their crimes, his family and friends, that Scorfina preferred to face a trial for perjury rather than to run the risk of death for himself and his family by testifying against the accused.

Criminality and gangsterism have reached a crisis. It is bad enough to have murder, robbery, extortion and kidnaping prevail to an appalling extent, but when these crimes are supplemented by powerful, widespread conspiracies to defeat the processes of justice and protect the criminals through organized terrorism, the situation becomes intolerable. Gangsterism must be exterminated or lawlessness will overpower all the forces of law.

Crime challenges society.

LINCOLN'S RAILROAD.

It was the Alton & Sangamon in the 1850s. That was the name with which it began life. Crossing the prairie lawyer's country it was not surprising that someone from the "home" section should be chosen to represent its interests at law. Nor was it any more surprising that the attorney should be the gaunt reader of law books who had been down to the State Legislature for four terms. People recognized him as up and coming. Through his efforts largely the State capital had been moved from Vandalia up to Springfield. He pleaded his road's cases in court and looked after its claims. Then a decade and a half later, after he had taken his country through the welter of civil war, they brought him back in his funeral car on the same railroad, by mourner-crowded platforms of stations whose interests he had defended at the bar. Thus, it is Lincoln's railroad which will be sold at auction, Dec. 11, in front of the station at Wilmington, Ill. The old C. & A., with less than 1100 miles of tracks and $60,000,000 of bonded indebtedness, delivered into the hands of a receiver by the auto and motor bus, to be absorbed by the B. & O., "to be sold to the highest bidder." A business proposition and naturally so, yet surely someone in the group at the auction will have a thought for the days of the old line's defender of fourscore years ago.

MR. FAMOUS OF EVERYWHERE.

An observant reader of newspapers reports that in news stories announcing the creator of George F. Babbitt as the winner of the Nobel prize for literature, Minneapolis papers spoke of "Sinclair Lewis, native of Sauk Center," the Washington Star of "Sinclair Lewis, former Washingtonian," Connecticut papers of "Sinclair Lewis, of Greenwich," and the Kansas City Star of "Sinclair Lewis, formerly of here." All of which puts the author of "Main Street" within striking distance of Homer, of Smyrna, Chios, Colophon, Salamis, Rhodos, Argos and Athens. Greece's traditional epic poet had better look to his laurels.

PROF. JONES' CLASSROOM.

The educational capacity of the moving picture is already recognized. Some of our best minds believe it is destined to revolutionize the art of pedagogy. That conviction may be verified by an experiment, soon to be undertaken, which, speaking with such restraint as may be mustered, will command the glassy-eyed concentration of millions. We refer, of course, to the demonstration in vitalized replica of how Bobby Jones does it.

Can golf be taught by the scrupulously exact portraiture in effigy of the master's technique? After the Jones panorama shall the mediocre drive be resolved into a glorious flight of 300 bugled yards? Will the sad impotency, or, as the case may be, the profane futility, disappear from all the heathered roughs, and will miraculous retrievals be the order of the day from flashing blades superlatively applied? And what of that treacherous sector of proximity where accuracy is the desideratum? Will the short approach which has baffled so many earnest men and frantic women be reduced to an item of delicious simplicity in the crusade? And will the treacherous putter that now betrays both Greeks and the barbarians become in every hand a faithful Calamity Jane?

Will Prof. Bobby Jones get his message across in the voiceless, yet thrillingly eloquent, language of pantomime? In a word, will he make us all just perfectly elegant golfers?

THE PROPOSED SPECIAL SESSION.

More and more, signs in the Washington heavens portend a special session of Congress after the impending short session ends next March 4. And in certain quarters there is arising dread of this event, reflected in expressions that it would upset the country, that it would lead to business uncertainty. If the motives of those who hold it in their power to bring about such a session were dictated by personal ambitions or political expediency, these fears might be valid. But the reasons for the extra period of legislation are important and constructive measures which have been neglected, which the short session in all probability will not find time to enact, and which would be far more damaging if left dangling in midair than would the convening of Congress. If the country becomes fearful of what its elected lawmakers may do, then our representative system may be accurately viewed as having broken down.

For one thing, the proposed special session may well become an instrument for ending or at least reducing the need for special sessions. The lame duck period has become a great obstacle to orderly legislation, and the Norris bill to eliminate it would be on the agenda of the extra meeting if not previously passed.

The three-month session was long enough in the country's early day to enact appropriation bills and transact other business, but money measures have so grown in volume and importance that the time available is frequently too short, even for them alone. It is significant that in the Republic's first 101 years there were 13 extra sessions; in the last 37 years there have been 11. So pressing and so large have become the tasks of legislation that there are many who will agree with Champ Clark's prediction that the day would come when Congress would remain in session the year around. With the machinery of government hampered by the dead hand of the lame duck session, the extra term has become the only means of expressing the will of the voters before the mandate of the election is 13 months old.

The very magnitude of the legislative program which now demands early attention, in the opinion of the administration, insurgent leaders and the country at large, makes dubious the hope that the regular session will be able to complete the work. The Muscle Shoals problem, with its huge investment now lying idle and its great potentialities for solving the moot question of power rates, cries for solution. The Wagner unemployment measures, which should have been enacted two years ago, ought to be passed at the earliest possible moment in view of the present emergency, and not in December, 1931. Justice to American labor requires consideration of the Shipstead anti-injunction bill, which would outlaw "yellow dog" contracts. Other pressing matters are the World Court, interstate bus regulation, Tariff Commission and other nominations, the Howell bill for railroad valuation and many more. In the face of this important legislative program, a special session seems the only way out.

JUDGE WALKER.

Judge Robert F. Walker of the Missouri Supreme Court wore the ermine lightly. There was no trace in him of that oppressive solemnity with which tradition vests the judicial temperament. Many of his opinions were delightful essays, gleaming with humor and the charm of graceful diction. His outstanding quality, it seems to us, was his rugged common sense. He had occasion frequently to take issue with his associates on the bench. He dissented with salty candor. Hair-splitting was his pet aversion. He loathed technicality. The purpose of law, he believed, was to serve justice, not to perpetuate precedent. The man on the street instinctively felt that in Judge Walker he had a friend in court. The days of his years were four score, almost. Yet he gave no impression of age. The glamour of youth never left him. So, too, with his capacity for work. His energy and diligence never wilted. An upright Judge, a brave spirit, an honored public servant.

DRY LOGIC.

The latest clipsheet issued by the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Deets Pickett, research secretary, analyzes the election returns, and reaches this verdict on the outcome in Ohio: "The election of George White, a stanch dry, as Governor on the same ticket with Mr. Bulkley, new wet Senator from that State, indicates clearly that the majority of Ohioans are still dry." By what brilliant ratiocination the board arrives at this conclusion, eliminating the possibility of anyone seeing in the same results proof that the majority of Ohioans are wet, is not related. However, it follows the political strategy of this organization for claiming everything in sight, whereby it has also assumed credit for the cause in increased savings bank deposits, building of good roads, Lindbergh's ocean flight, greater enrollment in colleges, perfection of the electric refrigerator, gains in the fight on the corn borer, lower gasoline prices, the conquest of psittacosis and a larger catch of salmon in Alaska.

THE UNDYING FLAME.

As a memorial to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, his widow is planning the erection of a tower shrine in London. Atop would be a transparent dome with a naked flame burning night and day. Lovers of Doyle will agree that an undying flame is a beautiful symbol, but they know that one already burns to keep his memory. It is the fire that was lighted by the novelist's pen long ago in the grate of that upstairs room in dreary Baker street. Outside eerie gas lamps in the chill night fog and the rattle of an occasional hansom cab on the cobblestones; inside the friendly glow of red coals over the book-littered room of the greatest of them all, the inscrutable and imperturbable, Sherlock Holmes. It warms the tall, gray man as he rests smoking in his easy chair, playing violin arias in his mind, planning his next move against the underworld, dreaming of his young love. That grate fire in the upstairs room in dreary Baker street is the undying flame.

How a Scientist Would Make Laws

Legislator, for task of improving society, should be versed in sciences of social welfare; applying technique of scientific inquiry, first step in law-making would be extensive fact-finding; choice of methods, whether education or compulsion, also important; period of trial for new legislative measures before adoption suggested.

Dr. Robert M. Yerkes, Professor of Psychology, Yale Institute of Human Relations, in State Government.

NO professional person faces more complex or more baffling problems than the legislator, whether he be politician or statesman. Unfortunately the art of government as yet lacks adequate supporting science from which it may borrow facts, principles and techniques.

If he is to be creative in his field of endeavor or even pre-eminently successful in routine, the legislator must have an unusual breadth of interest and training. The history of mankind and of human relations, of civilizations and of governments, of education, science and art, should constitute a large part of his intellectual working capital. The spirit, principles of method and many of the techniques of scientific inquiry should prove at least as valuable to him who seeks to improve, while he practices, the art of government, as can learning in jurisprudence or intimate familiarity with the particular legislative code of his commonwealth or nation-state.

With variations in adaptation to circumstances, the scientifically trained legislator, it may be predicted, would proceed in the following orderly, common-sense way in accordance with fundamental requirements of scientific research. There would be: (a) preparatory careful factual study of the situation for the discovery and definite formulation of problems; (b) critical examination of the problems, with intent to classify them as predominantly legislative, educational or personal; (c) choice, adaptation or invention of method or means of meeting the social requirement; (d) experimental trial of method, if at all practicable, in order to test it thoroughly and to obtain reliable measures of its value; (e) systematic review of all findings in the light of the investigator's total knowledge of the problematic situation, to be followed by such modification, supplementation or other alteration as indicated; (f) tentative or probational adoption of experimentally proved methods, preferably for a limited period and in a narrowly restricted area; (g) final study of results and formulation of procedures for general adoption.

The logical first step toward regulation of any form of human behavior is to carefully assemble and study all pertinent information. This, however, is merely the beginning of research. Fact-finding is not a simple mechanical task, for although existing information often must be tabulated, analyzed, classified, interpreted, preparatory to its application, it usually requires also supplementation by original well-planned research. For such task the legislator too often is entirely unprepared, if, as commonly occurs, he is elected or appointed to office irrespective of the relation of his natural ability, training and experience to the requirements of the post.

Bureaus of information, of reference, of vital statistics, of census, of special inquiry within departments and institutions, and a multiplicity of reports, constitute significant informational agencies and sources. Nevertheless, for such special needs as are represented by the automobile, alcohol, immigration and crime, adequate research provisions are lacking. A nationally applicable code, such as is obviously desirable, will require the co-operation of competent investigators and engineers, as well as of legislators.

To attempt to regulate by legislation what should be achieved by education, by moral suasion or by public opinion, may be a tragic mistake. Not a few governmental rules and statutes are harmful instead of beneficial, because applied to what are primarily educational or personal problems. Then, too, dead-letter laws abound, and although they are not as harmful as laws which are unenforceable, in most instances they should be repealed. Undoubtedly legal stock-taking and housecleaning should be the order of the day.

The word methodology, however repellent, has its inevitable place in government. To know all that is worth knowing about man and his use of motor vehicles or of alcohol may be transiently satisfying to the individual and impressive to the multitude, but it is futile from the standpoint of progress unless one knows also what may and should be done about it.

Save by long process of trial and gradual approximation to perfection, no individual, however wise, can hope to achieve an acceptable solution of any complex social problem. It would seem that the sooner we honestly, whole-heartedly and broad-mindedly accept this fact and get into the habit of considering each step in legislation as an approximation to the best currently attainable, the better for our social order and for the future of our civilization.

Intimately related is the suggestion of a probationary period for legislative enactments. Especially in the absence of wise provision for the annihilation or modification of needless or harmful laws, it behooves statesmen to make as certain as possible that their measures are satisfactory before presenting them for general and unqualified acceptance. Perhaps it would have been wise had the eighteenth amendment been subjected to a probationary period. Certainly the idea is applicable in many legislative situations.

Not only the length of the trial period but also the geographic scope of application might well be limited in accordance with the nature of the problem and of the regulatory method involved. Whereas a year might be abundantly sufficient for the evaluation of a motor vehicle code and a well selected county, municipal area or state a suitable territory for observation, attempts to regulate human habit systems, as of drinking or eating, might demand observation over a much longer period and in a more extended area. Until a law has been objectively evaluated in terms of social response, it stands merely as the opinion of an individual or group whose guesses concerning its social acceptability and values may be worth little or much.

THE FROZEN SOUTH.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

THE solid South is looked upon by some politicians as a frozen asset of the Democratic party.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.

VIEWED purely as a whisker, Representative George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts has the most remarkable adornment in Congress. No other—be he Senator or Representative—can match that spade-shaped black beard in which Tinkham takes so much pride. Its massive chest-protecting proportions and midnight hue make it one of the sights on the Hill.

Senator Gillett, his Massachusetts colleague, wears a small, ruddy, pointed chin appendage. Neither was the curly beard of the late Senator Lodge, also from Massachusetts, any match for Tinkham's.

STURDY, square-shouldered and possessed of a pair of gleaming dark eyes, Tinkham is one of the most picturesque figures in Congress. He is a Republican, comes from Boston, is a graduate of Harvard.

He came to Washington with the Sixty-fourth Congress and has been returned in each election since. It has been a matter of pride with him that he was elected to the Seventieth Congress by both the Democratic and Republican parties.

He delights in getting after his Southern Democratic friends in Congress. He is forever taking occasion to harass Democratic feelings with critical remarks about disfranchisement of Negro voters in the South.

Probably he is inspired to go gunning for the Democrats by the same urge that takes him galloping abroad in quest of big game whenever a prolonged spell of off duty as a legislator permits.

THESE big game hunts are his greatest hobbies. Last summer he was all set to go on one, but was forced to cancel his plans when President Hoover convened Congress in special session.

In his Washington quarters, a popular place with his many friends, Tinkham has a collection of sporting trophies that is fairly staggering. They literally fill his small apartment in one of the downtown hotels. His friends insist that he rates with Teddy Roosevelt himself as a go-getter of big game.

SINCERITY AT WAR MEMORIALS.

From the London Spectator.

THE suggestion of the British Government to other nations that official envoys should no longer consider it an obligation to lay a wreath upon the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in any country which they visit has been sadly misunderstood. The Daily Herald said that the object was to "eradicate memories of the great war." What sense would there be in our war memorials if they were not to perpetuate these memories? The Government was innocent of any such foolish intention. It had noticed that the laying of a wreath was rapidly becoming a matter of routine for official visitors, and reasonably feared that what was regarded as obligatory was in danger of becoming insincere. We certainly prefer to know that whoever deposits a wreath at a memorial does so of his own free will.

Amusing and Heartening

IN "The Universe Around Us," published a year ago last September, Sir James Jeans constructed for the layman what might be termed a working model of the twentieth century Universe, utilizing the available data of Physics and Astronomy for building material and fastening all together into a logical scheme with theories held at the moment by leading scientific thinkers. It was a truly sublime picture that he gave us, and one not without some disquieting implications for complacent humanity. This cosmic structure, if accepted by the reader as a magnificent work of art, created not by one man but by the composite modern scientific consciousness in its loftiest mood, probably contained more beauty and vital meaning than all of the best novels and best poems of the year taken together.

For it is an obvious and a curious fact that while the art of literature, in its characteristic modern forms, has striven to become science in its insistence upon sense data to the exclusion of large creative interpretations—a sadly belated imitation of a Victorian persuasion—while this has been going on, Science, in its characteristic advanced aspects, has more and more been assuming the ancient mood and functions of Art. The truth of this statement should be apparent to anyone who is familiar with the trends of contemporary literature and is not unacquainted with modern scientific thinking in its advanced forms as set forth, for instance, in Eddington's "The Nature of the Physical World." This curious situation may well be related to the fact that man is the artist animal, that the artistic impulse will work at its maximum intensity in the field where the interest of the contemporary consciousness is most intense—and that field just now is concerned with a logical examination of what we call the physical universe.

Art, by its nature synthetic, has become analytical, while science originally by nature analytical, has in its further reaches become synthetic, creative.

Sir James Jeans would be the last to claim that his picture of the universe was factual and in any way definitive, as readers of his book will remember. He would probably claim no more than that he had given a picture of the twentieth century consciousness, at its highest levels, set forth in symbols of the mystery about us.

While in the former work he was concerned with an essentially artistic synthesis of scientific data, in the present work he allows himself to consider the philosophical implications of the picture as constructed, carrying out to its apparently logical conclusion the prevailing trend of advanced scientific thought as to the nature of "matter," and the meaning of time and space.

It is at this point that the extremely common-sensical, brass-tacks sort of practical person is likely to protest that all such considerations are utterly useless and foolish, if not more than a trifle "goofy." But what that extremely common-sensical person does not realize is the very pertinent fact that his own and the prevailing popular world-view was determined indirectly by the scientific doctrine of materialistic mechanism, which, largely in the form of an unconsidered persuasion, has spread throughout society and pro-

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.

VIEWED purely as a whisker, Representative George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts has the most remarkable adornment in Congress. No other—be he Senator or Representative—can match that spade-shaped black beard in which Tinkham takes so much pride. Its massive, chest-protecting proportions and midnight hue make it one of the sights on the Hill.

Senator Gillett, his Massachusetts colleague, wears a small, ruddy, pointed chin appendage. Neither was the curly beard of the late Senator Lodge, also from Massachusetts, any match for Tinkham's.

STURDY, square-shouldered and possessed of a pair of gleaming dark eyes, Tinkham is one of the most picturesque figures in Congress. He is a Republican, comes from Boston, is a graduate of Harvard.

He came to Washington with the Sixty-fourth Congress and has been returned in each election since. It has been a matter of pride with him that he was elected to the Seventieth Congress by both the Democratic and Republican parties.

He delights in getting after his Southern Democratic friends in Congress. He is forever taking occasion to harass Democratic feelings with critical remarks about disfranchisement of Negro voters in the South.

Probably he is inspired to go gunning for the Democrats by the same urge that takes him galloping abroad in quest of big game whenever a prolonged spell of off duty as a legislator permits

THESE big game hunts are his greatest hobbies. Last summer he was all set to go on one, but was forced to cancel his plans when President Hoover convened Congress in special session.

In his Washington quarters, a popular place with his many friends, Tinkham has a collection of sporting trophies that is fairly staggering. They literally fill his small apartment in one of the downtown hotels. His friends insist that he rates with Teddy Roosevelt himself as a go-getter of big game.

SINCERITY AT WAR MEMORIALS.

From the London Spectator.

THE suggestion of the British Government to other nations that official envoys should no longer consider it an obligation to lay a wreath upon the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in any country which they visit has been sadly misunderstood. The Daily Herald said that the object was to "eradicate memories of the great war." What sense would there be in our war memorials if they were not to perpetuate these memories? The Government was innocent of any such foolish intention. It had noticed that the laying of a wreath was rapidly becoming a matter of routine for official visitors, and reasonably feared that what was regarded as obligatory was in danger of becoming insincere. We certainly prefer to know that whoever deposits a wreath at a memorial does so of his own free will.

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

IN "The Universe Around Us," published a year ago last September, Sir James Jeans constructed for the layman what might be termed a working model of the twentieth century Universe, utilizing the available data of Physics and Astronomy for building material and fastening all together into a logical scheme with theories held at the moment by leading scientific thinkers. It was a truly sublime picture that he gave us, and one not without some disquieting implications for complacent humanity. This cosmic structure, if accepted by the reader as a magnificent work of art, created not by one man but by the composite modern scientific consciousness in its loftiest mood, probably contained more beauty and vital meaning than all of the best novels and best poems of the year taken together.

For it is an obvious and a curious fact that while the art of literature, in its characteristic modern forms, has striven to become science in its insistence upon sense data to the exclusion of large creative interpretations—a sadly belated imitation of a Victorian persuasion—while this has been going on, Science, in its characteristic advanced aspects, has more and more been assuming the ancient mood and functions of Art. The truth of this statement should be apparent to anyone who is familiar with the trends of contemporary literature and is not unacquainted with modern scientific thinking in its advanced forms as set forth, for instance, in Eddington's "The Nature of the Physical World." This curious situation may well be related to the fact that man is the artist animal, that the artistic impulse will work at its maximum intensity in the field where the interest of the contemporary consciousness is most intense—and that field just now is concerned with a logical examination of what we call the physical universe.

Art, by its nature synthetic, has become analytical, while science originally by nature analytical, has in its further reaches become synthetic, creative.

Sir James Jeans would be the last to claim that his picture of the universe was factual and in any way definitive, as readers of his book will remember. He would probably claim no more than that he had given a picture of the twentieth century consciousness, at its highest levels, set forth in symbols of the mystery about us.

While in the former work he was concerned with an essentially artistic synthesis of scientific data, in the present work he allows himself to consider the philosophical implications of the picture as constructed, carrying out to its apparently logical conclusion the prevailing trend of advanced scientific thought as to the nature of "matter," and the meaning of time and space.

It is at this point that the extremely common-sensical, brass-tacks sort of practical person is likely to protest that all such considerations are utterly useless and foolish, if not more than a trifle "goofy." But what that extremely common-sensical person does not realize is the very pertinent fact that his own and the prevailing popular world-view was determined indirectly by the scientific doctrine of materialistic mechanism, which, largely in the form of an unconsidered persuasion, has spread throughout society and profoundly influenced the attitudes and beliefs and strivings of millions upon millions. Right now that doctrine is belatedly in full flower in the realm of Psychology where it is called Behaviorism, and throughout our literature its influence is conspicuous in the form of a cynical depreciation of human nature and a flippant scouting at superbrutal values and motives in general.

It would be possible to go further and show that the old materialistic doctrine of science was developed out of a world-mood that originated in the economic realm with the rise of the trading class and the Industrial Revolution, but this is not necessary to the one point at which these remarks are aiming.

That point begins to appear when we consider that millions of intelligent people believe themselves to have the authoritative backing of science in their narrowly materialistic conception of human life, character and possibilities.

The point becomes clear when it is stated, as a simple matter of fact, that Science, in its advanced forms, no longer backs them! Surely this is a matter of even practical importance.

Here is what Sir James Jeans has to say in the present volume, and one finds the same attitude expressed in a steadily increasing number of works by those who lead the van of modern science:

"Our modern minds have, I think, a bias towards mechanical interpretations. Part may be due to our early scientific training; part perhaps to our continually seeing everyday objects behaving in a mechanical way; a mechanical explanation looks natural and is easily comprehended. Yet in a completely objective survey of the situation, the outstanding fact would seem to be that mechanics has already shot its bolt and has failed dismally, on both the scientific and philosophical side.

"Today there is a wide measure of agreement, which on the physical side of science approaches almost to unanimity, that the stream of knowledge is heading towards a nonmechanical reality; the universe begins to look more like a great thought than like a great machine. Mind no longer appears as an accidental intruder into the realm of matter; we are beginning to suspect that we ought rather to hail it as the creator and governor of the realm of matter—not of course our individual minds, but the mind in which the atoms out of which our individual minds have grown exist as thoughts."

Does it not begin to appear that our materialistic intelligentsia are really belated Victorians after all. And isn't that rather amusing, not to say heartening?

DEAN LOEB URGES CUT IN SURVEY FUND

Says Expenditure of $200,000,000 Would Make Tax Burden Too Heavy.

A cut of approximately one-half in the State Survey Commission's recommendation of a nearly $200,000,000 state expenditure in the next 12 years for education and for the maintenance of state eleemosynary and penal institutions was advocated by Dr. Isidor Loeb, dean of the School of Business and Public Administration of Washington University, and a recognized authority on economics, before the Industrial Club at the Coronado Hotel last night.

The commission's recommendations were for a total expenditure of $192,000,000, to be obtained by heavy increases in the state income tax rates and by more than doubling the tax on corporations.

The scheme by which the commission proposed to finance the anticipated extension of state activities was pronounced unsound by Dr. Loeb, who took the position that taxes should be increased only to the extent necessary to obtain an additional $53,000,000 of state revenue. He advocated the meeting of capital expenditures, for new buildings, by a bond issue of $35,000,000.

Dr. Loeb urged that the Legislature should reject the commission's plan for relieving the counties from paying any portion of the expense of maintaining patients in eleemosynary institutions, and for placing this entire burden on the state revenue fund.

Under the present law a part of the cost of caring for the patients is paid from the funds of the counties from which the patients are sent to the institution. By continuing the present system, Dr. Loeb said, $35,000,000 of the proposed expenditure could be eliminated.

The school plan of the commission also came in for criticism, Dr. Loeb taking the position that it would be a mistake to cut the local school tax rate to 20 cents on the $100 valuation, and for the State to provide all necessary funds above the amount that rate produced necessary to maintain the school at a minimum standard to be fixed. He said the tendency of such a plan would be to lower assessments in the districts to the end that virtually the entire cost of schools would be taken from the local communities and placed on the State.

ORCHESTRA LEADER PREDICTS NEW TYPE OF U. S. MUSIC

Says Young American Will Compose It and That It Will Reflect Celtic Mysticism.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—American music which is neither Indian, Negro or jazz will burst upon the world before many more years have passed, compelling the admiration of the world's masters, Wheeler Beckett, guest conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, told a gathering of Americans here.

In spite of America's material advancement, he said, the country is permeated with a Celtic mysticism which will emerge in the music of its young composers.

Music based on the melodies of the American Indian is unsatisfactory, he said. The music of the Negro represents the feelings of an oppressed race which held no hate for its masters, but was not expressive of the new America, he declared, and jazz was disappointingly superficial. The real music of America, still in embryo, will not long be delayed, Beckett predicted.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.

THOUGHTS while strolling: Wonder how many finger nails a window cleaner breaks in a year? Ex-Ambassador Gerard's short neck. Those newsboy gyps who screech "Famous Movie Star"—and trail off into unintelligible mumble. Vincent Lopez has grown becomingly thinner.

Frank Sullivan, a Saratoga Springs, N. Y., boy, who made good in the city. I always glance at auto licenses in secret hope of spotting No. 1. Those mean tempered cops who pop out of bushes to frighten litle boys on park grass.

Mandolins are staging a comeback. A cafe and night club feature mandolin bands. Cheerful souls who auto-bus it from the west coast. Theodore Dreiser's perpetual glumness. Underworld for growing prosperous: "He's on the gain!" A Broadway orchestra called: "Al Katz and His Kittens."

Few wear clothes like Peggy Hoyt. Hugh O'Connell, the actor. Haberdashery window card: "Sober-hued Hose pour Gents." Ben Holzman is always in a rush. Richard Le Gallienne in town from Paris.

Prim ladies gazing at travel posters wistfully. Burlesque banner: "Forty Torrid Teasers." Never hear of girls hurling vitriol any more. O, sole mio—purple velvet pajamas. Can't find black pumpernickel in this town. It is all blonde sissy stuff. Clifton Webb's pleated pants.

Nobody seems to use the word "succintly' 'in conversation. But writers run it raggedy. The apple-cheeked octogenarian who has eaten three raw onions a day for 20 years—the odoriferous old dodo. Money in the beauty parlor business. Look at their establishments.

Who'll buy the rope for the bird who perpetrates those French quotations in cigarette ads? One of the Warner brothers—Jack, I think. The gray of winter twilight, lustrous with shafts of pink. Few look out an L train windows. They stare straight ahead.

KELCEY ALLEN, impassioned first nighter and dramatic critic of Women's Wear, salvaged his writing name out of Broadway's panorama of lights. One night he saw the names of Herbert Kelcey and Viola Allen—and voila!

Suggestion for a modern Broadway novel: "Who's Knifing Who?"

CENTRAL PARK may have a Rotten Row, like that of London's Hyde Park, and the most famous horseback path in the world. London's busiest men, from King George down, take a pre-breakfast canter daily. Central Park's bridle path is nothing at which to hoot but is not comparable to Rotten Row. The park commissioner—Duke Herrick — has been on the other side studying the outlay and especially the soil mixture that gives such a noiseless softness.

MOST Central Park riders are middle aged. On Rotten Row there are innumerable children, shepherded by watchful grooms, and riding superbly.

BOOK publishers have been unable, despite innumerable precautions, to bring out a book entirely free of grammatical and typographical mistakes. The average tome will present 150 "bulls." One of Conrad's totaled more than 400 and an early volume by H. G. Wells had 150 embarrassing errors. Some books are proof-read by three different experts but mistakes creep in. The Bible, due to many reprintings and corrective measures, is about the only perfect book typographically.

GOVERNOR SAYS LAW REQUIRES USE OF CONVICT LABOR

He also asked the highway commission to enlarge its construction program which has been done. The high commission recently informed the Governor that more than 10,000 men were employed inr oad construction and maintenance in Missouri.

The Governor said that before he met with the labor leaders, he would like to have Cassidy give some consideration to the principles involved.

"The purposes of employment of convicts are three-fold," he said. "First, to train the prisoner to be self-supporting on his release: second, to protect his mental and physical health; and third, to lighten the burden cast by his wrongdoing upon honest folks who must pay the taxes to support him."

Idleness the Worst Thing.

He said penologists were of the unanimous opinion that to keep prisoners in idleness would be the worst thing that could happen to the prisoners and the prison administration. "Authorities on this subject assert that interests of capital and labor, as well as the interests of society in general, are best served when the men and women confined in penal and reformatory institutions at State expense are employed at profitable labor," he said.

Gov. Caulfield recalled that there are four systems of utilizing the labor convicts. They are the contract system, by which convicts are hired out to private contractors by the day; the public account system, by which the State conducts the prison industries and sells the products in the open market; the public works system, by which convicts are used in building roads and other public works, and the State use system, by which convict labor is used solely in manufacturing products used by the State institutions.

Only the State-Use System.

The Governor recalled that the contract system had been abolished in Missouri, by law, and that trial of the public works system had not proved satisfactory. The public account system is now being used, he said, but the State was endeavoring to change from that plan and withdraw from the open market, where it now competes with free labor. Elimination of these three left only the State-use system, he said, which only permits the State to use convicts to do its own work.

"If that is not to be permitted," he said, "then the State must continue to compete in the open market with the products of free labor, or allow the convicts to remain idle."

In working toward the State-use system in Missouri, the Governor said, the State was attempting to comply with the Hawes-Cooper act passed by Congress, which becomes effective Jan. 19, 1934. That act contemplates exclusive use of the State-use system of convict labor. Enactment of this law was favored by labor leaders, because it virtually will prevent sale of prison-made goods in the open market.

Referring to the requirement in the intermediate reformatory law that convict labor and prison-made materials be used as far as practicable, the Governor said that the State Penal Board had been forced to use convict labor in constructing the reformatory. "I am sure you will agree that it is not fair that executive officers be urged to violate the law," the Governor concluded.

AMERICANS MAY AID EINSTEIN'S RESEARCH

Notable Scientists at California Institute Where He Will Work.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Albert Einstein's forthcoming American research will be among men who have uncovered practical mysteries of space which even relativity does not explain fully.

Foremost is evidence that somewhere out in the immensely cold and seemingly empty depths of space solid substance is all the time being created.

The proof of this new creation is disputed. The world's foremost advocate for the affirmative is Dr. Robert A. Millikan, president of the California Institute of Technology, where it has been announced Einstein expects to do research work.

Dr. Millikan holds that a powerful form of radiation, cosmic rays, which both he and his opponents have identified as falling ceaselessly upon earth day and night, come from tremendous energies used somewhere in space to create matter.

He has identified these rays from creation of hydrogen and helium and possibly iron.

Theories of Radiation.

His opponents hold the radiation comes from the annihilation of matter in the hot centers of stars and that nowhere is there evidence of creation—in short, that the universe is running down to its death.

Mathematical studies such as Einstein has mastered are used to support deductions of both sides.

Dr. Millikan is the first man to measure by experiment the electrical charge carried by an electron, at present considered the smallest bit of matter.

The institution of which he is president will operate the new 200-inch telescope, an instrument that will see four times as well as the present largest and perhaps bring to light more facts bearing upon relativity.

Another great mystery, one of the newest, is the red shift of distant light. This has been measured recently by Dr. Edwin Hubble, astronomer of Mount Wilson, Cal., observatory of the Carnegie Institution, where Einstein also is expected to work.

The red shift means that extremely distant universes of stars on all sides of the earth appear to be traveling away from us with immense velocities.

The greater their distance the faster they go. About 10,000 miles a second is the highest recession velocity recently measured at Mount Wilson.

Recording Velocity of Stars.

Astronomers doubt whether these velocities are real. If they are the whole material universe seems to be expanding, and out in the direction of its edges the expansion is of explosive speed.

If they are not real velocities, some scientists believe they will be found to have an important bearing upon the laws of evolution of creation.

Relativity is one means of working upon this riddle, and, in fact, relativity predicted the reddening of light, although not the astonishing speeds now observed.

At Mount Wilson also are Doctors Edison Pettit and Seth Nicholson, who have measured the heat of a star that is 600 times fainter than the faintest visible to the unaided eye.

Boston Has a "Papa's" Club.

A Bostonian "papa's club" was cited pridefully today by a male delegate attending Dr. Louise Stanley's family section of the conference. He said the husband of a Vassar alumnus, educated in eugenics, started the club by remarking that too much attention was given to the education of mothers and that better papas were needed. Other men concurred. The "Papa's Club" made the discovery, he reported that fathers, being more objective, need a different form of parental education.

The various groups of the conference are moving toward the final session tomorrow morning, at which the entire conference is to consider the section reports in drawing up its permanent program.

METHODIST BISHOP ATTACKS 'HELL ON THE NEWS STANDS'

By the Associated Press.

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 21.—Modern literature and efforts to change the prohibition laws were criticized before the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, yesterday, by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, presiding.

Bishop Ainsworth appeared for support of church publications as antedote for the products "of the infamous pen of Sinclair Lewis and other writers of his kind."

"There is enough hell in most of the reading on most of the newsstands today to send all the young people to hell in 30 days if they could get it to them," the Bishop declared.

CARLOAD OF RAGS IS LIQUOR

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 21.—Federal prohibition officers yesterday destroyed a freight carload of rags that turned out to be 775 cases of alleged bonded whisky, which they estimated to have a retail value of $92,000.

The shipment originated in Galveston, Tex., Deputy Prohibition Administrator John E. Wright said. Acting on a tip, officers broke the seal on the car and, after removing half a ton of old mattresses and baled rags, came upon the liquor.

CROSS OF ITALIAN KNIGHTHOOD PRESENTED TO JOE GARAVELLI

The cross of a Knight of the Italian Crown, awarded to Joe Garavelli, caterer, by King Victor Emmanuel for unheralded good works among Italians here and in Italy, was formally presented last night at a dinner at Hotel Jefferson.

Presentation was made by Dr. Mario Dessaules, Italian Consul. The local Italian paper, Il Pensiero, sponsored the dinner. Mayor Miller attended. Long and glowing speeches were made by Scott De Kins of the Chamber of Commerce, P. Coppolino and Jules Bertero, toastmaster, and Garavelli made a brief and earnest response.

A Fascist air and the Italian and United States national anthems were played. Tables were decorated with Italian and American flags. A great rose bouquet was presented to Mrs. Garavelli.

Tooled Leather Key Basket on Display at Museum.

A tooled leather key basket used by George Washington at Mount Vernon has been placed on exhibition in Gallery 32 at City Art Museum in Forest Park. The basket was acquired recently from a descendant of John Carlyle Herbert, who received it as a child as a gift from Washington.

The initials "G. W." and Masonic emblems appear on the basket. Aside from its historic interest it is regarded as an excellent example of early American tooled leather.

AMUSEMENT TAX URGED AS HOSPITAL BOND AID

10 Pct. Levy Coupled With $15,000,000 Issue to Be Recommended to Aldermen.

A $15,000,000 bond issue for the expansion and improvement of city hospitals and eleemosynary institutions, and a 10 per cent amusemnt tax to maintain the additional facilities provided by the issue, will be recommended to the Board of Aldermen by its Public Service Committee.

Alderman A. H. Niederluecke, chairman of the committee, will draft the ordinance which would call the necessary bond election, and Alderman Wimer will draft the ordinance for the amusement tax.

Wimer announced the committee's decision after the committee had conferred with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. As on previous occasions when the hospital bond issue was proposed, Comptroller Nolte wanted to know where maintenance money would come from.

Wimer suggested the amusement tax. "We could levy against amusements of all sorts," he said; "baseball and football games, movies, theaters, miniature golf courses, bowling and billiards; we could even levy the tax on foods served in restaurants, an idea we got in Montreal on our last junket."

Wimer said he would confer with Charles J. Dolan, special tax attorney, to determine the legality of the restaurant tax. In Montreal, he said, the restaurant checks are printed with a space for the addition of the tax.

The Public Welfare Committee recommended the bond issue last June after an inspection of city institutions in the East. Lack of enthusiasm on the part of Mayor Miller and Comptroller Nolte, two of the three members of the Board of Estimate, caused the committee to abandon the proposal temporarily, but it was revived recently after Hospital Commissioner Lohr appeared before the committee.

Additional facilities are needed particularly, according to Lohr, at Koch Hospital, which has a waiting list of 250 while tubercular patients are being cared for in temporary wards at the Isolation and City Hospital; at the City Sanitarium, where 3345 patients are housed in quarters for 2400, and at City Infirmary and Training School for Feeble-Minded Children. A Convalescent Hospital and an institution for feeble-minded Negro children also are needed.

Bank Holdup at New Windsor, Ill.

By the Associated Press.

ALEDO, Ill., Nov. 21.—Forcing the cashier and his wife into the vault and taking Bruce Shroyer, assistant cashier, with them, three men yesterday afternoon robbed the Farmers' State Bank of New Windsor, 17 miles from here, of $1000 in cash. Shroyer was released a few miles from town.

LIQUOR SPEEDBOAT CAPTURED

Hit by Coast Guard Shell Off Connecticut Coast.

By the Associated Press.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 21.—The Happy Parrot, speedboat, was in custody of the coast guard here today with a load of choice liquors estimated at 400 sacks, and a crew of three men aboard. The boat was captured last night at Cerberus Shoal, Block Island Sound, by a coast guard patrol boat from the local base.

The capture occurred after the boat had been chased eight miles and a shell from the pursuing craft crashed into its low deckhouse, tearing out a side of the structure. No one was injured.

"PUBLIC ENEMY" SENTENCED

Reputed Chicago Gunman Gets Six Months as Vagrant.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. — Judge John H. Lyle today sentenced Dominick Brancato, "public enemy," alleged to have been a gunman for the Atellos, to six months in the Chicago Bridewell on a vagrancy charge.

Brancato, appearing in court without his attorney to ask for a change of venue, was first sentenced to 90 days for contempt of court because he refused to be sworn. This sentence was vacated. Police Sergeant Roy Van Herik, who arrested Brancato Wednesday, testified the prisoner had a criminal record and had no visible means of support.

The new route will be from Miami and Havana to Cristobal, Canal Zone, by way of Kingston, Jamaica. The flight from Kingston to Cristobal, 630 miles, will be entirely over water. The line is expected to open Dec. 2 with a schedule of two flights a week. The flight now is made by way of Porto Cabezas, Nicaragua, over a route opened last spring by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

COOK'S BUSH LORE SAVES BABY

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 21.—The bush lore of an elderly aboriginal woman, whom his parents employed as cook, saved the life of 20-months-old Jimmy Bowcott, here.

The baby was playing near a clump of blackberry bushes when a deadly trapdoor spider bit him, injecting its poison into his foot and clinging there till it was killed. The black cook cut a piece off his foot, rubbed in some tribal herbs and when the doctor arrived expecting to find the child either dead or beyond aid, he found the bush lore of the native woman had been successful.

Bond OVERCOATS you ought to know about

...because, they're expensive thoroughbreds that have never before been sold at such low prices! Most of us have always wanted to wear Overcoats like these. We've admired their rich-textured elegance, displayed in solitary splendor against a polished background. We recognized their subdued coloring and rare pattern-designs as being apart from ordinary "run-of-the-mill" Overcoats. We knew they would stay young for a long, long time. Still, most of us objected to paying their rather steep prices • • But now, Bond (applying the 26-store pressure) has removed that very important objection. Which makes these Overcoats just about the most desirable in town • • They have all the finer qualities and distinguished style you'd expecf in Overcoats created for men who can afford the distinction of custom tailored-work. They are priced — at Bonds — so that practically every man can enjoy wearing one of them. You surely ought to see them, today or tomorrow!

BOND TEN PAYMENT BUDGET SERVICE invites you to pay $10 when you buy, the balance in ten weekly payments. There are no extra charges of any kind.

Entire List Is Strengthened by Carriers and Market Closes With a Strong Tone, Gains Ranging From 1 to 5 Points.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Bulls rused up their reserves by railway to save the day for the cause of higher prices in today's stock market.

After again pushing through into the new high ground for the recovery where, selling was met late yesterday, the market again showed signs of slipping, until a brisk upturn in the rail shares in the final 15 minutes strengthened the entire list. The market closed with a strong tone, gains ranging from 1 to 5 points.

Trading was extremely light in the morning, when a temporary selling movement was encountered, but picked up in the afternoon. Total transactions were about 2,250,000 shares. Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Delware and Hudson Atchison, Pere Marquette and New York Central gained 2 to 5 points. Shares closing up to 2 to 4 included American Can, Sears Roebuck, Stone and Webster, Westinghouse Electric, Air Reduction, Eastman, Foster Wheeler and Case. Stocks gaining 1 to 2 included U. S. Steel, General Electric, Bethlehem, International Telephone, North American and Johns Manville.

The grain markets again advanced, and brokers reported less evidence of special stimulus. Wheat futures closed up 1⅛ cents to 1½ cents, old contract, at Chicago, and corn gained ¾ to 1 cent. The cotton market moved narrowly, closing about steady.

Foreign exchanges eased in spots. Sterling cables were down ⅛ to $4.58⅝. The French franc, however, was firm, and German marks steady. A feature of the day was the erratic behavior of the Spanish peseta, which ended several points lower. Stabilization efforts, together with reports of labor distrubances in Spain, have intensified speculation in this currency.

Wheat Market Improves.

Continued improvement in the wheat market was a bullish influence. Success of efforts to maintain copper at 12 cents still seemed to hang in the balance, however, with some speculators and small dealers offering the metal all the way down to 10¼. The export price still held at the 12-cent basis, however, and the trade expects foreign consumers will be forced into the market for substantial amounts sooner than domestic users of the metal.

The Irving Trust Co., in its midmonth review of business, pointed to the firmer prices in textiles, copper, sugar, rubber and other commodities, and concluded, "it seems safe to assume that few raw materials can long be bought at less than the costs of production."

Statistics for building were less favorable. F. W. Dodge's report for the first half of November shows a reduction in contracts let east of the Rockies of about 9 per cent from the level of October. Electric Power consumption in the second week of the month showed somewaht more than the seasonal decline, with a reduction of 8-10 of 1 per cent from the previous week. It was notable, however, that the drop was primarily in the industrial areas of the Middle West, where there have been spotty signs of pickup in the last few days. The decline in this area more than offset slight gains on the Atlantic seaboard and the Pacific Coast.

Moody's, in reporting its preliminary "prosperity index" for October, pointed out that while it showed a further decline, the downward curve was flattening out, for the drop was the smallest since last June. The extent of the decline in this index was less than the drop in the figure for gross trade, for the prosperity index was buoyed up by a compensating reduction in the cost of living. Moody's pointed to subnormal confidence in business and financial circles as "the most stubborn element that still needs to be overcome." The Irving Trust Review also pointed to "mob psychology" as an important factor in the general problem of business recovery.

Credit Stationary.

The further drop of $50,000,000 in brokers' loans was favorably interpreted, particularly as it occurred in a period of price improvement. Credit conditions remained about stationary, with call money available "outside" at 1 per cent.

Entire List Is Strengthened by Carriers and Market Closes With a Strong Tone, Gains Ranging From 1 to 5 Points.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Bulls rushed up their reserves by railway to save the day for the cause of higher prices in today's stock market.

After again pushing through into the new high ground for the recovery where selling was met late yesterday, the market again showed signs of slipping, until a brisk upturn in the rail shares in the final 15 minutes strengthened the entire list. The market closed with a strong tone, gains ranging from 1 to 5 points.

Trading was extremely light in the morning, when a temporary selling movement was encountered, but picked up in the afternoon. Total transactions were about 2,250,000 shares. Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Delware and Hudson Atchison, Pere Marquette and New York Central gained 2 to 5 points. Shares closing up to 2 to 4 included American Can, Sears Roebuck, Stone and Webster, Westinghouse Electric, Air Reduction, Eastman, Foster Wheeler and Case. Stocks gaining 1 to 2 included U. S. Steel, General Electric, Bethlehem, International Telephone, North American and Johns Manville.

The grain markets again advanced, and brokers reported less evidence of special stimulus. Wheat futures closed up 1⅛ cents to 1½ cents, old contract, at Chicago, and corn gained ¾ to 1 cent. The cotton market moved narrowly, closing about steady.

Foreign exchanges eased in spots. Sterling cables were down ⅛ to $4.55⅝. The French franc, however, was firm, and German marks steady. A feature of the day was the erratic behavior of the Spanish peseta, which ended several points lower. Stabilization efforts, together with reports of labor distrubances in Spain, have intensified speculation in this currency.

Wheat Market Improves.

Continued improvement in the wheat market was a bullish influence. Success of efforts to maintain copper at 12 cents still seemed to hang in the balance, however, with some speculators and small dealers offering the metal all the way down to 10¼. The export price still held at the 12-cent basis, however, and the trade expects foreign consumers will be forced into the market for substantial amounts sooner than domestic users of the metal.

The Irving Trust Co., in its midmonth review of business, pointed to the firmer prices in textiles, copper, sugar, rubber and other commodities, and concluded, "it seems safe to assume that few raw materials can long be bought at less than the costs of production."

Statistics for building were less favorable. F. W. Dodge's report for the first half of November shows a reduction in contracts let east of the Rockies of about 9 per cent from the level of October. Electric Power consumption in the second week of the month showed somewaht more than the seasonal decline, with a reduction of 8-10 of 1 per cent from the previous week. It was notable, however, that the drop was primarily in the industrial areas of the Middle West, where there have been spotty signs of pickup in the last few days. The decline in this area more than offset slight gains on the Atlantic seaboard and the Pacific Coast.

Moody's, in reporting its preliminary "prosperity index" for October, pointed out that while it showed a further decline, the downward curve was flattening out, for the drop was the smallest since last June. Watson Road Surfacing Approved.

An appropriation of $20,880 from bond funds for laying an asphalt surface over the present concrete pavement of Watson road, for six blocks between Pernod and Fyler avenues, was approved by the Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee yesterday. The street has two 18-foot roadways and a central parking strip. Property owners had paid for grading the street and for 32 feet of the 36-foot concrete width.

FOOD FAILED TO DIGEST PROPERLY

"I took several medicines but got worse. Then I took ACIDINE and within a short time I was able to go about and feel fine. It worked like magic," says J. J. Jandus, Chicago, Illinois.

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way this prescription ACIDINE succeeds when many other remedies fail. The reason is it is somewhat different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Japtase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy starchy foods. ACIDINE neutralizes burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, helps relieve acidosis.

Eat, drink all you want. When sour stomach, gas, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heavy feeling, short breath, dizziness, nervousness, headaches and sleeplessness trouble you, take ACIDINE. If not delighted, maker refunds money. Get it from your druggist today.

ONLY ONE PER CENT LOSS ON RETAIL MERCHANDISE CREDIT

Edwin P. George of Department of Commerce So Declares at Convention.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 21.—The American people are paying their bills, Edwin B. George, chief of the Marketing Service Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, told wholesale and retail credit men in convention here. Retail credit merchandising totals about $20,000,000,000 yearly, he said, with a loss of about 1 per cent. The figures were compiled in a recent national survey..

"It is really a triumph for American business acumen that throughout all this welter of unregulated growth the average loss from bad debts on open credit sales has been kept so low," George said. "Electrical appliance stores had the highest credit loss, 1.5 per cent. Radio sets and supply stores were second, with open credit loss of 1.4 per cent. Department stores kept the tighest grip on their business, escaping with a loss of only .4 per cent. The average loss from bad debts on installment sales was 1.2 per cent. General clothing stores led with 8 per cent, while coal, wood, lumber and building material dealers reported 2 per cent loss."

The commercial credit picture, particularly as regards the wholesale houses, is not so rosy, William Fraser of New York, president of the National Association of Credit Men, told the gathering. He said liabilities of firms failing this year probably will total more than $1,000,000,000.

FAMILY DRIVEN OUT WHEN HOME IN THE COUNTY BURNS

Loss More Than $4000; Three Stores on Easton Avenue Damaged.

The family of Peter Vascarie, 4823 Oldenburg avenue, St. Louis County, was forced to seek shelter with neighbors when their two-story frame residence was destroyed by fire with a loss of $4000 at 1 a. m. today.

The fire started in a garage adjoining the house. A St. Louis fire company responded, but was unable to save either the house or garage. Damage to the garage and an automobile it contained was estimated at $900.

Fire starting in a shed at 9:15 o'clock last night caused $2500 damage to stores at 4144-46-48 Easton avenue. The stores included confectioneries operated by Dan Delcoff and Abe Schwartz, and a fish market conducted by Louis Ross.

RIGHT-OF-WAY SOUGHT FOR GAS LINE TO FULTON

Farmers Offered 50 Cents a Rod, Damage Payment and Free Tap Connection.

FULTON, Mo., Nov. 20.—Right-of-way for a gas pipe line into Fulton is being obtained by B. S. Via, representing the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Co. The proposed line will connect with the main trunk at Thompson in Audrain County.

The projected route will supply natural gas to the fire brick plant. It will be an eight-inch line large enough for a city of 50,000 population.

Callaway farmers owning property in the piping sector have been offered 50 cents per rod and payment of all damages. They also will be given a free tap and meter connection if they desire to use the gas.

Although no exact date has been set, work is expected to start within a few weeks.

U. S. LINES TO BUILD 30,000-TON SHIPS

They Will Be Largest Merchant Craft Constructed in America.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The most ambitious American attempt at merchant shipbuilding will begin Dec. 4, when the keel will be laid for a 30,000-ton liner, the largest ever built in the United States, according to an announcement by the United States Lines. This new ship will be built at Camden, N. J., and will be the first liner to be constructed by the United States Line for the North Atlantic passenger trade.

The keel for a sister ship will be laid within three months on adjoining ways. Both ships will be delivered in 1932, the first in July and the second in November.

In some respects these ships will resemble the two North German Lloyd speed queens, Bremen and Europa. In size, both ships will be about three-fifths the tonnage of the German rivals—30,000 tons for the American ships, as compared to 51,656 tons for the Bremen and 49,745 for the Europa. Their length will be 705 feet. The Bremen is 898 and Europa 890.

The contracted speed of the American ships—22 knots—will not permit them to challenge either German flyers, both of whom have averaged better than 27.40 for the crossing. The Lloyd ships, however, have 120,000-horsepower to drive them, as compared to the 34,500-horsepower of the American ships.

The new ships will be driven by turbines driving twin screws. In their service between New York, France and England it is expected they will make the crossing in a few hours more than five days. They will carry 1320 passengers—600 first cabin, 490 tourist and 240 third cabin.

OVER MARCO POLO'S ROUTE BY AUTO, FRENCHMAN'S PLAN

Expedition in Caterpillar Cars to Attempt to Duplicate Venetian's Feat.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Plans of Georges-Marie Haardt, French scientist and traveler, to emulate the journeys of Marco Polo by automobile, have been disclosed by the National Geographic Society in announcing that it would co-operate by sending eight caterpillar cars on a 5000-mile tour of least-known Asia, from Beirut, Syria, to Peiping, China, and return on an 8000-mile Southern route.

Experts in a dozen scientific fields will be on the staff to make technical studies.

Except for a geographical society representative, the party of 35 will be entirely French. The expedition's patron is Andre Citroen, motor manufacturer, who supported Haardt's African tour and the first crossing of the Sahara Desert in automobiles. The trans-Asiatic expedition will take the field in March.

Edsel Ford's Yacht Launched.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 21.—The Onika, the 125-foot yacht built for Edsel Ford, was launched yesterday. The vessel, with a pair of 275-horsepower Diesel engines, will be used in Florida waters this winter by Ford.

To Stabilize Spanish Peseta.

By the Associated Press.

BASEL, Switzerland, Nov. 21.—Pierre Quesnay, general manager of the Bank of International Settlements, announces that stabilization of the Spanish peseta will be accomplished as soon as the Cortes meets in Madrid after the forthcoming elections. Quesnay said all the financial arrangements necessary to that end have been made and that the rate of stabilization would be between 38 and 40 pesetas to the pound. This would make the peseta between 12.1 and 12.7 cents.

Missouri Girl's Lucky Day

FIVE candles! And each one represents a year of joyous living. Little Peggy Jostedt, of 3815 Ashland Ave., St. Louis, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"My mother used California Fig Syrup with me, and when Peggy was a baby we decided to get some for her. It relieved her constipation immediately, sweetened her breath, made her bright and happy again.

"I have also used Fig Syrup for all her colds and upsets. It has kept her strong and vigorous."

For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headachy, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear in colds, or children's ailments; or whenever unpleasant breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All druggists.

CRIME BOARD TO MAKE STUDY OF EXTORTION

Merchants of Large Cities to Be Questioned About Their Experiences.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Details of their experiences with extortionists are to be sought from the merchants of the nation's largest cities by the National Crime Commission.

J. Weston Allen, chairman of the commission, has written to District Attorney Crain of New York offering to co-operate by a secret poll. The commission is a private organization, which has many public officials as members.

Forty promiment citizens met Crain behind closed doors and promised to meet again Tuesday to form a permanent committee. Crain said concrete suggestions had been offered and a definite course of action had been agreed on.

In a preliminary address, Crain said to the group:

"Your task is the destruction of racketeer rule. Such rule is a present evil and a growing evil. It is the domination of organized lawlessness over legitimate business."

Federal Government Trying to Break Up Chicago Gangs.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A campaign by the Federal Government to break up the activities of Chicago gangsters was made known by Attorney-General Mitchell yesterday.

Federal agents, sent from Washington, have been active in Chicago since early summer, the Attorney-General said, and recently there has been a "fortifying" of these forces in an effort to apply Federal laws against the underworld characters there.

"We intend to keep going indefinitely, or at least until our aid is no longer needed," Mitchell said.

Exactly how large a concentration of Government agents is intended in that area Mitchell would not say, but he made clear that one high agent of the Department of Justice has been sent to act as an assistant to the United States District Attorney in Chicago, coordinating various Federal activities.

In addition, he said, the Narcotics Bureau and the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the Treasury Department, together with the immigration authorities of the Labor Department, were joining in the campaign. He added that Assistant Attorney-General Youngquist, in charge of prohibition, had "more than one" agent in the Chicago district.

Mitchell said the activity in Chicago was "only one of our numerous efforts," but added that "the gradual strengthening of forces there" already had brought some fruit.

He mentioned the case of a gangster convicted recently of violating the Federal revenue act after evidence had been uncovered by the joint efforts of the Justice Department and the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The Attorney-General reiterated that he personally knew of no complaint from California grape growers and shippers against the activities of gangsters in levying tribute on their product. He said he recalled the case of a Chicago dealer who had complained "about racketeers interfering with his shipments," but added that this was dropped after an inquiry had been started by the Justice Department.

EARLE P. CHARLTON, PIONEER 10-CENT STORE MAN, DIES

He Was Vice President of F. W. Woolworth Co. and Director of New Haven Railroad.

By the Associated Press.

WESTPORT HARBOR, Mass., Nov. 21.—Earle Perry Charlton, vice president of the F. W. Woolworth Co. and a member of the board of directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, died here last night. He had been operated on at Palm Beach, Fla., last February. He was 67 years old.

Charlton was one of the pioneer 5 and 10 cent store merchants in this country, starting his career at the age of 17, at a salary of $7 a week, working for Thomas C. Newell of Boston, wholesale 5 and 10 cent store merchant. Later he opened up a chain of 5 and 10 cent stores, 54 in number, 19 of them being in New England and the remainder on the Pacific Coast, where he was the first to introduce the low cost stores.

In 1912 the Charlton stores were combined with the F. W. Woolworth stores and he became vice president of the new company.

MANUFACTURERS' LINE PAYS $607 MUNICIPAL BRIDGE TOLLS

Makes Report for October, First Full Month of Operation Over Span.

Revenue from the Manufacturers' Railway in October, the first full month of its operation over the Municipal Bridge by means of the new Southern rail approach, amounted to $607 in bridge tolls paid the city, the road has reported to Comptroller Nolte. This covers the movement of 435 loaded freight cars at $1 each and 86 locomotive crossings at $2 each. An adjustment for empty freight cars at 50 cents each will be made every six months.

The Alton & Southern, the only other railroad as yet using the bridge, has not reported. Plans are under way for additional approaches to make the bridge available for the Terminal Railroad and the Missouri Pacific Railroad later may start using the structure.

ANTI-FORGERY DEVICE INVENTOR SENTENCED

Gets 20 Years to Life Under Baumes Law for Issuing Bogus Checks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Howard B. Reese, 40 years old, an expert accountant and inventor of a machine which he said would prevent check forgeries, was sentenced by General Sessions Judge Mulqueen yesterday to serve 20 years to life in prison as a fourth offender under the Baumes law. His convictions, all four, have been on forgery charges.

His machine, apparently, was devised less with the aim of making forgeries impossible than of passing the long days of a prison term he served in 1924 in Portland, Ore. A few financiers and bankers became intrested in the contraption and offered to finance its manufacture but it never reached the market and the inventor slipped back into his old ways.

His undoing came a few months ago when, it is charged, after obtaining work in the office of the North American Creameries Co. of Boston, he stole six blank checks and altered the books so that they covered up the removal of $10,000. Two of these he made out for $5000 each, it is alleged, forging the name of William J. Cawthorne, manager of the company. He opened two accounts at the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Co. here, where he said he was New York manager for the creameries firm. One account was in his own name and the other in that of the company. He then deposited three more checks to the amount of $2200 on Illinois banks, it is charged, and drew against both accounts. When the original checks got back to Boston, they were identified as forgeries and Reese was arrested.

He pleaded guilty of third degree forgery, in the hope that his previous convictions in other states might not become known, but the probation bureau learned he had served time in Spokane, Wash., in 1922 and Canon City, Colo., in 1921, in addition to his term in Portland. If he is released from prison he is wanted in Kane, Ill., and Oswego, N. Y., where he is charged with forgery.

Reese was born in Springfield, Ill., the son of a school teacher.

Jimmy Hussey, Actor, Dies.

By the Associated Press.

NORTH BERGEN, N. J., Nov. 21.—Jimmy Hussey, 39 years old, who portrayed Jewish parts in vaudeville, died yesterday of pneumonia. His wife and Ed Hickey, Hussey's former partner, were at the bedside. Hussey was born in Chicago and will be buried there. He made his stage debut by singing choruses from the gallery. In "The Little Outcast" he had his real tryout at $12 a week. He was later featured with Elsie Janis in "Puzzles of 1925" and had a leading part in Florenz Ziegfeld's "Betsy." His best remembered vaudeville act was called "The Police Station."

When You OVER—INDULGE

EVERY man, woman and child will occasionally over-indulge. But don't suffer for your indiscretions. It's folly to do so when you can so easily sweeten and settle a sour, upset stomach with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Hearty eaters have long since learned the quick comfort this perfect anti-acid brings. Smokers know how it neutralizes nicotine; brings back a sweet taste; guards the breath. Women know what it does for nausea—or sick headache. And when children have over-eaten—are bilious, constipated or otherwise upset—give them a little of the same, pleasant-tasting and milky-white Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

You'll be through with crude methods once you learn the perfect way. Nothing else has the same quick, gentle effect. Doctors prescribe it for sour stomach, indigestion, heartburn, gas, nausea, headache. It has been standard with them for over 50 years.

Insist on genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; a less perfect product may not act the same. The genuine is always a liquid—never in tablet form—and the name Phillips is always on bottle and wrapper.

HOMESTEAD BUILDING & LOAN RECEIVER NAMED BY COURT

G. W. Wagner, State Supervisor of Organizations, Appointed on Petition of Stockholder.

George W. Wagner, State Supervisor of Building and Loan Associations, was appointed receiver of the Homestead Building & Loan Association, 101 North Ninth street, by Circuit Judge Hogan yesterday.

The appointment was made on petition of Mrs. Matilda Musler, whose son, Eugene Musler, was a former director of the company.

The evidence showed that Mrs. Musler owns certificates of stock with a face value of $6000, on which she has paid approximately $4700. She alleged that the concern ceased writing new business and has not complied with her notice to refund the amount of her investment.

According to testimony of Wagner, who instituted a receivership action after the filing of Mrs. Musler's petition, the company has assets valued at $433,000. He said that last August he found its affairs were not in a satisfactory condition and pending readjustment, he directed that no more stock be issued. He informed the Court it may be possible to work out a settlement so that it will not be necessary to liquidate the business. Former Appellate Judge Charles H. Daues and William S. Connor were appointed as counsel for the receiver.

Robert C. Powell, an attorney, is president of the association. It was indicated the company is solvent but it carried notes totaling $8000 as assets to which the Building and Loan Supervisor had objected. Dr. Carroll Smith, with offices in the Humboldt Building, was mentioned in Mrs. Musler's suit as a member of the board of directors. In a communication to the Post-Dispatch, he said he has not been a director for more than a year and a half.

CITY FILES BRIEFS IN SUIT OVER OLD COURTHOUSE SITE

Replies to Contention of Chouteau-Lucas Heirs That Property Should Revert to Them.

OFFERED IN SUPPORT OF ITS DEMURRERS

Argues That if Donors Had Intended to Reclaim, They Would Have Been Specific.

Briefs of the city in support of its demurrers against four suits filed by heirs of Auguste Chouteau and John B. C. Lucas, St. Louis pioneers, claiming the site of the old Courthouse at Broadway and Market street, have been submitted to Circuit Judges Pearcy and Hogan.

One of the cases, which has been argued, is before Judge Pearcy, while the other three are pending in Judge Hogan's court. All involve the same issues and law points and in the end probably will be consolidated. The briefs were signed by City Counselor Julius T. Muench and Richard S. Bull as Associate City Counselor.

The Chouteau-Lucas heirs allege that the city in vacating the Courthouse as such abandoned title to the site; consequently the property, with an estimated value in excess of $600,000, should revert to them. A clause in the deed executed by the donors in 1823, and recorded two years later, provided that the ground given, comprising the city block bounded by Broadway, Market, Fourth and Chestnut streets, "shall be used and appropriated forever as the site on which the Courthouse of St. Louis County (the city was then part of the county) shall be erected." Counsel for the heirs contend that the word forever means for all time and hence the city in creating the Courthouse at the new Civil Courts Building on Twelfth boulevard forfeited its right to the old site.

Used for Courthouse 97 Years.

Another point suggested by counsel for the petitioners is that it may be assumed the original donors owned property in the vicinity of the courthouse site which they expected would be benefited; therefore, their clients stand in a favored position to claim a breach on the theory that the devotion of the property to the use prescribed constituted a part of the consideration of the grant.

However, the city contends that forfeiture based on such failure will not be decreed where the consideration has been satisfied by the use of property as prescribed for a long period. In this instance, the briefs point out, the site was used for a courthouse for 97 years, which may be deemed sufficient time in which benefits to surrounding property could be derived.

Several court decisions and legal authorities are cited by the legal department showing why, from the viewpoint of the defense, there has been no forfeiture. It is argued that even if a limitation or condition was created in the deed, substantial compliance with its terms has been fulfilled in view of the fact that the site has been used for a courthouse since 1833, when a temporary court building was completed.

"No Condition Remained."

The city further argues that the deed in question shows no intention on the part of donors that the land should be forfeited upon cessation of its use for Courthouse purposes. "When we see, as we have seen here," the briefs set forth, "that there is no expression of an intent to limit or defeat the title granted, then it appears almost conclusively the intention was to give an indefeasible title. When we consider further that the intent of the Legislature and the authority it granted were for the selection of a site whereon to erect a Courthouse and for the receipt of proposals from Persons 'willing to make a donation of land for the purpose aforesaid," that the grant was made and accepted under a provision the ground conveyed should be used and appropriated forever as the site for the Courthouse, and, lastly, that the Courthouse was erected thereon, then we can but conclude the purposes of the grant were complied with and no condition remained which ever would entitle the donors or their heirs to claim the property."

Answering the contention that the gift was intended to be a determinable or qualified one, the city asserts that if the donors so intended it would have been easy for them to have inserted in the deed "for so long as used for a Courthouse" and to have specified it was to revert upon a cessation of such use. The failure of the donors, the city argues, to use these expressions, but their use instead of the simple provision that the land was given to be used forever as the site on which the Courthouse shall be erected, is decisive of the question of their intention.

Attention is called that the donation was a public gift and in the case of such gifts it is but natural for the donor to express the purpose. However, such expression is

LEGAL HORSE RACING IN MISSOURI URGED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—The legalizing of the pari-mutuel system of wagering under proper supervision and the imposition of a daily license fee for horse racing at St. Louis and Kansas City was advocated yesterday to the Missouri Agricultural and Livestock Commission, which held a hearing at Hotel Baltimore.

The hearing was held with the Missouri Association of County Fairs. The commission was appointed by the 1929 Legislature to study ways and means of raising revenue to support county fairs, the State Fair, 4-H Club work, the teaching of vocational agriculture and the State Agricultural College. It has held other hearings at Kansas City, St. Louis and Sedalia.

At a luncheon attended by 70 members of the County Fair Association and Kansas City business men, Ben G. Brinkman, president of the National Exhibition Co., St. Louis, urged the pari-mutuel system and the State license.

"Ten years ago 50 or 60 county fairs were held in Missouri," Brinkman said. "That number has dwindled to fewer than 20.

"Every successful fair and livestock show in Missouri is a contributing power toward the success of the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City and the National Dairy show in St. Louis.

"The Missouri Association of County Fairs has recommended to the State commission the enactment of legislation that would legalize the pari-mutuel system at properly supervised licensed race tracks in Kansas City and St. Louis. I am here to assure you that St. Louis business men stand squarely behind your recommendation."

CENSUS WORKER SHOT DEAD

Murdered or Committed Suicide After Drinking Party.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Aarvi Nurmi, 26-year-old census worker, was found dead near his home in Takoma Park, Md., a suburb of the capital, after a party there Wednesday night. He was shot through the head. Police have been told he often had mentioned suicide. The Coroner's verdict was he could not have fired the fatal shot, however.

Two of his companions, Henry W. McGuire, 29, and John J. O'Brien, 26, who police say had been drinking with him, are being held for questioning. They told police that shortly after they went to Nurmi's home Wednesday he disappeared. When they next saw him, they said, his body was sprawled in a driveway under a second-floor window and they thought he had fallen to his death. He was reported to be a second cousin of the famous Finnish runner, Paavo Nurmi.

CITY FILES BRIEF IN SUITS OVER OLD COURTHOUSE SITE

not to be considered of itself as imposing a limitation or condition that will work a forfeiture for noncompliance or cessation of the use expressed, the city points out.

A resume of the history of the early courts in this city is contained in the briefs. It appears the first Courthouse was a one-story frame structure on the west side of Third street near Spruce street, which was constructed about 1817. Two removals followed shortly, the last being to a building on the southwest corner of Third and Market streets, where the courts and records remained until 1827. In the meantime, in 1822 the Legislature had passed an act for a new Courthouse, which was followed by the offer of Chouteau and Lucas. A temporary building was used until 1839, when work was started on the permanent structure, which was completed in 1862 at a cost of $1,199,871, records show.

The Circuit Courts and Probate Court moved out of the historic old structure last June. Its only present tenants are two Justices of the Peace, occupying quarters on the main floor, and the City Art League, which is using the rotunda and the second floor balcony walls for a display of pictures.

U. S. JEWISH COMMITTEE

Appointed as Result of Felix M. Warburg's Resignation.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Appointment of a provisional committee of four to act on behalf of the American members of the Jewish Agency for Palestine was announced yesterday by Dr. Cyrus Adler, joint chairman of the council of the Jewish Agency.

The provisional committee has been created as a result of Felix M. Warburg's resignation as chairman of the Administrative Committee of the Jewish Agency in protest against the White Paper issued by the British Government last Oct. 31 restricting Jewish immigration and land purchase in Palestine. Dr. Adler is to be chairman of the provisional committee and the other members named are Bernard Flexner, Morris Rothenberg and Robert Szold.

Woman Missing Since Tuesday.

HOW TO SLICE ORANGES

Sliced oranges sweetened with a little strained honey make a fine change in the fruit line for breakfast.

There is nothing new about slicing oranges, but seasoning them with honey gives the little difference in flavor that makes them seem new.

The best way to slice oranges is this: Peel the fruit with a sharp knife, removing all the white skin down to the pulp. Then place the peeled orange upright and slice down from the stem to the blossom end. In this way the core is left intact and only the pulp is sliced.

COLD ROAST TURKEY MAKES PARTY DISHES

Second-Day Dishes Suggested to Use Up the Leftovers From the Feast.

After Thanksgiving day is over and quantities of roast turkey or perhaps just small amounts are left, instead of the proverbial turkey hash, have either turkey mousse or mold slices of cold roast turkey alternately with vegetables into a tasty jellied turkey and vegetable salad.

Jellied Turkey.

For a service for six use one cup cold roast turkey sliced, one cup cooked vegetables such as cooked peas, string beans, carrots, one pimento or a green pepper, one level tablespoon gelatine, one-fourth cup cold water, one and one-half cups hot turkey stock or soup and one-fourth teaspoon salt.

Soak gelatine in cold water about five minutes and dissolve in hot soup or turkey stock. Add salt and stir thoroughly.

Allow mixture to cool and when starting to congeal pour a thin layer of the jelly in a loaf pan which has been rinsed in cold water.

Arrange layer of vegetables on jelly, then a layer of sliced turkey, some of the jelly and continue in such order until the loaf pan is filled. Place filled loaf pan in refrigerator to chill.

When mold is firm serve by unmolding and arranging lettuce leaves and slices of tomato around loaf as a garnish.

Turkey Mousse.

This is a real party dish made from leftover fowl. For six servings use one cup cold roast turkey, one-half cup almonds, one cup whipped cream, one level tablespoon gelatine, one-fourth cup cold water, one cup hot turkey stock, three egg yolks, one-half teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon paprika.

Soak gelatine in cold water about five minutes. Beat yolks of eggs slightly in top of double boiler. Add salt, paprika and other seasoning, if desired, to egg yolks. Add turkey stock slowly (turkey stock can be made by cooking turkey bones in water) and stirr mixture constantly. Cook custard over boiling water and when mixture begins to thicken remove from fire. Add soaked gelatin and stir.

Allow custard to cool slightly and then add cold roast turkey which has been cut in fine, small pieces and the almonds which have been also finely cut. Allow mixture to cool and stir many times while cooling. When mixture is cold and begins to thicken fold in whipped cream.

Rinse large mold in cold water and fill with mousse. Place filled mold in refrigerator and chill thoroughly for several hours. To serve unmold on platter and garnish with lettuce, slices of tomato and stuffed olives.

COOKING SMALL BIRDS FOR HOME SERVICE

This Type of Poultry Must Be Prepared and Cooked Very Carefully.

Small birds, such as guinea fowl, partridge, pheasants, quail, etc., may be roasted if desired.

To roast such poultry first clean, draw and truss them. Then lard with strips of bacon or salt pork, and place in the oven. Turn so as to brown all sides; also baste every 15 minutes with the water that has been poured into the roasting pan. Continue the roasting until the flesh is soft and the joints can be easily pulled apart. Serve with gravy, if desired.

Panned Squabs.

If the squabs are of the jumbo variety, allow half for each service, otherwise allow one small bird. Have them prepared as you would young broiling chickens. Wipe off with a damp cloth, lay in a shallow dripping pan and brush over with melted pork fat. Pour a little boiling water into the pan, add a tablespoon of hot fat and two tablespoons of tart fruit jelly.

Roast in a very hot oven, basting frequently, and dust with a little salt after they have roasted for 10 minutes. See that they are well browned, but do not overcook—20 to 25 minutes should be ample.

Have ready hot toast slices, dip them in the gravy in the pan, spread with a paste made from the chopped cooked giblets mixed with mushroom or walnut catsup and arrange the cooked squabs on them. Garnish with cress.

Squabs En Casserole.

Use small birds, allowing one for each person and stuff with cooked rice that has been boiled with a bit of bay leaf and highly seasoned with onion juice, poultry seasoning, celery salt, salt and paprika.

Truss the pigeons, rub over with salad oil, dust with salt and brown in a quick oven. Transfer to a large casserole, add brown seasoned stock to half fill and cover the casserole. Simmer in a moderate oven until the birds are nearly tender, add a small cup each of tiny peeled onions and halved mushroom caps that have been sauted in a little butter and continue cooking until done.

Thicken the gravy with browned flour, add a tablespoon of chopped parsley and garnish with toast points.

SERVE CHEESE WITH SALAD OR AT DESSERT TIME

Time of Serving Depends, Largely, On Type of Foods Served.

The practice of serving cheese with the salad course or at the end of a dinner or luncheon is followed in many private homes.

When served with the salad, the cheese is generally made up into such combinations as cheese sticks, cheese balls or cheese wafers.

When served at the end of a meal it may follow a sweet course or take the place of a dessert. This is especially appropriate when fruit or other sweet salad has been served. Plain cheese should be cut into cubes of uniform size and served on a plate spread with a linen doily. A cheese fork should be placed on the plate.

Unsweetened wafers or crackers should be served with it, either on a separate plate or at one side of the cheese plate. A special cheese plate, with a section for the cheese and another for wafers may be used. Small plates are set before each guest for this course.

Salmon Sandwiches.

Remove all skin and bones and flake salmon very fine. Drain off all liquid from chili sauce. Mix salmon and chili sauce, allowing one-half cup chili to one cup salmon. Moisten thoroughly with salad dressing and spread between buttered slices of bread.

MAKE PUMPKIN PIE THANKSGIVING DAY

This Delicacy Always Featured at the National Feast Day Dinners.

Automobile tours through the nieghboring countryside impress the traveler with the idea of the popularity of pumpkin pie for pumpkins seem to be the biggest fall crop. Every cornfield has countless numbers of big yellow pumpkins strewn between the rows of dead corn stalks.

Pie is the inevitable end of all these pumpkins as far as anybody knows. Old and young enjoy a cut of rich pumpkin pie, which is readily made if a dependable recipe is used.

Pumpkin Pie Filling.

Make a flaky pie crust and line the pie shell. For the filling use one and one-halt cups cooked and strained pumpkin, two-thirds cup brown sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, two eggs, slightly beaten, one-half teaspoon ginger and two cups milk.

Mix ingredients in order given, pour into the uncooked crust and bake in a hot oven 10 minutes, and then reduce the heat to moderate and continue to bake until firm which will take about an hour's time.

Pineapple pumpkin pie may be added to the menu this Thanksgiving as the recipe for it has been added to the cookbook this year.

Pineapple Pumpkin Pie.

Make a flaky crust and line the pie plate. Then fill the prepared crust with a filling made with one cup sugar, one cup drained crushed pineapple, one cup cooked and strained pumpkin, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two eggs and one cup milk.

Mix sugar, pineapple and pumpkin with spices and salt. All slightly beaten eggs and milk; mix well. Turn into well lined pie plate and bake in moderate oven one hour and 15 minutes.

Chocolate Coated Almonds.

Select nuts that are plump at the ends. Use them without blanching. Brush to remove the dust. Dip one at a time into prepared, melted chocolate; push the nuts under with a fork, then drop onto waxed paper, a marble slab, or oilcloth. In removing the fork, make a design on the top of each nut. These are easily prepared and are particularly good.

FAVORITE FOOD GARNISH

Parsley Adds to Appearance and Food Value of Dishes.

The green of parsley as a garnish makes it especially useful in the cold weather, when that color is perhaps more appreciated.

Parsley will keep green and fresh if it is washed, put in a glass jar with about one-quarter inch of water in the bottom, covered and put in a cool place—preferably the refrigerator. Keep it from freezing.

Clip off the stems if they seem in danger of getting soft.

Parsley has value in the food list for its exceptionally large amount of iron, so try to use it as a garnish that will be eaten — that is minced and sprinkled on food instead of merely stuck on.

Nuts and Sweet Potatoes.

Sweet potato croquettes are delicious made from cold baked potatoes, especially if a little shredded coacoanut or one-half cup chopped nuts is added to the mixture before shaping into croquettes.

Cabbage Salad.

Shred a small head of new cabbage and mix with a sour cream or French dressing. The former is most delicious and is made by mixing one-half cup thick sour cream with one tablespoon vinegar, one or two teaspoons sugar and one-half teaspoon prepared mustard.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Substantial Foods Which Will Add to the Pleasure of Family Mealtime.

Chicken makes the main course for Sunday dinner, and roasted and served with a well flavored stuffing, it seldom fails to meet with approval. Sometimes it is advisable to buy a stewing chicken instead of the younger fowl. as they are less expensive per pound, and generally heavier—that is there is more meat in proportion to the bone.

Have the bird cleaned, but not cut up. Stuff as for roasting, put in a large saucepan with about three inches of boiling water in the pan, and cook very slowly for one hour. Add an onion, a tablespoon salt and continue cooking for another hour, or until the chicken is tender. Lift carefully to a roasting pan and brown quickly in a hot oven. The broth in the saucepan is used in part to make a milk gravy to serve with the chicken, and the rest used for the pie that makes Monday night's dinner.

Chicken and Vegetable Pie.

Remains for roast chicken may be used for this. Remove the meat from the bones. Put the bones in a saucepan with a sliced onion and three cups of water. Bail gently for one and one-half hours or until the liquid is reduced to one and one-half cups. Strain and season with salt and pepper. Melt two tablespoons of butter, add four tablespoons flour and then stir in the chicken stock and one cup of milk. Continue stirring until slightly thickened, then add the chicken, one cup canned or fresh cooked peas, one-half cup canned corn, six or eight very small boiled onions and one tablespoon minced parsley. Pour into a baking dish, cover with a good pastry crust and bake 40 minutes at 375 degrees.

Spanish Rice.

Wash one cup of rice and drain thoroughly. Melt one-quarter cup butter or meat drippings in a heavy frying pan, add two sliced onions to the rice and cook until both are deep yellow, but not scorched. Stir frequently while cooking. Then add two cups canned tomatoes, one-half shredder green pepper, one teaspoon salt and one-quarter teaspoon celery seed. Cover and cook slowly until the liquid has been absorbed, then stir in one cup boiling water or meat gravy and continue cooking until the rice is tender and quite dry. This will take about 40 minutes. Serve hot with grated cheese.

Lima Bean Soup.

Put two cups of canned lima beans in a saucepan with one cup boiling water, one small onion and a handful of celery leaves. Boil slowly for 20 minutes and then rub through a coarse strainer, saving all the liquid. Add two cups of milk to the vegetable pulp and juice, two tablespoons butter and thicken with two tablespoons flour, rubbed to a smooth paste with a little cold water. Reheat to the boiling point and serve very hot. Sprinkle each serving with mixed parsley and serve with croutons.

Frankfurters With Noodles.

Boil one package of noodles until tender or for about 15 minutes, then drain. Melt four tablespoons butter or any desired fat, add one medium-sized minced onion, one-quarter cup diced celery and six frankfurters cut in small pieces. Cover and cook for five minutes, then add three tablespoons flour and, when mixed, stir in two cups canned tomatoes, salt and pepper to season, and two tablespoons chopped parsley. Mix this sauce with the noodles and serve very hot.

SERVE CIDER COCKTAILS AT THE FEAST DAY MEAL

Suitable for Any and All Occasions But Particularly the National Holiday.

Cider is a beverage which is particularly dedicated to Thanksgiving day.

The product makes dainty mixed and fancy drinks, several recipes for which follow.

After the turkey dinner or the informal supper, a cider cocktail meets with a joyous welcome. Made as follows, this cheering drink can accomplish a social triumph. Squeeze the juice of one lemon and two oranges over one and a half cups of granulated sugar and add a quart of tart apple cider.

Cider Punch.

Take two cups grapefruit juice, one and one-half cups sweet cider, two cups water and one-half cup sugar. Mix and serve in cocktail glasses filled with cracked ice. Garnish with a half ring of red apple. This punch is also nice for serving from a punch bowl filled with cracked ice.

Equally delightful is grape juice, fragrant and delicious. Its rich purple red adds a gleaming bit of color to the meal. Its fresh fruity aroma promises nectar in every sip. Combined with giner ale, it is one of the smartest as well as the most inspiring of drinks.

A Seafood Plate.

One of the simplest, quickest and most attractive plates. Lay asparagus tips on plate, put canned salmon over and around, with several small red egg tomatoes embedded. Top with a salad dressing and chopped hard boiled egg if desired. Serve on crisp lettuce.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE

Variety in the Food Supply Is Possible at All Seasons of the Year.

With Thanksgiving, that great American feast day, so close at hand, most housewives are already looking ahead and planning the details of the family dinner. Because of this we are publishing a Thanksgiving menu this week that will enable home cooks to buy some things ahead and plan out a scheme of work that will not make the day too burdensome.

With this week's regular meals, it has seemed wise to take into consideration the necessity for watching the family food allowance—also in preparation for the much larger expenditures that holiday feasting entails—and keeping the meal plan as economical as is consistent with good variety, flavor and appearance.

Eggs are increasing in price, so we have used them every other morning, alternating with bacon, sausage, French toast. Oranges, grapefruit, grapejuice, either home canned or one of the standard commercial varieties, apples, canned pineapple juice and dates make up the breakfast fruit list at a comparatively low cost.

The fresh vegetable supply is not as varied a one as that enjoyed during the last few months, but there is the whole group of canned vegetable to choose from, so this important class of food need not be limited to a few kinds.

Sliced or diced beets, lima beans for the cream soup used at noon on Monday, peas for the chicken pie, tomatoes for the Spanish rice, corn, etc., are suggested in canned foods, as they can be had in all localities; fresh celery is one of our fall vegetables, squash of the hubbard variety is inexpensive and at its best now, yellow turnips, cauliflower, string beans, cabbage in white and red varieties, sweet potatoes, spinach—all these are used in this week's meals to supply the necessary vitamins and minerals that are found so largely in such food products.

Simple Sweets.

Jelly roll cut in rather thick slices and served with a spoonful of whipped cream is a favorite dessert in one of our city's most popular group of tearooms. Made at home with raspberry jelly for filling, it will add to the family cook's prestige, too. Use the recipe for fruit roll, spread with a generous layer of raspberry jelly and roll up. Cut down in inch thick slices and garnish with whipped, sweetened cream.

Winter pears, cut in quarters and the seeds removed, then stewed with a thin slice of lemon and three or four whole cloves make a fine luncheon dessert. Peel the pears if desired, and when nearly tender add granulated, brown or maple sugar to taste, then finish cooking. This sugar will give a distinctive flavor to the fruit.

A vegetable dinner is planned for Wednesday with stuffed hubbard squash as the main dish. Cut the squash in half—use a small one for a family of three or four—remove the seeds and a good part of the pulp. Cut the pulp in dice and boil for 25 minutes or until tender. Mash and mix with one cup boiled rice, one cup canned whole kernel corn, one beaten egg, three tablespoons fine bread crumbs, one-fourth cup melted butter, one tablespoon minced onion and salt and pepper to season. Stuff into the halves of squash shells, place in a baking pan and bake one hour at 350 to 375 degrees. Serve from the shells.

RAISIN PRUNE CANDY

A Nutritious Homemade Confection for the Children.

For raisin prune candy use two cups sugar, one-half cup corn syrup, one cup evaporated milk, one-half cup butter, three-fourths cup marshmallow creme, one-half cup fondant, one cup prunes, one cup seedless raisins, one cup cocoanut and two teaspoons vanilla.

Boil prunes 10 minutes, drain, remove pits and cut fine. Boil sugar, corn syrup, milk and butter together to 240 degrees F. (soft ball when tested in cold water). Stir constantly.

Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat in the marshmallow creme, then the fondant. Add prunes, raisins, cocoanut and mix thoroughly.

Pour into greased pan and allow to set. Cut in squares.

Cauliflower au Gratan.

Cauliflower is broken in large pieces before it is boiled, and then cooked for about 20 minutes. Put the pieces in a baking dish and sprinkle them with grated cheese. Then sprinkle the dish with fine bread crumbs and small pieces of butter. Pour over the whole a sauce made from two beaten egg yolks to which are added a saltspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a little pepper. Brown in the oven.

SWEET CIDER CREAM PIE

Mix three-fourths of a cup of sugar with one-half teaspoonful of ground cinnamon or nutmeg and six tablespoonfuls of arrowroot until the whole is thoroughly blended.

Put on to heat one pine of sweet cider, and when hot, but not boiling add the sugar mixture, all at once, and stir vigorously until the whole is very thick. Remove from fire; add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and pour into a pie plate, lined with a thin, light crust.

Arrange strips of pastry, basket-wise, over the top and let bake until the crust is brown. Or the pie may be left open-faced and covered with a meringue after baking. Do not serve until cold.

ROAST TURKEY WITH PINEAPPLE

Dress, clean and stuff turkey with any desired stuffing. Roast as usual, allowing 20 minutes to the pound and 20 minutes extra, starting the turkey in a hot oven, then reducing the heat and continuing until tender. If an uncovered roaster is used, baste often. Remove to a large platter. Pour some of the drippings into a skillet and in it saute DOLE 1 Pineapple Slices until a golden brown on both sides. Arrange these all around the turkey and in the center of each slice put a good-sized spoonful of cranberry jelly. Garnish platter with plenty of parsley, radish roses and celery curls. Put frills on the bird's legs and bind in place with strings of cranberries. Place one nicely browned slice of pineapple on the breast, stick a radish rose in the center, and tie a string of cranberries around the outside of the slice.

Doesn't seem possible that anything could add to the flavor of a Thanksgiving turkey! And yet, just glance at this vainglorious gobbler. Tender to a turn, gleaming brown from constant basting though he is, he's attained untold glory by surrounding his savory self with delicately browned DOLE 1 Slices of sun-ripened Hawaiian Pineapple. Um . . . m . . m!

Ordinarily of course, DOLE 2 Slices would be used when the pineapple is to be cooked. But on a special occasion such as Thanksgiving, you'll want lovely DOLE 1 Slices—the finest that nature and skill can produce.

Well, many a woman today is thankful she can choose just the grade of pineapple suitable for her Thanksgiving turkey. Of course, it's possible—haven't you heard? What's more it's possible to choose just the grade best suited to whatever dish you are preparing. For since nature gives different grades to pineapple, James D. Dole passes them on to you—clearly marked—to help you in menu matters. He does this by stamping the name DOLE and beneath it the grade number 1, or 2, or 3 right in the top of the can!

So look for the modern grade-mark, DOLE 1, DOLE 2, or DOLE 3 next time you buy pineapple. (But naturally you'll want to—it's such a convenience to use the grade best suited to your recipe.)

TRIM PLAIN CAKE WITH COFFEE FROSTING

This Type of Pastry Offers Many Advantages for Dressing-Up Purposes.

The plain cake is the basis of most cake desserts. One advantage of plain cake is that it keeps fresh a comparatively long time.

Another is this type of cake may be enhanced and made more attractive by dressing it up with frostings, icings and other dainty cake accessories.

For instance, coffee filling and coffee icing make an intriguing pastry out of a plain cake.

Plain Cake Recipe.

One-half cup shortening, one and one-half cups sugar, two eggs, one cup milk or water, three cups pastry flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and one teaspoon flavoring.

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and cream again. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add milk or water; cut and fold in sifted dry ingredients. Add flavoring. Bake in layers in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes. When cold, put together with coffee filling and ice with coffee boiled icing.

Coffee Filling.

Ingredients needed are three-fourths cup milk, one-fourth cup strong coffee infusion, one-half cup sugar, three tablespoons flour, two egg yolks, one-half teaspoon vanilla and one-eighth teaspoon salt.

Scald milk and coffee in double boiler. Add sugar, flour and salt, which have been sifted together; mix well. Cover and cook 20 minutes. Add slightly beaten egg yolks and cook one minute longer. Remove from stove and add vanilla; cool.

Coffee Boiled Icing.

Take one and one-third cups sugar, one-half cup coffee infusion, two egg whites, one-sixteenth teaspoon cream of tartar and one teaspoon vanilla.

Stir sugar, coffee and cream of tartar until dissolved; then bring to boiling point—never stir while boiling. When bubbles look waxy, test by dropping from a spoon. Syrup should spin a very long thread. Add slowly to stiffly beaten egg whites, beating until mixture holds its shape; add vanilla.

Worth Remembering.

Beef fat may be used in recipes calling for lard, in many sauces that call for butter and in deep fat frying. Pork, bacon and ham fat may be used in cooking eggs, frying potatoes and mush, baking beans and peas and seasoning vegetables. Lamb fat may be used with some of the softer fats and used as they are used.

DAINTY SANDWICHES FOR LIGHT MEALS

Some Delicious Surprises for the Informal Supper or Luncheon.

In most families the feast day dinner is served either in the middle of the day, say at 1 p. m., or in late afternoon at 5 or 6 o'clock. In either case there is a demand for another meal

Lunch or supper meets the demand. Lunch when the festive meal is served late or supper when the meal is served at noontime.

Assorted sandwiches are suitable for either occasion. The appended recipes are for dainty sweet tidbits and for heavier sandwiches which many persons prefer to the sweet type.

Date and Nut Sandwiches.

Remove stones from dates and put through food chopper with an equal quantity of walnuts. Moisten well with salad dressing and spread between buttered slices of bread.

Ginger Sandwiches.

Chop equal parts of raisins and walnuts. Add finely chopped crystallized ginger in the proportion of one tablespoon to one-fourth cup walnuts and one-fourth cup raisins. Moisten with salad dressing and spread between buttered slices of bread.

Egg Sandwiches.

Chop hard boiled eggs, season with salt and paprika and moisten with salad dressing. Place crisp leaves of lettuce on buttered slices of bread and spread with the egg mixture. Cover with buttered slices of bread.

Egg and Olive Sandwiches.

Chop hard boiled eggs and stuffed olives, allowing six olives to one egg. Mix with salad dressing and spread between buttered slices of bread.

DAINTY ICY COLD DESERTS FOR UNUSUAL OCCASIONS

Ices and Frozen Creams Always in Good Form for the Dessert Course.

Icy cold sweets are always acceptable as the dessert course. Custom sanctions the use of attractive settings and dainty accessories for the ice cold dish. In line with this thought the following suggestions are submitted:

Ice Cream Cake.

On each serving plate place one slice of cake, spread with ice cream, cover with another slice of cake, pour chocolate sauce over this and garnish with pecans.

Chocolate Meringue Glace.

On each serving plate place a ball of chocolate ice cream between two small meringues. Put whipped cream on top or around and garnish with a marron or with a candied cherry.

Macaroon Cream.

LOOKING AHEAD TO THANKSGIVING DAY

Traditional Dishes Should Have Prominent Place in the Thanksgiving Menu.

In planning the menu for this national feast day, include as many of the traditional Thanksgiving dishes as can be used without overcrowding the menu. Present-day prices and ideas of nutrition have relegated the old-fashioned "groaning board" to the past, and substituted for it a feast that may be rather less abundant in quantity, but that is, nevertheless, still a feast. Consider the menu at this time so that plans may be made far enough in advance to do away with any confusion or last minute rush.

Thanksgiving Menu.

Oyster cocktail
Celery Sweet pickles Olives
Roast turkey with sausage stuffing
Mashed potatoes
Creamed white onions
Small whole string beans
Cranberry sauce or jelly
Grapefruit and chestnut salad
Pumpkin pie Nuts
Coffee Cider

Brussels sprouts may be used instead of the onions if preferred and squash or succotash take the place of the string beans. In the old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner salad had no place, but most persons like it because it rather peps up such a hearty meal. A fruit salad is chosen and kept slightly acid in flavor, as it aids digestion. Soup or fruit cup may take the place of oysters, but since these are supposed to have been served at the first Thanksgiving feast at Plymouth, they are more in keeping with the spirit of the day.

Sausage Stuffing.

For a 10-pound turkey use a large loaf of stale bread. Break the bread in small pieces, rubbing the crumb between the fingers, and breaking the crust into small bits. Put in a bowl and add one teaspoon salt, the grated rind of a lemon, two teaspoons poultry seasoning, one-half teaspoon pepper, one small onion chopped fine, two tablespoons lemon juice and one-half pound sausage meat. Work the sausage into the bread with the hands until the mixture is well blended. Add just enough boiling water to moisten it without making it soggy. Stuff the turkey with this, putting it lightly into the body cavity and into the neck. Sew or fasten the openings with toothpicks or skewers and truss the bird.

Roast Turkey.

Select a turkey, preferably one weighing from 10 pounds up. Smaller ones are seldom as good in flavor and are apt to be more bony in proportion. Wash the bird inside and out with cold water, drain and dry. Singe and remove pin-feathers. Stuff, truss and place on its back in a roasting pan.

Mix three tablespoons butter, drippings or cooking fat with one-third cup flour and one teaspoon salt until it forms a smooth paste. Spread this over the breast, the thick part of the legs and on the sides. Roast in a hot oven—425 to 450 degrees—for 30 minutes, then reduce the heat to 350 degrees and cook from two to two and one-half hours longer. Baste frequently during the baking, and if there seems to be danger of the breast browning too much, cover it with a thick sheet of brown paper, or with an inverted pan. The turkey liver and gizzard should be washed, put in a small saucepan with an onion, a stalk of celery and a little salt and boiled for 30 minutes. They are to be chopped and added to the gravy. Use the liquid in which they are cooked for the gravy also.

AFTER DINNER PEPPERMINTS

These Uncooked Candy Wafers Are Readily Made.

The entertainment season is on and prospective hostesses who are interested in making sweets will find this recipe for after dinner wafers very handy to have in reserve.

Ingredients need to make these sweetmeats are one level teaspoon gelatine, two teaspoons cold water, three teaspoons boiling water and two cups confectioners sugar.

Soak gelatine in cold water about five minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar and mix thoroughly. Put mixture on a board dredged with sifted confectioner's sugar and knead until smooth.

Separate into four parts coloring and flavoring each portion according to individual taste. One portion may be colored green and flavored with peppermint; another flavor wintergreen and color red: color third portion yellow and flavor with clove; and the last portion leave uncolored and flavor cinnamon. Add more sugar to make each portion stiff. Roll out on board as thin as possible and cut in rounds.

Candied Cranberries.

Candied cranberries are prepared in the following way: Cook two cupfuls of sugar with two-thirds cup of water for five minutes. Prick three cups of large, bright red cranberries with a needle, add them to the syrup, cover and cook very gently until the fruit is transparent. Allow the berries to remain in the syrup overnight, then drain, roll in granulated sugar, and dry very slowly in a cool oven.

ATTRACTIVE WAYS FOR SERVING LETTUCE SALAD

Plain Lettuce Salad Is Preferred by Many for Formal Dinner Service.

Lettuce Parisienne.

Cut a head of lettuce lengthwise into thirds or fourths and serve with the following dressing: Mash fine four ounces of Roquefort cheese, adding two or there tablespoonfuls salad oil gradually, until mixture is smooth. Use vinegar and oil alternately, mix until the paste is just thick enough to pour. After pouring over the lettuce, sprinkle with paprika.

Thousand Island Lettuce.

Cut a crisp head of lettuce in half and cover with the following dressing: Four tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise, two tablespoonfuls olive oil, two tablespoonfuls Tarragon vinegar, three tablespoonfuls chili sauce, two tablespoonfuls minced onion, one egg, hard boiled, one-half green pepper and pimiento, shredded, juice of one lemon.

Iceberg Salad.

Cut a large head of lettuce crosswise into inch sections, shredding finely left-over portion. Place each round on a salad plate and slice through several times without disturbing shape. For each salad mix one-half cake cream cheese with some chopped pecans and shredded lettuce and form into a rough peak to represent an iceberg. Color some mayonnaise green, spread it over lettuce and place iceberg in center.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

A Combination of Fruit Juices and Whipped Cream.

A tasty dressing for fruit salads is made with one cup whipped cream, one tablespoon orange juice, one tablespoon lemon juice, one tablespoon pineapple juice, one tablespoon maraschino cherry juice and five or six maraschino cherries, cut fine.

Many housewives, when making a fruit salad, make the mistake of binding it together with a sour dressing. This is a grave mistake for the sour dressing tends to disguise the delicate flavor of the fruit.

Serve a plentiful spoonful on each plate of salad.

For Economy Sake.

In many homes where the kitchen schedule is carefully worked out large roasts are cooked in preference to small ones, and the leftover meat prepared in casserole two or three days later.

University City High School's back football team will close its season tomorrow with an intercity game against the eleven from Oak Park High School, a suburban school of Chicago. The game will be played on University City's field, Hanley road, starting at 2 o'clock. Before the game two stunt flyers will entertain the crowd. One of the planes will contain an official of the game who will give a flying exhibition before landing. He is Hugh Lowery, commanding officer of the Reserve Pursuit Squadron. His plane, a Gypsy Moth, holds two world's records, the long distance flight for light planes and the most consecutive loops. The other plane will throw down two footballs, one decorated with Oak Park's colors and the other with University City's colors.

Oak Park is one of the large high schools of Chicago and had about 3000 pupils. It has about 300 boys playing football on various B and C teams and has about 50 boys on the varsity squad, 5 of whom will make the trip to St. Louis. Arrangements are being made for a number of the student "rooters" to take the trip.

Oak Park has shown a strong offense in its 1930 games, having scored on all opponents. University City has an almost equally good record, having failed to score in but one game which ended in a 0-0 tie. Each team has lost one game and been tied once.

Wray's COLUMN

Getting His Chance.

LITTLE JOE GHNOULY, clever St. Louis boxer whose deft fists pecked out many a point victory, in Mound City rings, is making good in the East with five or six successive victories to his credit.

Joe is unusually fortunate. He is under the wing of Gus Wilson, internationally known trainer of fighters who, at different times, handled Gene Tunney and Georges Carpentier among a host of others.

Not many St. Louis boxers have had opportunities to learn like Ghnouly, for at Wilson's training camp, Orangeburg, N. Y., many of the famous fighters of today are doing their training. Wilson writes that he has Ghnouly boxing with Tony Canzoneri, Kid Chocolate and other top rank fighters and that he is coming along rapidly.

Here in St. Louis boxers are unfortunate. There are practically no competent teachers of boxing. Amateurs and young professionals are not properly coached. They struggle blindly along boxing with one another and teaching each other bad ring habits, instead of good ones. Several really capable local prospects have remained at a standstaill because St. Louis gymnasiums lack men who know how to teach fighters properly.

He Lacks a Punch.

IF Ghnouly has the physical equipment to carry him on, he surely will profit by the splendid opportunity to learn from top rank fighters.

Ghnouly, unfortunately, lacks a devastating punch. When nature denies a fighter that asset, the boxer seldom gets to the top, in these knock-em-dead days.

Carnera Please Notice.

PIERRE CHARLES, who made a reputation in America as a third rate heavyweight fighter, is now training in the East with a new inspiration. He has just been named "champion of Europe" by the International Boxing Federation which has sent notices to the New York State Athletic Commission and to the National Boxing Association, advising them of Pierre's new honors.

Evidently the International Federation De Boxe does not know that Primo Carnera and Max Schmeling are on the map of Europe.

Charles has a poor record. George Godfrey, Otto Von Porat and others have flattened him, while worn out, aged Chuck Wiggins cuffed him all around the ring here in St. Louis.

If Charles is Europe's idea of a champion then the importation of these duty-free foreign cheeses had better stop.

What America needs most at this time is a protective tariff wall against the cargoes of foreign hams, eggs and fromages that have been glutting the American market.

Mr. Raskob's New Entry.

MR. JOHN RASKOB has just invested nine grand in a thoroughbred race horse, Imp. Palestria. Let's hope she runs better than Mr. Raskob's other entry, Al Smith.

Willie Gets the Air.

WILLIE HOPPE'S airplane billiard match, which was to have been played this month, has been cancelled. The billiard "trust," since the match was made, has given Willie the air and the event pancaked.

Balkline will therefore continue on the same old plane—on the ground.

Unlucky—for Whom?

THAT "unlucky thirteen" is sure to prove a jinx Thanksgiving day. When the Billikens play the Bears at Walsh Stadium, it will be their thirteenth engagement. Unless the game ends in a tie, one of the pair must suffer defeat.

In the case of St. Louis U., defeat would be tough luck indeed for, up to this writing, Billikens have won only two of the 12 games played.

There is this consolation: In their two successful games, the Billikens rolled up almost as many points as the Bears did in the entire 12 games.

Washington, 99; St. Louis University, 98.

Burdick Meets Fox.

Lloyd Burdick, former Illinois University athlete and Western conference heavyweight wrestling champion, will oppose Charley Fox of Cleveland, O., in a one fall bout announced today by Matchmaker Leon Balkin as the opening engagement on the Coliseum wrestling program featuring Milo Steinborn and Dick Daviscourt next Wednesday night. The curtain-raiser will be limited to 30 minutes.

By Dent McSkimming.

Aside from its value as entertainment, the Freshman game between St. Louis University and Washington U., tomorrow, will be interesting in that it will serve to bring to light players who will succeed Varsity regulars, who are now concluding their college careers.

Floyd Feldman, quarterback of the Billiken Frosh team, will have an opportunity to show whether he is the logical man to take over the post now held by Charley McKinney; young Dick Bockrath and Russell Axtell, tackles on the Freshman team, will be fighting for the privilege of succeeding Fred Joseph, Varsity tackle, who is playing his last game for St. Louis U. on Thanksgiving day. And the halfbacks, Arnold Arenz, Philo Smith, John Hoy, Casimir Biesiada and others, will have a chance to make a bid for Capt. Gazelle's job. The Varsity loses only Gazelle, McKinney, Kimmell, Joseph and Schultz.

Feldman Will Be Watched.

Perhaps the work of Feldman will be most closely scrutinized for the loss of McKinney will be felt most keenly. In a practice game against the Varsity about a month ago, Feldman led the Freshmen in faultless fashion. He came to St. Louis U. from St. Charles High and was used earlier in the season as a guard. He weighs only 150 pounds.

The mere prospect of a backfield composed of Joe Stephan, Arnold Arenz, John Hoy and Manuel Rapp, plus a good quarterback, must delight the Billiken coaches.

Coach Eddie Brown wants his Freshmen to have at their command a varied set of offensive plays but the problem of getting the lads to learn signals may defeat the plan. Throughout the season, the Freshmen are used as a foil for the varsity and the youngsters never have an opportunity to learn a set of plays of their own. They are constantly masquerading as "next Saturday's enemy" and since the enemy changes each week the Frosh are never in position to learn signals thoroughly.

Billikens Have Weight Edge.

But, granting that Feldman uses only straight football, he is still likely to enjoy success, for Arenz, Rapp, Smith and Hoy seem best at line smashing and off-tackle drives.

St. Louis will have a weight advantage of seven pounds a man, the team weights being 180 pound average for St. Louis and 173 pound average for Washington. It it worthy of note that Washington's average in the line and in the team combined is boosted many pounds by the heft of Bill Helmbrock, who scales 270 pounds.

PLANS DECIDED UPON TO GO AFTER 1932 PIN MEET FOR ST. LOUIS

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Greater St. Louis Bowling Association held in the Laclede Gas building yesterday afternoon, definite plans to go after the 1932 American Bowling Congress tournament for St. Louis were decided upon.

The drive will be inaugurated among out-of-town bowlers at the Central States annual tournament which opens at Indianapolis Nov. 29.

President F. B. Grodski and Secretary Jerry Ameling, as well as a large number of St. Louis bowlers who are scheduled to compete in the tournament on Dec. 13, will attend the Central States annual meeting which will be held at Indianapolis on the same day.

More than 12 executive members of the American Bowling Congress have pledged to vote for St. Louis at the next annual A. B. C. meeting which will be held at Buffalo, N. Y., next March. Additional pledges will be sought at the Central States meeting.

According to a letter received from the A. B. C. by Jerry Ameling, secretary of the St. Louis association, this city has passed Milwaukee in team standing in the A. B. C. and now ranks second to Chicago.

A new record for number of teams to join the St. Louis association and A. B. C. was established this week when the season total reached 2492, which is three more than the number recorded last year.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Night intercollegiate football makes its final Chicago appearance tonight, when the Loyola University Ramblers wind up their 1930 campaign under the lights at Loyola Stadium, meeting South Dakota State.

Roosevelt Favored Over Soldan; Cleveland Meets Central Eleven Tomorrow

By Harold Tuthill

The City High School League football race will come to a close tomorrow afternoon with a double-header at the Public School Stadium. The feature game is that between Roosevelt and Soldan for the league championship. The preliminary battle between Cleveland and Central starts at 1 p. m.

The consensus is that Roosevelt will defeat Soldan and add another leg on the Yale Bowl, the emblem of football championships. Roosevelt has won from the three other league members and has not been scored since the 6 to 6 tie with East St. Louis in the opening game of the season.

The Rough Riders' impressive record together with a powerful backfield consisting of Nathan Tutinsky, quarterback; Ken Koerner and Gus Beiser, halfbacks, and Norman Kloepper, fullback, makes Roosevelt an overwhelming favorite.

Part of Roosevelt's strength is due to the excellent work of Henry Krause, tackle; Whitten Platt, center, and Charles Baronovic, end. The other members of the line, Phil Strugar, Maupin Patton, Howard Eaton, Harold Maile, Amelio Ciarnellio and Dan Stewart, have been of immeasurable value to Coach Lee R. Carlson.

Koerner May Not Play.

Ken Koerner may not be able to start in the backfield, due to a pair of bad ankles. Larry McDougall will replace Koerner, if a change is neccessary.

If Soldan should beat Roosevelt and Cleveland comes through, the South Side schools would finish with three victories and one defeat. Cleveland's only loss was a 7-to-0 decision to Roosevelt.

Coach Raymond G. Polster will depend upon the eleven that started last week. The rapid strides taken by the West Enders gives it a chance to upset the dope and defeat Roosevelt.

Cleveland, with its bewildering formations and its open style of play, is expected to clinch second place by defeating Central. The only change in Bert E. Fenenga's lineup will be to start Roy Paglusch or Gene Poteet at quarter in place of the injured Durand Edele.

Central has failed to score a point in losing three contests to league members. Coach Merrill M. Bailey plans to use those players who will be back next year instead of his regular eleven.

The standings:

Team.	W.	L.	Pct.	Win.	Lose.
Roosevelt	3	0	1.000	1.000	.750
Cleveland	2	1	.667	.750	.500
Beaumont	2	2	.500	....	....
Soldan	1	2	.333	.500	.250

ROOSEVELT HAS NOT ARRANGED GAME WITH C. B. C. FOR DEC. 6

Coach Lee R. Carlson of Roosevelt and P. L. Stavseth, secretary of the City High School athletic board both denied this morning that a post-season football game had been scheduled between the winners of the city championship, probably Roosevelt, and Christian Brothers College, the champion of the Preparatory League to be played at the Public Schools Stadium, Dec. 6.

Stavseth stated that the scheduling of the game was not in the hands of the league board since the season will close tomorrow, and that if Roosevelt saw fit to play C. B. C. it was within its rights. A post-season game between the city winners and Tilden Tech of Chicago will be played Nov. 29.

Although Carlson admitted that he had talked with Jack O'Reilly the C. B. C. coach and expressed his willingness to play the Brothers Dec. 6, the understanding was that it was an individual affair subject to the approval of the league board and to the winning of the championship by Roosevelt. Carlson added that the game might be played, but that he "didn't know definitely."

Cards Release Wattie Holm to Rochester Club

Outright release of Roscoe (Wattie) Holm, veteran outfielder and utility player, to Rochester of the International League, is announced by the Cardinals.

Holm, signed by the Cardinals when he was in school, was farmed out to Syracuse in 1923, was with the Cards in 1924, went back to the farm, then returned to the Cards and got into the world series of 1926 and 1928. He was with Houston in 1930.

All-around ability as a ballplayer has been one of Holm's greatest assets. As a Cardinal he caught, played third base and appeared in all positions in the outfield.

BRUDER WILL FORGET HARD LUCK IF PURPLE DEFEATS NOTRE DAME

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 21.—No member of the Northwestern football team wants a victory over Notre Dame Saturday more than "Hard Luck" Hank Bruder, Wildcat captain, who will play his last college game on his twenty-third birthday.

"I've had some bad breaks," Bruder said, "but if we win this one, it won't be hard to forget the tough luck."

COCHRAN HAS AN AVERAGE OF 33 IN 18.1 MATCH

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Willie Hoppe finally has won a block in his world's championship 18.1 balkline billiards match with Welker Cochran, but seems to have little or no chance of retaining his crown. After Cochran had won seven straight blocks, Hoppe broke the spell by taking the eighth last night, 350 to 300, but Cochran leads the champion, 2400 to 1439, with only four more blocks to do.

Cochran won the seventh block, 300 to 205, closing out the block with an unfinished cluster of 51. He went to the table last night and ran 76 before missing, giving him a high run of 127 for the inning. After that he did not do so well, as Hoppe left him one bad lie after another. Hoppe himself showed his best form of the match in the fifth inning, running 103 before he miscued on what should have been an easy shot for him.

ST. CHARLES OPPOSES MARQUETTE TONIGHT IN FINAL HOME GAME

In their last home game of the season, the St. Charles eleven of the County League will oppose the Marquette High team of Alton, Ill., under floodlights tonight at St. Charles, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Coach Dueringer, in an effort to win the final home game, will put his strongest team in the field, with Fischbach, Bacon, Crouse and Ludwig or Wallenbrock in the backfield, and Towers, I. Willner, P. Willner, Scholls, Tainter, Scheffer and Pickering on the line.

15-ROUND BOUTS TO DECISION IN MISSOURI URGED

By W. J. McGoogan.

George Hook, member of the City Boxing Commission, has an idea for an amendment to the State boxing law which he thinks will help the game here if it is adopted and he is going to present it to the Legislature.

Hook advocates 15-round bouts to a decision when a national or a world title is at stake and to accomplish such a purpose he would have Section 13, Article 1, amended to conform to the Michigan law.

The present law stipulates that boxing contests shall not be more than 10 rounds and no decisions shall be given.

This would be amended to read as follows if Hook's suggestion is adopted: "No boxing or sparring match or exhibition shall be more than 10 rounds in length; providing, however, that the State Athletic Commissioner may, with the concurrence of at least two additional members of said board, issue permits for contests not to exceed 15 rounds whenever a national or an international championship in any of the several weights may be at stake. And in such contests a decision may be rendered by two judges appointed by the commissioner and referee."

Hook believes that a championship match under those conditions would result in a real contest.

He made a trip to Detroit last spring to look over the boxing situation there, told Michigan officials of the difficulties here and they advised him that after the amendment they suggested to him had been adopted in Michigan that worked out satisfactorily.

JOHN BURROUGHS AND COUNTRY DAY TEAMS IN DECIDING GAMES

The ABC League football championship will be decided tomorrow when the John Burroughs elevens oppose Country Day teams on the latter team's gridiron.

The two A teams, now at the peak of their strength, are evenly matched for their game tomorrow afternoon. Both have fast and shifty backfields. Morton and Swift are being depended upon to carry the brunt of the attack for Country Day, while Turner and Hahnel of John Burroughs are expected to star.

In two minor games on the same gridiron tomorrow morning, the John Burroughs B and C division elevens will meet the B and C teams of Country Day. Western Military Academy's B and C teams will meet the minor teams of Principia at Taylor field. The B and C games between John Burroughs and Country Day will figure in the final percentage standings of the ABC League, helping to decide the league title.

Clothes and the Man.

"King of Siam to Play Golf on Visit to U. S."

ALL honor to thee, King of Kinks,
Thrice welcome to our Tom Thumb links.
We'll fit you out with clubs and clothes,
Including cap and shoes and hose.
"Thanks," said the Kink, "I'd rather play
Just as Siam in street array."

Perhaps.

We presume that Bobby Jones' contract with the movies stipulates that there shall be no custard pie hazards.

"Strangler Lewis Back From Trip Abroad."

Ready, we presume, to resume diplomatic relations with all his old friends and stable mates.

The Strangler will find competition a little keener as there are now two world's champions to be tossed instead of one.

Barney Dreyfuss is said to be in bad with the Piratical clientele due to the fact that all ballplayers look alike to Barney. One dispute and they're oot, as they say in the hielands.

When Barney goes to his reward he will leave the world behind with but one regret, to wit: He couldn't fire John McGraw.

It was rumored that Princeton and Harvard would bury the hatchet. Hence the extra heavy helmets being worn by the warriors of those embattled knowledge plants.

To show how widespread is the downward trend of prices, Gov. Roosevelt spent $5000 and got more votes than he ever got in his life for twice the money.

"Marquis of Winchester Has $1500 and Owes $2,400,000."

However, we say that any man who can run markers for $2,400,000 is no piker.

"National A. A. U. and N. C. A. A. Bury Hatchet."

Next to smoking the pipe of peace burying the hatchet is becoming one of our outstanding national sports.

Army and Navy will bury the hatchet long enough to play a game for charity. After that everyone must protect himself in the clinches.

Interment Temporary.

NOT a drum was heard, not a funeral note
As over the campus they hurried;
Not a soldier or sailor discharged a shot
O'er the spot where the hatchet they buried.

They buried it darkly at dead of night,
And sodded it down with clover;
Then dug it up to renew the fight
When the charity game was over.

Few and short were the prayers they said,
And they spoke not a word of sorrow;
But they felt of its edge as they thought of the head
In which they would sink it tomorrow.

Coises!

See where our profane parrot has gone to New York to live.
When there this most profane of boids
Must coise in new and stranger wolds.

ROCKNE PICKS KANSAS TO WIN OVER MISSOURI IN BIG SIX FEATURE

NORTHWESTERN HAS CHANCE TO WEAR DOWN HIS TEAM, HE SAYS

Rockne's Picks

Michigan to clean up Chicago.
Ohio State too powerful for Illinois.
Wisconsin slightly better than Minnesota.
Purdue to stop Indiana.
Nebraska tough for Iowa.
Kansas favored over Missouri.
Drake to take Iowa State; Kansas Aggies should run over Centre College.
Possibility that Oklahoma Aggies may take Oklahoma.
Detroit to triumph over Michigan State in close fight.
Ohio University to take Ohio Wesleyan.
De Pauw to go before Wabash.
Haskell Indians to scalp Butler.

By Knute Rockne,
Member, All-America Board of Football.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 21.—Now that it is fairly definite that the Big Ten title is to be divided between Northwestern and Michigan, the Notre Dame-Northwestern game will be of exceptional interest because it will determine whether or not Northwestern is to be Western champion also.

I saw Northwestern play last Saturday and in the second half they were a very fine football team. Their line is big and powerful and I don't see how any running attack is going to do much with it. If there are any weaknesses in the Northwestern defense it was against a short passing game. The Northwestern running attack looked good in the second half, and the passing game, even with Rentner out, was dangerous. It looks like a team that may wear Notre Dame down through sheer power, but Notre Dame should score a touchdown or two before this happens. It will be a close nip and tuck struggle which should be well worth watching.

Michigan, which has a clean slate except for a tie with Michigan State, should not have much trouble taking Chicago and thereby going into a tie for the Big Ten championship with Northwestern.

Buckeyes Appear Too Good.

Ohio State seems to have too much all around strength for Illinois. The Wisconsin-Minnesota battle looks fairly even, with Wisconsin appearing slightly stronger. The Wisconsin line stopped Northwestern's running attack cold last Saturday until Kabat was injured. Kabat is as fine a guard as I have seen this year.

Purdue should take Indiana handily, but Iowa will find Nebraska a tough nut to crack.

Out in the Missouri Valley country the leading game will be the annual struggle between Missouri and Kansas. In past years, dope has meant very little when these two teams have met. Kansas seems to have snapped out of its slump and on paper should win.

I look for Drake to take Iowa State and the Kansas Aggies should win from Centre College in a canter. Oklahoma Aggies may take Oklahoma.

Among the other games the Michigan State-Detroit fracas is quite important. Detroit has been doing mighty well with a light team while Jimmy Crowley at Michigan State has done wonders. I look for Detroit to win from Michigan State but only after a very close struggle.

Ohio University should take Ohio Wesleyan, Wabash will probably take Depauw and the Haskell Indians should scalp Butler without a great deal of trouble.

HANNIBAL LA GRANGE ELEVEN IN GOOD SHAPE FOR PRINCIPIA GAME

HANNIBAL, Mo., Nov. 21.—The Trojans from Hannibal-La Grange College will depart from Hannibal this afternoon for St. Louis, where they will play Principia tomorrow at Taylor Field, beginning at 2 p. m.

The Scarlet and Blue boys are in good shape for the game. Capt. Moran is rapidly rounding into condition after being out of the regular lineup for two weeks on account of an injured knee. WESTHUS CUTS JACOBS' LEAD IN 3-CUSHION MATCH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DECATUR, Ill., Nov. 21.—Although he won the second block of the 150-point sectional title three-cushion match here last night, 55 to 50, Bud Westhus of St. Louis will enter the final block tonight six points behind David Jacobs, another St. Louisan.

Westhus staged a great rally in the closing innings of the second block, featuring a run of seven, the high run of the match, in the seventieth inning, when he appeared hopelessly beaten. It was the tonic the big St. Louisan needed and he registered 11 more points before Jacobs could reach the 100 mark.

Jacobs started off from an unfinished run of three from the first block and added one more billiard. He then came back with counts of three and four, while the best Westhus could do was one, and it looked bad for the latter, who was trailing by 18 points. He got going in the seventh inning with three, came back with five in the eighth, three more in the ninth and two in the tenth, while Jacobs was unable to register a single billiard. From then on it was a battle until Jacobs pulled away from his foe, only to see him rally and finally win the block.

Besides the seven registered by Westhus he also clicked a string of five, two of four each and four of three, while the best Jacobs could do was a high run of four and six of three.

The second block went to 86 innings and required the unusual time of three hours and 20 minutes.

Thrunblad Increases Lead.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Arthur Thrunblad of Chicago last night increased his lead over Clarence Jackson of Detroit in their Northern sectional three-cushion billiard championship match, taking the second block, 50 to 44, in 63 innings. Thrunblad leads by 100 to 84, with one more block of the 150-point match to be played.

Scoville Leads De Oro.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—F. S. Scoville of Buffalo, N. Y., forged into the lead last night in the Eastern sectional three-cushion billiard championship by beating Alfred de Oro of Brooklyn, N. Y., in the second block, 51 to 44. The score stands: Scoville 100, De Oro 94.

BILL HANNA, SPORTS WRITER OF NOTE FOR HALF CENTURY, DIES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—William B. Hanna, one of the best known sport writers in the country and a member of the staff of the Herald-Tribune, died yesterday at a sanitarium in Newfoundland, N. J.

He was assigned to cover the baseball game between Army and Dartmouth at West Point, May 24. That was his last assignment. He suffered a stroke while the game was being played and remained in the army hospital three weeks. Then he was conveyed to the sanitarium in New Jersey. He was 68 years old, having spent more than half a century writing down facts and figures about sporting events. Hanna was born in Kansas City. After graduating from Lafayette College in 1878, he got his first job as a sport writer on the Kansas City Star.

New York Evening World Sports Editor Dies.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Richard E. Freyer, sports editor of the Evening World, died last night from cirrhosis of the liver at the Naval Veterans' Hospital, Brooklyn, to which he had been removed a fortnight ago.

Mr. Freyer came to the Evening World as a copy boy more than 20 years ago.

When he returned from the war and to the Evening World he became an assistant in the sports department. Six years ago he was made sports editor, the post he held until he died.

THE NEW
TEXACO MOTOR OIL

"..more than meets the requirements of today's high compression engines," says the HOCHSTADTER LABORATORIES, INC.

A STUDY of this report reveals a number of interesting facts about this new lubricant. It is definitely shown that the new Texaco Golden Motor Oil has a higher viscosity at high temperatures and a lower viscosity at low temperatures. It is an oil with a flatter viscosity curve, which means greater heat-resisting qualities and a longer-lasting body.

It will hold its lubricating qualities throughout the entire range of engine temperatures with a very low oil consumption. This was substantiated and proved in a nation-wide road test under extremely varied driving conditions in which the thirteen test cars averaged 790 miles to the quart.

The new Texaco is manufactured in 5 grades: C, D, E, F, and G, conforming with Society of Automotive Engineers viscosity gradings. Sold in all of our 48 States under the Texaco Red Star with the Green T. 30¢ a quart (35¢ for Grade G).

SOCCER GAINING IN THE SOUTH, SAYS CAHILL

If any section of the United States is better suited so far as climate is concerned to soccer football, that section is Texas and Louisiana, in the opinion of Thomas W. Cahill, who is in St. Louis today after having completed an organization tour of the South. Acting as a special representative of the United States Football Association, Cahill visited Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio and organized three cities into the South Texas State Football Association.

"Two senior teams of Houston and two of Galveston have been organized for an intercity league competition," said Cahill. "In addition, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio will have an elimination series, the winning club to meet a similar cup champion of North Texas.

"In Dallas, Tom Finnegan, a brother of the well-known 'King' Finnegan, assisted me in the organization of a four-team league and preliminary steps were taken for Forth Worth to enter the State cup series."

While in San Antonio, Cahill visited the grave of Ed "Rube" Waddell, former major league baseball star, who played soccer as a goal tender for Cahill at the old Kulage Park here nearly 25 years ago.

"I found a widespread interest in soccer in Texas," said Cahill. "Schoolboys are playing the game, but there has been a lack of league organization. In and around San Antonio there are three or four teams composed entirely of Mexicans, and there is a total of eight senior teams and 12 junior clubs in that district."

Cahill will be in St. Louis until Monday, when he will go to Detroit to report the result of his tour to Armstrong Patterson, president of the United States Football Association.

McLARNIN RULES 3 TO 1 FAVORITE TO DEFEAT PETROLLE, TONIGHT

LOUGHRAN AND KING LEVINSKY WILL BATTLE IN CHICAGO RING

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—When slugger meets slugger one of two things can happen—a "waltz" in which each shows tremendous respect for the other's punch, or a slam-bang battle in which each gambles on landing the first decisive blow.

These are the two possibilities when Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Petrolle meet in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. A large crowd is expected at the Garden in hopes of seeing both boys forget about defense and concentrate on attack. That was the general expectation the night McLarnin fought Ray Miller, southpaw puncher, but one of the tamest bouts in the Garden's history was the result.

McLarnin has been virtually unbeatable since he accepted a lacing from Sammy Mandell, then lightweight champion, two years ago. He has waded through all sorts of opposition since then and in his last New York appearance knocked out Al Singer, successor to Mandell, in three rounds in an overweight fight. The smiling Irishman rules a 3 to 1 favorite over Petrolle. The latter, however, is a mark for no lightweight or junior welterweight in the business. He whipped Tony Canzoneri in Chicago before Tony knocked out Singer for the lightweight title, and lost a close decision to Jackie (Kid) Berg, the English whirlwind, in a great fight. Petrolle can hit with either hand and is game.

Loughran Favored to Defeat King Levinsky.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. — Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, former world's light heavyweight champion, was a two-to-one favorite to defeat King Levinsky, the ex-fish peddler, in their 10-round engagement at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Despite the unpopular decision Levinsky got over Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo two weeks ago, boxing fans appear to be in the proper frame of mind for the show, which is expected to draw 14,000 spectators, with gate receipts at $50,000.

Loughran scaled 182½ pounds and Levinsky weighed 180¾ when they weighed in this afternoon.

My 50 Years in Baseball

by CONNIE MACK Manager of the Philadelphia Athletics

No. 65.

Connie Chooses All-Star Team From His Ranks

IN this installment of his life story, Connie Mack picks an all-star team from players who have served under him since he took the reins of the Athletics.

It is a mixture of new and old and, according to Mack, so strong that he declares "I could manage that team by mail."

For his outfield, Mack picks his present one of Al Simmons, "Mule" Haas and "Bing" Miller. In his infield, he has that of the famous 1910 Athletics, "Stuffy" McInnis at first, Eddie Collins at second, Jack Barry at short and J. Franklin Baker at third. He gives the catching post without reservation of "Mickey" Cochrane and, for his pitching staff, selects Rube Waddell, Bob Grove, George Earnshaw, Chief Bender and Jack Coombs.

Leader of World Champions Considers His Athletics of 1910 and 1914 Best He Ever Managed.

IN my opinion, there were no particularly great teams in the first decade of the American League.

The White Sox won in 1901 but it could not be rated as a mighty organization. This was the first season of the American League in major circuit dress and the teams were just beginning to feel their way.

My Athletics of 1902 won my first pennant but they were just a good team, not one that stood out. The same can be said of the Red Sox, pennant winners in 1903, and 1904 and the Athletics of 1905.

The 1903 Red Sox delivered one stroke when it won the post-season series that fall from Pittsburg. This was the precursor of the modern world's series which was not played under special rules and under the jurisdiction of baseball chiefs until 1905.

The White Sox, who won in 1906, were known as the "hitless wonders," a sour name for champions.

Detroit captured the pennant in 1907-08 and 1909, the first American League team to win three times in a row but this achievement was dulled from two standpoints.

In these three years, the Tigers won only by a nose and in 1908 did not come through until the last game. Then they made an inglorious figure in the world's series, for they were never successful once.

No Series for Tigers.

THEY are the only American League pennant winners that never won at least one game in a world's series. The Tigers had good teams but in the face of the records, not great ones.

I don't think that the American League had a genuinely great team until the Athletics of 1910 came to rule baseball. From that time up to today the American League curve was upward.

Up to this time National League teams had won four out of five world's series. Then came the Athletics with their dazzling ensemble to win four pennants in five straight years and also capture three world's titles.

I also consider the Boston Red Sox of 1912, 1915 and 1916 to have exercised a real power in baseball. They followed three pennant triumphs with three clean cut victories in the world's series.

The White Sox of 1917 was another powerful band and scored an impressive conquest at the expense of the Giants in the world's series. War year was a bad one for baseball with many players shouldering rifles and the Red Sox, who won in 1918 was not a notable team.

The Great Yanks.

THERE was not a really great machine in the American League until the Yanks won in 1926, 1927 and 1928. They had won in 1921 and 1922 but did not have the power they could show in their second pennant era.

While the Yanks lost the world's series to the Cardinals in 1926, they won the next two world's series without a single defeat, a record in world's series history.

This Yankee team must be ranked with the Orioles of the early nineties, the Cubs of 1906, to 1910 and the Athletics of 1910 to 1914.

The Athletic team of 1929 must rank with the best but I am placing my 1910-1914 team ahead for the reason that we know how long it lasted and what it did.

My 1929 winners may in the end prove better than the 1910-1914 combination because they are a team of youths and there is no telling how far they will go.

That, however, remains to be seen.

I am convinced, however, that I will never again be the leader of on an infield the equal of Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and J. Franklin Baker.

His Best Infield.

EVERY man could field his position better than anybody else in his day and three of them were regular hitters above the .300 mark at a time when it was considered an achievement to hit .300.

That infield was the backbone of my team in those days, not the outfield. The infield led in the attack as well as was the bulwark of the defense.

When those four players were keyed up it was a mighty difficult thing to get a ground ball through it.

My composite strongest Athletic team would be that infield and my present day outfield with Cochrane catching and Waddell, Grove, Earnshaw, Bender and Coombs, forming the pitching staff.

I could manage that team by mail.

BEARS HAVE WON 9 OF 12 GAMES FROM BILLIKENS

By James M. Gould.

While not particularly sticklers for precedent, Washington University coaches and players are hoping that, Thanksgiving day, precedent will be followed when they meet the St. Louis U. Billikens in the annual football game. If precedent should be followed, Washington would have an excellent chance to win for, in the 12 games played to date, the Bears have won nine, tied one and lost but two.

This being the thirteenth meeting of the two elevens, however, the Billikens are claiming that it will be unlucky for the Bears. All of which remains to be seen and to be decided next Thursday afternoon at Walsh Memorial Stadium.

While the Billikens have won only two of the dozen games played, their point-total is almost equal to that of the Bears, Washington having a 99-98 point advantage. This apparent paradox is explained by the fact that, in the first game between the two colleges, away back in 1907, the St. Louis U. team happened to be that coached by Eddie Cochems and the then Pikers were defeated overwhelmingly, 78—0. Following that game, there was a lapse of six years. The series was resumed in 1914 and the Bears won, 6—0, and again in 1915 and 1916 by respective scores of 13—7 and 3—0. Then, in 1917, the Billikens came through to 13—0 victory which was to be the second and last they have so far scored over Washington. In 1921 the game ended in a scoreless tie and relations between the two universities again were broken to be resumed in 1927, since which time the Bears have won three straight, the scores being 21—0, 6—0 and 7—0.

St. Louis Has Not Scored Since 1917.

So, if the Billikens win this coming game, it will be their first victory since 1917 and any scoring the St. Louis team does will be its first since that year.

That 78-0 count in 1907 was St. Louis' greatest victory while the Bears' best point victory was in 1927, when they won out, 21-0.

These figures explain why everyone connected with football at Washington is so strong for the following of precedent.

However, Al Sharpe and his assistants, Bullman, Thomas and Davis, do not intend depending on precedent. As Dr. Sharpe remarked, "I may be wrong in my statistics, but I never heard of precedent scoring a touchdown or keeping the other fellows from scoring."

With his starting lineup all "set," Dr. Sharpe is trying to add some power and deception to the Bears' offense which has not been either so strong or so deceiving. In fact, it has been almost entirely "Sausselish." Without this remarkable ball-carrier the Washington offense would not merit the rating of "ordinary." With his clicking, it has its dangerous points.

The coaches, however, have reason to be satisfied with the defense which has been stalwart all during the campaign.

Practice will not be of the bone-crushing type for the rest of the preparatory period. A defense against the St. Louis shift and added variety to the attack will be the principal points worked on.

Washington Took Advantage of Break In Last Two Games

ST. LOUIS U. refuses to recognize the so-called "jinx" that has pursued Billiken teams on Thanksgiving day in past years. Coach Chile Walsh says that anyone who saw the games of the past two seasons (and he saw them as an assistant coach) knows that Washington won because the Bears forced the "break" of the game.

"Washington won those two games not because of our "jinx" but because they were well coached by Dr. Al Sharpe, whose 30 years of football experience have enabled him to develop winning football strategy," said Walsh yesterday. "The Bears played tight football, waited patiently for break which always comes, and they took advantage of it when it came."

Stowe College to Oppose Lincoln Team Tomorrow

The second and most important Negro college football game of this season is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the Stowe Teachers College eleven engages the strong Negro State College team, the Lincoln University Blue Tigers from Jefferson City at the Stars' Park.

The Stowe College Hornets have a very short schedule this season and have played only a few games. Coach Victor E. Reef has put the Hornets through several practice sessions earlier this week while David M. Waters has conditioned the Blue Tigers for this all-important contest.

The Lincolnites will depend mainly on an aerial offensive to score, while Victor Reef will count on L. Lofton, W. Culp, Clifton Horne and C. Parker to score in this contest. The stars for the Blue Tigers are "Chubby" Baker, Lawson, a fast end, Campbell at center and Hudlin Green, fullback.

Probable starting lineups:

DOWNTURN TO PRICES ON GERMAN BOERSE

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Prices on the German Boerse crumbled today partly in reaction to Chancellor Bruening's speech to farming representatives on German financial difficulties and partly to the selling of German industrials in Paris and New York.

After the official hours dealings were scarce and the tendency remained dull. The day's losses amounted to from two to three points but potash shares dropped an average seven points. The dye trust kept firm.

This morning the Boerse opened lifeless but gained some strength for a time, when Foreign Minister Curtius' speech hinting the possibility of safeguard measures under the Young plan got favorable comment in the papers.

STOCK EXCHANGE TOPICS

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The plan proposed by the old management of the Missouri Pacific looking toward the liquidation of dividend arrears on the $5 cumulative preferred stock, evidently is to be abandoned. At any rate the road today moved to withdraw its application filed last year with the Interstate Commerce Commission asking permission to issue $38,659,900 additional common stock as part of the plan for liquidation of such dividend arrears. H. Fitspatrick, vice president, ascribed the action to changed financial and business conditions which moved directors to look upon the plan as impracticable just now. It is possible that the application may be renewed at a later date or some new plan proposed. The Van Sweringen interests, through the Alleghany Corporation, have in the interval acquired working control of the road and this new element has been regarded right along as out of sympathy with the dividend plan.

Steel Unchanged.

HEAT CLOSES UNSETTLED AT A HIGHER LEVEL

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Wheat today rose nearly 6 cents a bushel above the low prices current on Nov. 10. Absence of any unusual pressure to sell was an outstanding factor, rather than buying urgency. It was estimated that export purchases of Canadian wheat have totaled upward of 2,500,000 bushels since Monday. Wheat closed unsettled ¾@1½c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝@1⅛c up, with oats 1½@2c advanced. Under scattered selling, provisions eased in the late trading, and closed unchanged to 7c lower.

Substantial new upturns in wheat values took place early following a report that one source thought it saw in fresh advance. Rust comment from Argentina were also a bullish factor. There was statement from the grain stabilization corporation advice that consumers may now safely purchase their seasonable requirements. Opening ¼c higher, Chicago wheat future deliveries showed additional grains later. Corn started unchanged to ½c up, and subsequently held near to the opening figures.

Sharp advances in wheat quotations at Buenos Aires and Liverpool tended to emphasize anxiety as to reported rust situation in Argentina. Meanwhile, bullish estimate from a leading trade authority is issued here indicating that the world carryover of wheat July 1 next in exporting countries would be but 462,000,000 bushels, compared with 505,000,000 bushels July 1 this year. He figured the United States probable carryover July 1 next at 160,000,000 bushels, compared with 280,000,000 bushels on July 1, 1930.

Corn trading was not so large as yesterday and the corn market again became a follower much of the time to the influence of wheat. However, speculative buying of corn for Chicago believers in higher prices was continued, and at intervals exerted a strengthening effect on corn values. Wheat also was given additional firmness by word a moderate amount of export business in Canadian wheat had been put through overnight.

Oats rose with wheat and corn.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in hog values and in grain.

PRICES RALLY AT CLOSE ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The curb closed on a rally today. Net gains were small in most cases, although Electric Bond & Share was up 1¾ and American Gas & Electric 2¾. Stanlard Oil of Kentucky and Vacuum each rose a point. Late buying of the railroads on the big board imparted strength to Pennroad, which snapped up a point on comparatively few sales.

Trading was unusually quiet until the last 15 minutes, when the volume increased. Most of the utilities were virtually unchanged on the day, however, and the rest of the list profited by the upturn to only a minor extent. Associated Gas "A" turned a 1-point decline into a gain of the same amount.

There was a show of strength in several specialties. Horn & Hardart up 4 points, Mead, Johnson & Westmoreland Coal, up 2 each, and Aluminum of America, up about 7, were features. Aviation Corporation of the Americas firmed fractionally. Crocker Wheeler was heavy.

Pennroad was the only investment holding issue to show any life. United Founders sagged frequently, but closed unchanged.

UNCHANGED TO LOWER CLOSE TO COTTON

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—An early decline of about three to six points in cotton under some further liquidation and Southern selling was followed by moderate rallies today on covering and trade buying. Liquidation of December appeared to be subsiding, while there was buying of that position against sales of later months which led to some narrowing of the differences. Otherwise there was no particular trading feature and the midafternoon was quiet with new December ruling around 10.80c and March 11.46c, or net unchanged to eight points lower.

Futures closed steady, unchanged to 7 points lower; Dec. 10.77c, Jan. 10.92c. New contracts: Dec. 10.70-80c, Jan. 10.94-95c, March 11.19-20c, May 11.45-46c, July 11.63-64c, Oct. 11.83-85c. Spot quiet; middling 10.85c.

Some buying was reported on the relatively steady showing of Liverpool but there was liquidation and Southern selling which increased right after the call and sent the active months about 2 to 6 points net lower during the early trading.

The selling was supposed to include some hedging while there was local selling on rather higher ginning figures than anticipated. The Census Bureau reported 11,962,364 bales gainned prior to Nov. 14, compared with 11,890,006 last year. This report was slightly above the average of recent private estimates but while the selling was quite active during the first few minutes it was well enough taken by covering and trade buying to steady the market and cause rallies of 2 or 3 points from the lowest before the sesson had progressed far.

Liverpool cable said hedging there had been taken by local covering and continental buying.

The early decline seemed to carry the market into some trade buying limits which absorbed the offerings and imparted a steadier tone to the market. Buying did not become active or aggressive, but there was scattered covering on rallies to about yesterday's closing quotations. New December sold up to 10.81 and May was holding around 11.53 at midday or net 1 point lower to 2 points higher. Any immediate effect of the ginning report on sentiment, appeared to have been discounted during the early trading.

New Orleans Spot Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.—Spot cotton closed steady at unchanged quotations; sales, 3804; low middling, 9.10c; middling, 11.10c; receipts, 2934; stocks, 680,137.

Little-Girl Styles in Winter Resort Clothes

Turkish, Spanish and Coolie Effects for Beach — Simple Linen Suits For Street Wear.

THE caprices of next season's mode, it seems will force even the most straight-laced among us to lead double lives, somewhat after the manner of Cinderella. At night glass slippers, ermine and a coach-and-four, in the day, not rags exactly, but little-girl frocks in pastel, and as naive as you wish. All this, according to the words of William Bloom, the American designer.

There was a delightful atmosphere of make-believe and all-starched-up-for-Sunday-school hat was refreshing after the heavily exotic fashions of this winter. The beach pajamas have a way of looking like fancy dress costumes, not the elaborate things that grown-ups wear to masque balls, but such as children wear to their first masquerades. A striped beach coat is cut on coolie lines, worn with flopping trousers and a real peaked coolie hat. Another is Algerian (or maybe Turkish), anyhow custumey and quite charming with a fez-like little red cap, navy blue linen bolero and trousers. India print is used for bolero and sash on another of this type to create Spanish effect. And, of course, there were sailor suits.

As for the linen suits, they should take 10 years off any woman's outlook. They aren't skittish, or suitable only for the figure of a 16-year-old. A white-haired grandmother will look as lovely in the flattering shell pink, or baby blue outfits as her grandchild. The jackets are almost invariably loosely hung, and buttonless, more flattering to the mature figure than last year's peplum and belted styles. The skirts are about the same, their pleats stitched to just above the knee.

ONE of the several pink linen suits was particularly attractive with a tucked and frilly blouse of handkerchief linen a shade lighter than the suit. Another feature, somehow reminiscent of the nursery, is the frequent use of appliqued flowers and designs on plain pale-colored linen. One tan three-quarter length beach coat had a whole flower garden sprouting from the hem. Another in blue linen had the outlines of tulips in yellow and lavender spreading all over it.

Of course, one is not forced to be pastel and naive. White linen waistcoat frocks, with accents of black, express the utmost in sophiticated smartness. So do the brilliant yellow spongey tweeds, cotton or wool, with red details.

An important new garment for the swimmer or beach idler is the beach coat dress. Usually double-breasted and smartest in linen, this simple garment slips on over the bathing suit, making you presentable enough to meet your maiden aunt from Dubuque.

The hats, before we dash on to another beach show, are most worth mentioning. Not the bigger and better beach hats or the straw tricornes, which are to be popular. This hat, which looks as though it would be a real factor, is the mushroom, with a crown so shallow that the descending line is scarcely identified in some instances at the place where the brim begins. These new mushrooms are in heavy, stiff straw, not too large, and very smart, with a great variety of frocks.

AFTER all the linen, cotton tweed and wool at William Blooms, it was strange to see the next afternoon the Palm Beach styles offered by the Celanese Corporation of America, all of which at least looked like silk. Celanese tricot and moire (the watering doesn't come out in water) were made up in elaborate styles in order to eliminate the awkwardness of shorts, which somehow seem ungainly on the slenderest mannequin.

Only the shorts which fit snugly like a man's, or resemble skirts, look at all smart. The Celanese Corporation modestly chose the latter, and pleated their shorts until they looked just like skirts, in fact, sometimes they were skirts. Fitted tightly around the hips they looked something like ballet skirts.

At the new Hermes shop we found a selection of lovely handbags, all handmade and leather lined, made to last a decade; also pigskin luggage of a lifetime durability.

Originally saddlers in Paris catering to Kings for a century, they have in recent years branched out into fashioning all forms of leather goods for humans. Their latest innovation is creating the most divine handknit sweaters, dresses, scarfs, hats and purses, all of that universal, nonseasonal smartness that really excellent sport clothes have.

Wrapping Paper Uses

DO not discard the soft paper that comes into the house, such as wrapping tissue paper that is not good enough to use again for that purpose, waxed paper from breadstuffs, the tissue fruit wrappings and so on. Keep them in a basket and you will find they serve many purposes in the kitchen that will reduce labor. Use these for removing grease from the sink, after sprinkling sink liberally with a cleansing powder. The grease will not be washed down the drain pipe and the paper can be burned or thrown away. Use it for greasy pans and saucepans and save soiling a dish cloth. Soft paper is better than a cloth for cleaning windows and there will be no rags to wash.

Duluth's municipal airport gave the United States a total of 1656 landing fields.

GET THE RIGHT SHOES

THERE are a number of important factors to remember when getting new shoes. A friend of yours has a pair of shoes, practically new. The shoes were too large or too small and therefore never worn. You pay your friend a visit one day and receive the shoes as a "gift." Or, on another occasion shoes may be on sale and the sale really is so good you just cannot resist buying at least one pair. The shoe sale may just be to dispose of odd sizes not one of which is yours, but you buy—sales are so irresistible. In either case, you can now begin to settle down to some lively foot troubles.

It is essential that each time you get shoes you have your feet measured, and they are measured by standing full on both feet without shoes. The fact that you wear a 5-C of one type shoes does not necessarily mean that a 4½-D will not be just as satisfactory in another kind. But feet are too important a matter and too difficult a thing to change not to warrant special care in fitting.

When you have measured and decided upon the pair of shoes wanted, put on both shoes, stand and walk in them as much as possible, be as certain as you can that they fit, and then accept them as your own. Don't just look at them, decide they are pretty, put one shoe on and walk home with your package.

According to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health editor of Successful Farming, the greatest danger lies in getting shoes too short. This error can only be avoided by careful fitting. He further advises that when purchasing shoes for the child under six years of age, the shoes should be one-half inch longer and one-quarter inch wider than the foot.

The doctor does not absolutely pronounce against the wearing of high heels, but to avoid foot troubles and bad posture, he warns against their constant use.

Creamed Oysters

Clean oysters and heat in strained oyster liquor. Do not boil. Clean the oyster shells and replace each oyster in its shell. Pour over each one two tablespoons white sauce and sprinkle with fine bread-crumbs, salt and pepper. Dot with butter. Brown in a quick oven for five minutes. If the oysters are small, two or three may be placed back in the shell instead of one.

THE lowly hamburger, by-product of the butcher's block, has been elevated to the rank of a delicacy, a cup-winning amateur golf player has doffed knickers and donned a white jacket, and a motion picture actress has turned up her nose at the dotted line of a film contract and set herself about the business, she says, of "glorifying the American hamburger."

Nightly, when the wee small hours have started to grow up, epicureans on armless stools, press white starched shirt fronts against the counter, and, having grasped the argot of the roadside "grease-joint," call out to the amusement of their parties, "Two in the grease, well done."

So, the William S. Medarts have gone into business. But a few months ago and they would have been among those hungry, dance-tired revelers on the receiving side of the counter. These nights, and seven of them each week, they greet old friends with a pardonable gesture with a cake turner or pie knife and bid them good night with the merry tinkle of their cash register.

Medart, upon leaving the University of Missouri, was employed by his father, Philip S. Medart, as a salesman for the Medart Manufacturing Co., an athletic equipment concern. He spent much of his time on the golf links and became widely known as one of the leading amateurs in the St. Louis district.

A year ago, he and Miss Blossom Breneman were married. They went to Hollywood, where Mrs. Medart, as Donal Blossom, finished the picture, "The Bride of the Colorado," a Cecil B. De Mille production yet to be released, in which she played the title role.

IT was at Beverly Hills that they noted the social rise of the hamburger. An acquaintance had arranged the debut of the once gauche sandwich filler, and, according to Medart, "made a million in five years."

So it is a lease for five years that the Medarts have taken on the lot on the south side of Clayton road just west of Skinker boulevard. They plan to establish other places as did the California entrepreneur, and they plan to "make a million."

But it should be noted that the "hamburger a la Medart" is a slightly different morsel than the ordinary. There is the same bun, the relish, and, if you wish, the same tear-inducing slice of crisp Bermuda. There is the same mustard with the same inclination to squeeze out at the sides and mark the same elusive paper napkin that flutters to the floor.

In the hamburger, however, has come the metamorphosis. Not the red patties of meat from obscure if not mysterious cuts of steaks, but fragrant cakes specially ground from Government inspected beeves, and sizzling in butter on an electric griddle.

Then there is the coffee, in individual pots, French drip, not boiled. Spaghetti seems next in popularity, to be topped off with a wedge of Mrs. Medart's home-made cocoanut pie.

THEY opened business five weeks ago—the night of the Veiled Prophet ball, and called it "The Cottage." But at the next directors' meeting, says Mrs. Medart, she will insist on changing the name to "The High Hat."

Not long after their marriage the Medarts' domestic difficulties attracted attention and she filed suit for divorce. Mrs. Medart went to live for a while with her mother, Mrs. Edward R. Breneman of the Embassy Apartments.

But the petition was dismissed and the matter was forgotten. Those were the days when Medart spent hour upon hour day after day on the links. He has played twice since opening "The Cottage," to taper off the game.

"Perhaps," ventured Mrs. Medart, who refused a movie contract when her husband gave up golf, "the opening of a hamburger restaurant is the solution of the problem of golf widows."

TRICK SLEEVES RULE IN LONDON

ELABORATE sleeves rule the models shown by London designers this year, check of that women's fashion center shows.

Not content with single cuff for each, some of the smarter models are showing twin cuffs on each sleeve, one at wrist and the second at the cuff proper.

Because of its radical departure from the broken lines, this style is being watched closely. A handicap to the general adoption of the idea, designers here said, was the plumpness which is returning to women's arms. The double cuffed model shows to better advantage on slimmer arms.

Collars on the smart shops' winter frocks run to two and three colored lace effects, many of them featuring artificial braid stitched into designs resembling coarse point lace.

Accessories run to bracelets of varying numbers of strands of both precious and semi-precious stones. The most popular of the trinkets is one made of about a dozen strands twisted rope like and secured with a jewelled clasp.

Remarkable effects to be gained by stamping black velvet were shown by one designer who exhibited a black velvet gown stamped to represent breitschwanz, an expensive fur.

Waistlines, generally, though, seem to be a bit uncertain, some of the houses showing exaggerated lines coming just below the armpits. Muffs, too, are shrinking, the general showing being about four inches long.

Talks to PARENTS

By Alice Judson Beale

Good Times

CHILDHOOD is the time to accumulate a fund of pleasant experiences to look back upon.

Memories of the good times of childhood perform more than a pleasantly sentimental function.

Only the adult who remembers his childhood as a continuously happy experience punctuated by specially bright spots of pleasure is apt to be happy in his immediate present, whatever it may be, for it is a known fact that people react to their present in terms of their past.

If the past has been good, they generally know how to see the bright side of the present.

For this reason the right to joy is as much one of the inalienable rights of childhood as in the right to food and shelter. Many parents take the business of bringing up their children so seriously that they forget that there should be fun in family life.

Parties and excursions, special family celebrations and rituals have their place in the mental hygiene of childhood.

Christmas, for instance, should be for the child a really splendid event, rich in preparations in which he takes an intimate part.

His birthday is his own special feast. It should never be passed without gay and fitting observance.

The trips and jaunts, when families have good times together, give opportunity for the joyous companionship which the child of the busy modern home is all too likely to miss in his day to day experience. It is of course, the spirit of such planned good times that makes all the difference, and it is father and mother who are responsible for supplying the warmth and spontaneity which makes children treasure and remember them long years later as symbolic of the tone of their youth.

Street Car Manners

IT IS interesting to watch men and women leaving a street car or bus. Watch them and see how many do this properly. You know the man should always step out first when leaving a street conveyance. This he does in order to assist his companion in alighting.

There is also a rule about entering a car or taxi. As the woman enters first, she takes the far seat, thus obviating the necessity of the man's stepping in front of her, as may be the case in Europe, where etiquette demands that a woman must never sit on a man's left.

ETIQUETTE

By Catherine de Peyster.

Opening Gift Parcels

WILL you be so gracious as to assume the role of arbiter in this bone of contention? When one is confined in a hospital and is the recipient of gifts, should any specific time be permitted to elapse before an acknowledgment is sent?

2. When a gift is brought personally is it in keeping to open it and express pleasure and thanks, or should one merely express thanks, waiting until later to open the package?

Your attitude toward this will be sincerely appreciated, and I want to thank you in anticipation of it. C. F.

1. I'd love to be the "arbiter" with this nice bone!

When we are ill and friends send us kind thoughts, flowers or books or any other kind of gifts, we should write notes of thanks, when we are able. That is, we shouldn't tax our strength by writing these notes of appreciation too soon — our friends wouldn't want us to do this—but neither should we wait too long, so long that our friends wonder if we received the gifts, or if we appreciated them.

There isn't any definite time for this, of course, for the circumstance of our illness needs its own solution about our strength, and only we can determine when these notes can be written. They needn't be long, you know, but should be "deep" and most appreciative.

2. When a friend comes "bearing gifts" we should open the gift at once—our impulse to open it and to thank for it shows our appreciation — and chat about it with the friend. Else we seem very gauche, very awkwardly unappreciative and unnecessarily so.

Mahogany Cakes

One and one-half cups flour, one cup sugar, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one-half cup butter, one egg, one teaspoon vanilla. Cream sugar and butter, stir in soda dissolved in sour milk. Add beaten egg, three ounces grated chocolate, a pinch of salt, flour and vanilla. Bake in greased gem pans. The cakes are so rich and delicious that an icing is not required.

A Time Saver.

One housewife who has two different sizes of beds, twin and double, has solved the problem of telling her sheets apart by folding the large ones in squares and folding the smaller ones in oblongs. They are put away in this form and she can tell at a glance just where each sheet belongs.

HEALTH

Windows in Winter

ADDICTION to fresh air is probably more common in the United States than in any other country in the world, and yet even here the tendency is for the windows to follow the thermometer.

When the temperature is up, the windows are up. When the temperature is down, the windows are down.

Still, fresh air is as important, in fact more important, during the cold than during the warm season. We tend to eat more in winter time, and to be less active. We spend less time out of doors. We tend to congregate more closely. And, infections of the respiratory tract are more common.

It is often difficult properly to arrange ventilation during the daytime, one being obliged to comply with the wishes and habits of others. But for that, one may arrange one's sleeping quarters so that there is a plentiful supply of fresh air at night.

This suggestion at once brings to the mind of certain persons pictures of icicle-covered faces, blue noses and frozen toes. To such persons fresh air in winter-time is synonymous with martyrdom. Probably they have the memories of ill-favored attempts to "sleep out of doors" in winter-time.

Nothing needs to be further from the reality than these pictures. One can, and should, be more comfortable sleeping with windows open in winter than with the air thick enough to cut. The trick is simple.

Adequate covering is of prime importance, bearing in mind, of course, that cold air will rise through a thin mattress. A warm place to dress in is most desirable.

If your head is sensitive to cold, a knitted cap that covers head and neck and leaves mouth and nose free will add to comfort. Those who kick their covers loose, should pin their blankets down with giant safety-pins. Avoid drafts.

And, if you are to start sleeping "out-of-doors," that is, with windows wide open, do it gradually.

Windows in Winter

ADDICTION to fresh air is probably more common in the United States than in any other country in the world, and yet even here the tendency is for the windows to follow the thermometer.

When the temperature is up, the windows are up. When the temperature is down, the windows are down.

Still, fresh air is as important, in fact more important, during the cold than during the warm season. We tend to eat more in winter time, and to be less active. We spend less time out of doors. We tend to congregate more closely. And, infections of the respiratory tract are more common.

Burning Beauty

by TEMPLE BAILEY

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN.

AUNT MOLLY had said to Michael when lunch was over: "You'll want to show Virginia the doves and the ducks." So they had gone together in the dim, deep barns, where the doves cooed among the rafters, and where the cows looked at them with melting eyes. They saw the ducks sunning themselves in the yard, and swimming in the cold pools between frozen banks.

They walked on then across the fields and through a grove of pines. "I'll bring you here in the spring," said Michael. "The dogwood is simply wonderful—deep pink, like roses."

"I'll bring you here in the spring." It seemed to Virginia too perfect to be true that he should be looking forward to spring days together.

As yet he had said no word of love. He had spoken of friendship, of how their tastes met, of his delight in her companionship. Yet she knew he loved her. There had been that moment at the Spanish Museum, when they stood in front of one of Soroila's paintings—the Valencia group with its clear and startling color, its deep-hued oranges, its sapphire sky, the red trappings of its milk-white horses. And Michael had said, "It was in Spain that my castles fell to the ground."

"Why did they fall?"

"I spent my honeymoon in Valencia. And I found before it was over that I had married a woman who knew nothing of love as I had dreamed of it. I don't know why I am telling you this. I have never told anyone."

"I am glad you told me."

HE HAD beaten his fist thoughtfully on the arm of the bench on which they were sitting. "I think the time will come when I shall tell you everything."

It was after the visit to the Spanish Museum that Virginia found herself lying awake late into the night. She slept on the big couch sheltered by the three screens which made a little room of the space about her. Since the beginning of her friendship with Michael, she had pushed into the back of her mind the thought of her visit to Derekdale. Now, however, it was almost upon her, and there was her promise to Rickey.

She had told him it should bind her to nothing. Yet she knew that in a way it did bind her. Tony expected things of her, and so did Rickey. They showed it—each in his own way. Tony by a maddening air of possessiveness, Rickey by taking impossible things for granted. It had been hard to keep Tony from a knowledge of the hours she spent with Michael. Tony was always coming in at odd moments and asking her to do things. When she said that she couldn't, he demanded, suspiciously, "Why? You seem to be having a lot of engagements lately."

She had refused to be drawn into any damaging admissions. "Just because I haven't time for you, Tony, is no reason why you should feel injured. You are really a most demanding person."

"A lot of good it does me to be demanding," he told her. "I haven't seen you alone for ages."

"You are seeing me alone today."

"Because Rickey happens to be out. There's always Rickey, or Mary Lee, or that small boy from upstairs. I can whistle for a chance to talk to you without ears wide open to hear."

"You shouldn't want to talk about things that 'open ears' can't hear."

"You know what I want to talk about and you might as well let me."

She did know. And as she lay wide awake on her couch she blamed herself for letting Tony go on with it. She could never love him and she knew it. She ought to settle it now and stay away from Derekdale. Anything else was not fair to Michael or to herself or fair, indeed, to Tony.

YET if she did not go, Rickey would be furious. He talked of nothing else—Derekdale, Derekdale.

She rose and put on her dressing gown. It was very late, but she could hear the click of Rickey's typewriter. She must tell him at once that she could not visit the Bleeckers. It would put her in a false position. Tony would think things that were not true. He would think she was willing to marry him and she was not.

She came to the little room and opened the door softly. Rickey's back was turned to her and he was writing madly. She spoke his name and he whirled around and spoke in a startled voice, "What's up, old girl?"

He looked very tired and his hair was ruffled. There were dark rings under his eyes. She faltered. "I couldn't sleep."

He came and put his arms about her. "Anything worrying you?"

Everything was worrying her, but she couldn't tell him now. She simply could not—not this tired Rickey, with his arms about her and that touch of tenderness in his voice.

So she said, "Come on in and talk to me. I'm fed up on myself."

They went into the living room and he added another lump of coal on the fire. The little dog and the bright cat came and camped on the rug in front of their beloved mistress, and Rickey, also on the rug, talked of the things he was going to do. "I'll get a new start at Derekdale," he said. "I know it. It will be like wine in my veins, Jinny, to meet people like that. I'm one of the kind that has to have excitement. I simply shrivel right up when things are at a dead level."

Excitement—That old roistering ancestor! Virginia was afraid. Rickey mustn't get restless. It wouldn't do to disappoint him. No matter what happened, she must not disappoint Rickey.

CHRISTMAS came that year on Saturday. The big ball was to be on Friday, and Virginia and her brother were to motor with Tony to Derekdale on Friday morning. Michael would come in time for dinner.

For Michael, too, was going to Derekdale. Mrs. Bleecker, at Marty Van Duyne's instigation, had urged him. "Too many millionaires are deadly, Jane. You mustn't forget that. Mere money makes people heavy. Michael's presence will add distinction."

Michael had accepted, but not because of Marty or of Jane. He was going because of Virginia. He told her so frankly. "It will give us three days together."

Three days! Virginia went about her preparations for departure as if she walked on air. She packed her new clothes and Rickey's into the good-looking bags they had bought, and refused to be weighed down by the thought of their extravagances.

Mary Lee Logan drifting in on Thursday and finding Virginia alone asked, "Where's Rickey?"

"Out doing some last-minute errands. He'll be back for luncheon."

"May I stay? I want to say goodby to him."

"Of course."

Mary Lee sat dejectedly by the fire and watched Virginia pack. "Do you ever have premonitions?" she asked.

Virginia smiled at her. "Are you having them?"

"Yes. I get such superstitions, I suppose, from my old black mammy. But when I am low in my mind as I am today, I always know that unhappiness of some kind is ahead. And just now I have a feeling that things aren't ever going to be again with us as they are now, Virginia."

Virginia, tucking silk stockings into the pocket of her traveling bag, said, "Cheer up, we will be back on Tuesday."

"But it won't be the same," Mary Lee persisted. "The gobble-uns will git you, Jinny, or the witches. It's that silver witch I am afraid of—for Rickey."

Virginia straightened up and looked at her. "She isn't half as nice as you are, Mary Lee. And Rickey's sensible enough to know it."

"Rickey isn't sensible. No temperamental person is. And he's going to suffer—"

THERE was a great change in Mary Lee. She was no longer the plump little maiden who had made eyes at Tony in the old house. She was composed, quiet, more womanly. There was, indeed, about her now something of the tragic remoteness of the little Chinese lady in the song. The effect was heightened, perhaps, today, by the fact that she wore black—a smart tailor-made with a white flower in her buttonhole, a small pull-on black hat, and a scarf of silver fox.

When Rickey came in and saw her he gave a whistle of astonishment. "You're simply stunning, Mary Lee," he told her.

She turned herself about on slim patent leather pumps. "If you only knew," she said, "how hard it was for me not to have steel buckles. But I knew these were smarter."

The three of them had luncheon together, and when she was ready to go, Mary Lee said to Rickey, "Don't fall in love with Marty Van Duyne."

He flushed. "What rot!"

"It isn't rot. But I probably shouldn't have said anything to you about her. It's like telling children not to put beans up their noses. They won't think of it if someone doesn't suggest it."

"Marty Van Duyne wouldn't look at me."

"That's the very reason you'll fall in love with her. She's the distant star that you poets rave about. I'm the ripe plum that falls at your feet."

SHE laughed as if it were a light thing, but Virginia knew that back of the lightness was deep emotion. She was sorry for Mary Lee, of course, but she wasn't sure that she wanted Rickey to love her.

On Friday, before Tony came for her, Virginia and little Roger Barlow hung Christmas greens in the shabby old hall. Virginia had felt it might help the dreary people who came up and down the stairs to get a bit of the holiday spirit.

"We will put a crown of mistletoe on the Bronze Knight, Roger."

"Oh, will everybody kiss him as they go upstairs?"

"I hope not."

"I should think he'd like being kissed."

"But not by so many people."

They hung a holly wreath in the glass of the front door and put the crown on the Bronze Knight's head and wound the balustrade with evergreens. It was all very beautiful, and as the dreary people in the house went in and out, they stopped to look—and Roger said to each one with great politeness: "You mustn't kiss the Bronze Knight because there are too many of you.

WHEN their work was done, Virginia and Roger went back to the fire in the honey-colored room and Roger curled himself up in Virginia's lap and said, "Tell me about what the Bronze Knight did on Christmas."

"Well, the Bronze Knight woke one morning, and it was Christmas, and he knelt and prayed, 'Oh, good and great God, because of Thy little son Who was born in Bethlehem, may I be a better son to my own mother. May I this day do some deed she would have me do,' and he rose and went on his way and came at last to a little house. And a woman stood in front of the little house and she said, 'Will you cut a tree for my sick child, so that he may have Christmas? And the Knight cut the tree and carried it in, and the sick child did not smile when he saw the tree. And the Knight said, 'Alas, a child who will not smile at a Christmas tree is close unto death. Let me take him to the city, where he may be healed.' And the mother said, 'If he goes, I must go.' And the Knight said, 'You can sit on my horse and hold the child in your arms, and I will walk beside you.'

Broiled Lamb Chops

When you are having a particularly nice luncheon it is nice to have the butcher cut the lamb chops double thickness, remove bone and skewer the chop into shape. One chop is sufficient for a service. Broil on a greased broiler until both sides are browned well and the fat is crisp. Garnish with sprigs of parsley or watercress.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

The Rider's Skill

ALL the people were gathered around the beautiful horse and the young Prince who had been able to ride him after his father, the King, had failed.

They wondered and marveled at his bravery, but the young Prince said that it was really nothing at all.

He told everyone that he had noticed before that the horse had been standing in such a way that he had been seeing his own shadow which had frightened him so much that he had kicked and behaved in a most excited fashion.

The young Prince had turned the horse so that he was facing the sun and it dazzled him for a moment so that the young Prince had mounted his back before the horse had had a chance to turn his head.

Then the young Prince had spoken so gently and kindly to the horse and had treated him with such affection that the horse had realized that here was someone who loved him.

The children thought the young Prince had shown a great deal of skill handling him as he had.

"Didn't you say the horse was a very famous one?" John asked the Little Black Clock.

"Yes," the Little Black Clock answered, "I did. And I must tell you about that now. We've been too busy watching the thrilling ride to do any talking, but now the young Prince is going off with his horse.

"The name of the horse is Bucephalus, and later on a town will be named after the horse. It will be called Bucephalia.

"As I told you I turned the time way, way back, and the young prince you have just seen is the one men will know in the years to come as Alexander the Great.

"The young Prince's father is the King of Macedonia."

"Oh," said John in a tone of hushed excitement, "what a great adventure for us to have had!"

"It has been pretty fine," the Little Black Clock admitted.

COFFEE

NO wonder Richard Dix, Radio Pictures' Star, is such a rooter for Chase & Sanborn's Coffee. That date on every can means just as much to him as it does to you!

It means you can't possibly buy a stale can of Chase & Sanborn's Coffee! This coffee is rushed to your grocer twice a week, straight from our roasters . . . dated the day he receives it. You can tell by the date how long it has been on his shelves. And none of it stays there longer than ten days. At the end of that time, if there's any unsold, we take it back . . . sell it to institutions and organizations that otherwise could not afford such high-grade coffee.

In this way we protect you from stale, rancid coffee. Scientists have discovered that when coffee is stored too long after roasting, its precious oils turn rancid, just as the oils in butter do. They actually "turn bad." And the coffee tastes bitter.

Only the date that guarantees freshness can protect you against such coffee. Order Chase & Sanborn's from your grocer. See what freshly-roasted flavor means!

Chase & Sanborn's is reasonably priced ...no higher than ordinary packaged coffees.

Every Morning—Except Sunday

Can you get distance in the early evening?

OR do you have to wait until the "wee small hours" to hear distant stations? How sensitive is your radio? Can it bring in programs from far away in the early evening when powerful local stations are on? Can it bring them in with clarity and volume?

Mark how the new Grebe reaches out for feeble, distant broadcasts at any hour; see whether any other set can bring in all of the stations you can hear at will on this new set. Compare by actual count.

Get a 7-check test card from your nearest Grebe dealer and compare for tone, control, selectivity, decorative quality, construction and value, too. So much of your future enjoyment of your radio depends on the care with which you select it, that it will pay you to investigate before you buy.

If you are planning to have a birthday party out of doors, don't forget the wind is apt to blow our your candles on the birthday cake. Use thin twisted sticks of candy instead of candles; they are very pretty and serve the purpose far better.

Raised Apple Cake

Mix one cup scalded milk, two tablespoons butter and four tablespoons sugar and let cool. Add one-half yeast cake and dissolve in one-fourth cup lukewarm water, one teaspoon salt and two cups flour. Let rise until light in a warm place, then add one cup finely chopped apples and enough flour to make a dough not quite stiff enough to be molded. Pour this into a deep tin, let rise until light. Sprinkle top with sugar and cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven and serve warm with butter.

M'GAULEY JURY CAN'T AGREE; IS DISCHARGED

Mistrial Declared in Case of Bootlegger in Murder of Cashier Toddie V. Phelps in Overland Bank Robbery.

7-TO-5 DEADLOCK AFTER TEN HOURS

Prosecutors to Decide Later Whether to Try Again or Send Convict to Michigan to Serve Out His Life Sentence There.

The discharge of a deadlocked jury which stood 7 to 5 for conviction today ended the trial of James McGauley for the murder of Toddie V. Phelps, cashier of the Overland State Bank, in a holdup, Jan. 18, 1929.

The jury had deliberated about 10 hours between 4 p. m. yesterday and 2 p. m. today, when Circuit Judge Brackman at Clayton summoned them to court and asked the status of their deliberations.

The foreman, Herman S. Zielinski, a machinist, of Richmond Heights, replied that the jurors had decided they could not agree and a mistrial was declared.

McGauley, outwardly indifferent to the result of the trial, was taken to the city jail in St. Louis.

Prosecutors to Decide on Course.

The prosecutors will confer to decide whether he will be sent back to Michigan where he is under sentence of life imprisonment for robbery or tried again in another attempt to get a death sentence in the Phelps case.

The jury foreman declined to discuss the nature of the jury's deliberations. However, a member of the panel told a Post-Dispatch reporter they had taken so many ballots he lost count of the number.

The jurors agreed early in their deliberation, he said, not to consider the nature of the punishment unless an agreement was reached on the question of guilt. An early ballot showed nine to three for conviction and the final ballot seven to five with some of the jurors arguing that fingerprint testimony against McGauley was "framed."

Instructed in first degree murder, the jury had the choice of only three verdicts—acquittal, life imprisonment and death. The State demanded the death penalty while McGauley, on the witness stand, told the jury he understood he would be sent back to Michigan if he was not sentenced to hang.

Death Penalty Sought.

In argument, Prosecuting Attorney Castlen of St. Louis County summed up the State's case which, in substance, consisted of the testimony of two bank employes who identified McGauley; of Lawrence G. Ahrens, who implicated himself and named McGauley as the slayer, and of fingerprint experts who said a print of the middle finger of McGauley's right hand was found on an empty whisky bottle in the robbers' abandoned car.

Jacob M. Lashly, special prosecutor, pleaded for a death sentence, reviewing McGauley's record of numerous arrests and two workhouse terms for burglary and larceny, emphasizing the argument that McGauley was a man of "thoroughly anti-social nature."

Paul A. Richards, defense attorney, cast doubt on the reliability of the State's identifying witnesses. He dwelt on the fact that George Hoech, the bank's bookkeeper, had previously been positive in his identification of Sylvester Baldwin, gangster and resort proprietor, as the slayer, and on the admission of Mrs. Agnes Wilkinson, maid at the bank, that she was in "an excited and hysterical condition" while the robbery and murder was in progress.

He attacked the testimony of Ahrens by reviewing points of difference between the testimony of the admitted accomplice and witnesses to the crime, asserting that Ahrens was "covering up" for someone else involved in the crime. The fingerprint evidence he dismissed with the assertion that prints of McGauley, an acknowledged bootlegger, "might be found on a hundred bottles."

Corroboration of Alibi.

In closing testimony, McGauley's alibi was corroborated by three farmers who testified that he lived in poverty on a rented farm near St. James, Mo., with his wife and three children during the winter
